Chamber of Commerce Committee Told That Road Across State Is Essential.

Yesterday was the Union Pacific's day before the unemerged committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which held a hearing on the proposal to unscramble the Central and Southern Pacifics, with special reference to Oregon's interests as they will be affected by the ultimate disposition of the Central Pacific property.

Groups of witnesses from Central Oregon and Astoria represented to the chamber committee that it will be best for the state if the Union Pacific takes control of the property.

Yesterday's was the last scheduled hearing by the committee. However, Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, has telegraphed the chamber he expects to be in Portland during the first week in August and wants to meet the committee at that time.

Many Witnesses Heard. H. B. Van Duser, chairman; Nathan Strauss, Ira Powers, George Lawrence Jr. and C. D. Brunn were members of the committee present at the hearing.

League President Speaks. President McCulloch of the Central Oregon league, which has pledged itself to the Union Pacific side of the controversy, told the committee most of the central Oregon countries have joined the league and membership is constantly being extended.

Statement Is Confirmed. Secretary Doolittle of the league made a similar statement.

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES

Liberty—Thomas Meighan, "If You Believe It, It's So!"
Columbia—Hodge Patters in "The Storm." Second week.
Rivoli—Frank Mayo, "Out of the Silent North."
Majestic—Oscar Wilde's "A Woman of No Importance."
Hellig—Florence Vidor in "The Real Adventure."
Hippodrome—Tom Mix in "Chasing the Moon."
Circle—All-star cast, "Is Matrimony a Failure?"

SOME of the very best pictures of the season are opening engagements in this city today. The managers evidently have won their fight against the producers for an early releasing of the big fall features.

The record-breaking production, "The Storm," is being held over at the Columbia theater. It is infinitely worth while. House Peters is the featured player, meritoriously supported by Virginia Valli and Matt Moore.

Manager Fangle showed rare judgment in booking King Vidor's big production, "The Real Adventure," featuring Florence Vidor. This feature is idealistic in theme. It is decidedly different, inspiring and immensely worth while. Vidor does not turn out a picture every week, but when he does produce, it is worthy of attention.

Thomas Meighan in "If You Believe It, It's So" is at the Liberty theater. This sterling production is a worthy successor to "The Miracle Man," which tingers so pleasantly in memory. The Liberty is putting over one big hit after another. And Manager Paul Noble is still lining up additional tremendous interesting attractions.

Oscar Wilde's famous story, "A Woman of No Importance," is the attraction at the Majestic. This feature has attracted great attention where previously shown. It is a new release, and would have been played here sooner only that the bookings previously arranged for by Manager Lacey prevented its being put on earlier.

The Rivoli has a big attraction in "Out of the Silent North," in which Frank Mayo is featured. This will undoubtedly prove to be the third big Universal hit in rapid succession in this city—"The Storm," "The Delicious Little Devil" and now "Out of the Silent North," which has won unstinted praise from all who have viewed this excellent production.

The Circle has John Gilbert, a Portland actor, in the singularly interesting feature "Arabian Love," which was a pronounced hit when previously shown in this city. That will open Sunday. Today the Circle is showing the uproariously funny comedy, "Is Matrimony a Failure?"

Screen Gossip. The Rivoli has booked for an early showing Guy Bates Post in "The Masquerader."

Charles W. Beyer has completed his work with George Arliss in "The Silent Voice," the third of the Arliss photoplays.

King Vidor will direct Laurette Taylor in Metro's production of the Manners-Taylor success, "Peg o' My Heart."

Frank Currier, one of the grand old men of the screen, was chosen by Director Alan Crosland to play an important role in Arthur Houseman's first feature length comedy, "The Snitching Hour." Mr. Currier played for years in Universal pictures on the coast.

Constance Binney has completed her contract for Famous Players-Lasky, and has gone to England under contract with Ideal Films, Ltd., to star in "A Bill of Divorcement." Denison Clift will direct.

"Billy" Sunday at the luncheon of the Ad club at the Benson hotel next Wednesday noon.

The famous evangelist, will come from Hood River for the occasion and will bring "Ma" Sunday with him. It will be women's day, and there will be a special committee of women to receive the evangelist's wife.

Mr. Sunday's address at that time will be on the subject, "The road to hell is paved with good intentions and so is the Mount Hood Loop road."

The club plans also to have several members of the state highway commission present to discuss plans for the road. It is hoped that some plan may be worked out for the completion of the highway.

LUMBER CAMPAIGN UP PLANS FOR DRIVE TO BE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

$200,000 to Be Spent in Course of Advertising to Promote Use of Products.

The directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association in session yesterday at the Multnomah hotel took action admitting the American National Hardwood Institute to membership in the national association. The hardwood organization comprises about 300 firms in the eastern and southern states.

Another national campaign of advertising urging the use of lumber in the various industries and in construction work was planned following the report of Edgar P. Allen, director of publicity of the national association. It was announced that about $200,000 would be expended in the work, and Mr. Allen was instructed to take complete charge of the campaign.

The majority of the directors will go to Tacoma to attend the sessions of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, to be held there next Wednesday. William A. Durgin, representing the department of commerce, is scheduled to give an address at that time. Mr. Allen will also make a report on the advertising campaign of the last year.

FISHING CRAFT CAUGHT

More Than 20 Purse Seiners Are Operating Outside Limit.

ASTORIA, Or., July 28.—(Special.)—Deputy Fish Warden Larsen, who returned this evening from a cruise outside, on the fisheries patrol launch Phoenix, reports that more than 20 purse-seining craft were fishing outside today. All kept beyond the three-mile limit, with the exception of the Louise III, which came within two miles of the shore and was seized by the patrol boat crew.

The Louise III was taken to Ilwaco, where her master and crew will be prosecuted on a charge of violating the Washington state regulation against purse-seining.

Attorney is Accused. MORRIS GOLDSTEIN RETURNS WITHOUT COIN MOULDS.

Federal Prosecutor intimates Lawyer Knew What Became of Vital Exhibits.

Intimation that Morris Goldstein, local attorney, knew of the disappearance of certain dies and moulds by which the government expected to convict Sam F. Owens and William Brown were made yesterday in the federal court room by Assistant United States Attorney Veatch during the trial of the two men on charges of manufacturing and possessing bogus money.

Goldstein, immediately after the arrest of the prisoners, beat the government in a race for Owens's suitcase. It was in this grip that the officials expected to find the incriminating dies. When the suitcase was turned over to secret service men by the lawyer no dies or coin moulds were found.

Brown and Owens, both drug addicts, were arrested last May after police detectives had shadowed them, following the appearance of a number of counterfeit dollars and quarters. Owens, who admits two convictions and two terms in penitentiaries, is a middle-aged man. The other is an 18-year-old youth. According to the evidence introduced by the government, Owens manufactured the coin, then sent Brown about the city to dispose of the product.

A mysterious individual, "the Angel Kid," was used as an alibi by the two prisoners. According to their story, it was "the Angel Kid" who manufactured the coins, then slipped them in the pockets of the pair for some unknown reason. The fact that no prior mention of the unknown had been made in the case was explained by Owens by the fact that he would not inform on anyone.

The jury, which retired for deliberation on the case at 5 o'clock last night, will return a soiled verdict at 10 o'clock this morning.

Newport Bids for Convention. NEWPORT, Or., July 28.—(Special.)—The third company, coast artillery corps; the Newