

MURDER DEFENSE SPRINGS SURPRISE

Dismissal of Juror Is Asked in Chicago.

RUSE EXPECTED TO FAIL

Fact That Member of Panel Lived Near Scene of Bomb Outrage Basis of Move.

(By Chicago Tribune Staff Wire.)

CHICAGO, July 27.—Attorneys for "Big Tom" Murphy, "Frenchy" Mader, "Con" Shea and two other alleged labor terrorists sprung a surprise today when they asked the dismissal of one of the jurors on the grounds that he lived across the street from a house that had been bombed by the terrorists. The dismissal of this juror would amount to a mistrial. The jury was chosen after more than 1500 men had been examined. Judge Taylor, who took the matter under advisement until tomorrow, indicated he would dismiss the motion.

The juror is J. M. Simpson and resides across the street from Henry O'Callaghan, a plumbing contractor. O'Callaghan's home was bombed April 19 last because he was working under the Landis award. His front porch was demolished and a piece of wood was driven into his face.

Men Are Acquainted. He and Simpson said they knew each other in a casual way. Had added to each other but never discussed strike troubles except at the time his home was bombed. On that occasion windows were broken in the entire block and the neighborhood talked of nothing else for days.

Meanwhile the trial proceeded today with witnesses relating stories of brutal sluggings and bombings. As witness after witness left the stand, the attorneys for the defense hurried this question at them: "Do you know who killed Police Lieutenant Lyons on the night of May 19 last?"

No one knew. The five defendants leaned back on their chairs, evidently bored by the proceedings. Occasionally "Big Tom" would recoil himself from his chair, rise to his feet and inspect a witness.

Defense Scores Point. The defense scored a point when the court ruled that Joseph I. Elliott, a plumbing contractor, could not relate an anonymous telephone warning on the night the home of another plumbing contractor, a few blocks distant, was bombed, but Elliott was permitted to tell of several of his men being terribly beaten by slugs. He was paying the Landis scale and had been repeatedly warned.

AL KADER PICNIC TODAY

SPECIAL TRAINS OF STREET-CARS TO RUN TO OAKS.

More Than 6000 Tickets Passed Out to Members of Shrine and Their Families.

This is today for the members of Al Kader temple of the shrine and their families. The annual picnic of the wearers of the red fez will be held this afternoon and night at the Oaks. Special trains of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company will start leaving First and Alder streets at 11 o'clock and will continue throughout the day.

Herman von Borstel, general chairman of the shrine picnic committee, last night announced that more than 6000 tickets had been passed out for the use of the nobles and their families. Everything will be free to the holders of these tickets. Al Kader temple being the host for the day. Basket dinners will be served on the grounds. Members of the patrol will be on hand and protect the children from being devoured by the animals. The band and chanters are scheduled to dispense music throughout the day. Toy balloons and paper picnic caps will be free to all the children in attendance. Dancing will be one of the features of the entertainment tonight.

FISHING LIMIT EXPIRES

PURSE SEINERS MUST OBSERVE 3-MILE LIMIT.

Patrol Boat to Be on Duty Day and Night to Prevent Encroaching by Anglers.

ASTORIA, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the time expired in which the federal court order permitted purse seiners to fish within the three-mile limit off the Washington coast. Thirty-five of the craft were fishing outside yesterday and, according to Deputy Fish Warden Larson, they averaged from one to two tons to the boat, principally of silver salmon, and on Tuesday one boat is said to have taken six tons.

While some of the purse-seine craft are preparing to give up the fight and return to Puget sound, the officers believe that others will continue fishing as yet, but the patrol boat Phoenix is said to be on duty night and day to see that no encroachments within the limit. Deputy Larson says that during the last days the purse seiners were permitted to fish under the court injunction they destroyed hundreds of thousands of immature salmon, by "relating" them out of the seine, and North beach is littered with the bodies of the infant fish. The fleet, anxious to make big catches in the short time allowed, worked close in to shore, even venturing into the breakers and dragged in myriads of the small salmon, which were gilled in the meshes.

FOREST FIRES CRITICAL

SITUATION IN WASHINGTON UNCHANGED AND GRAVE.

State Forester Pape Confirms His Opinion That Many Burns Are Started Maliciously.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 27.—(Special.)—No change in forest fire conditions throughout the state occurred today, State Forester Pape announced. Several of the larger fires were controlled, but the situation is the most critical the forestry division ever has experienced because of the large number of new fires starting daily.

C. J. Joy, chief warden of the Washington Forest Fire association, after a conference with Mr. Pape, confirmed the latter's assertion that many new fires have been started maliciously, some by ranchers wishing to burn off the underbrush to improve their range and some by men employed to patrol the fires, who fear that with fires controlled or extinguished their jobs will give out.

Area burned over, logging camp losses and fire fighting expenses thus far this year have exceeded any previous fire record in the history of the state, Mr. Pape said. Green timber damage has not been so heavy because of concentration of crews on fires which threatened or were burning in the West. The loss through the destruction of young growth, however, is extremely heavy.

Governor Hart announced that from the governor's special fund he would meet the July payroll for all state men on fire patrol duty in the Olympic peninsula, some are relieving the state forester's fund, on which demand throughout the state is unusually heavy.

LIGHTNING STORM REPORTED New Fires Are Started, But All Brought Under Control.

The first lightning storm of the season was reported to the offices of the federal forest service yesterday. It occurred in northeastern Washington in the Colville national forest. Fires were started and rain was precipitated. Most of the fires under control before they spread for any distance. They were not much aided by the rain, which came only in showers.

Word came in from the fire at Herman creek that an opportunity was presenting itself for the checking of the fire. It was being cornered in a high draw in climbing a cliff.

PICKETS WIN IN COURT

TEMPORARY BAN ON RESTAURANT STRIKERS OFF.

"Missionaries" Acted Legally, Says Judge Morrow in Decision; Case to Be Appealed.

The temporary restraining order prohibiting picketing by striking employees of the Panama, Liberty and Oyster Leaf restaurants was vacated yesterday in a written order handed down by Judge Morrow of circuit court. The judgment dismissed a suit brought by the proprietors seeking to have the temporary restraining order made permanent.

Notice of appeal was filed by Martin L. Pipes, attorney for the restaurants. The case will be carried to the supreme court as soon as possible, Judge Pipes declared. The pickets were termed "missionaries" wherever referred to by Judge Morrow.

The missionaries in patrolling the sidewalks did not obstruct the entrances; they were peaceful and law-abiding and respectful to passers-by and to officers, agents and employees of the said restaurants and they did not use any loud, boisterous, vituperative or offensive language or gestures, the decision read.

The defendants were acting within their legal rights and are legally entitled to have the restraining order vacated and the suit dismissed.

W. S. U'Ren and John A. Collier were the attorneys for the strikers. The strike was instituted June 5, in an attempt to obtain an eight-hour working day and one day off a week.

CANVASS FRAUD ALLEGED

Ad Club Better Business Bureau Investigating Solicitors.

Reports have been made recently to the better business bureau of the Portland Ad Club regarding solicitors for hosiery who have been claiming, as they go from house to house, that they have the endorsement of the member of Commerce and the Ad club.

No such endorsements have been given, according to the better business bureau, and that organization is now investigating other complaints concerning the concern. The bureau officers assert that the accounts of the last night have been applied by the solicitors to the silk hosiery they have for sale. This demonstration is in dispute, it is said, and can be applied successfully to any grade of silk hose.

POLICEMAN HIT BY AUTO

Member of Speed Squad Suffers Serious Injuries.

Cecil Gladwyn, motorcycle patrolman on the police speed squad, sustained a leg fracture and internal injuries yesterday when he was struck by an automobile operated by Alfred Moline, a clerk, aged 19. The collision occurred at Twenty-fourth and Overton streets. Moline was arrested later by traffic police and held in $500 bail on a charge of reckless driving. It is charged that he failed to give right-of-way to a police vehicle. Gladwyn was first taken to the police emergency hospital, but was removed to a hospital at St. Vincent when it was found that his injuries were serious.

Portland Attorney Skips for British Columbia.

Lon Wagner Tires of Explaining He Isn't Bankrupt.

"Blank's speaking? This is Lon Wagner proctor? I want you to send up a couple of loaves of bread, a package of— Lon Wagner, I'm afraid we can't do it."

And so it went all day yesterday for Lon Wagner, Portland lawyer, who took it on his knees a minute or two before he stepped out to take it in a lifetime. It all happened because some person by the name of Lon Wagner had filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the federal court Wednesday, listing plenty of debts but no assets.

Throughout the day Attorney Wagner was busy answering questions from the curious who wanted to know why he was taking the bankruptcy course. His friends routed him out of bed early in the morning to console with him and the expressions of sympathy were still going strong last night.

In desperation he arranged his business affairs hurriedly for a vacation trip of two weeks in British Columbia. He leaves by automobile with his wife this morning.

"The similarity of names was embarrassing to say the least," he complained. "My debtors, thinking it was I who had gone into bankruptcy, laughed as they passed me on the street, while one creditor, on the count, was in a fighting mood."

Lon Wagner, attorney, concluded by saying he wanted the bright-eyed world to know that the Lon Wagner who decided to become a bankrupt is neither himself nor his son.

PARK ATTENDANCE HEAVY

Thousands Going to Yellowstone, Report Railroads.

Record business to Yellowstone park is reported by Harvey E. Lounsbury, general freight agent for the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, who returned yesterday from a trip to that playground. He spent five days making trips through the park and said tourists were everywhere.

Last Sunday, said Lounsbury, there were more than 1550 visitors to Yellowstone. On that day, too, 750 persons entered the Union Pacific entrance at West Yellowstone, which was the greatest number of rail visitors ever to enter the park through any railroad entrance on any day within the 50 years. Yellowstone has been open to the public as a national park.

During the present summer, up to last Sunday, 42,000 visitors had entered Yellowstone, as against 26,000 at this time last season.

ALUMINUM HAT LATEST MY LADY STEALS IDEA FROM POTS AND KETTLES.

New Shades Are Burnt Wood, Toast, Mahogany, Oak, Maple, Almond, Green, Chestnut.

Aluminum of the variety known in the manufacture of pots and kettles is now appearing on millinery hats and many of the latest importations in millinery from Paris are decorated with that metal in flower design, according to Jerome C. Mendel, formerly of New York, who has just come to Portland to take over the management of the millinery department of the Emporium. Mr. Mendel, who was formerly connected with the American Retail Milliners' association and edited their publication, came to take the position with the Portland store after buying for that establishment in New York.

Not only is aluminum having its inning in the decoration of hats, but bees, bugs and beetles are also appearing and in many cases displacing the former flower ornaments, he said. Many metallic effects such as silver cloth are also used in the milliner's art of the present season, according to Mr. Mendel.

"Among the new colors which are coming into vogue in the designing of hats are burnt wood, toast, various wood shades such as mahogany, oak, maple, almond green, seaweed green and chestnut brown," said Mr. Mendel.
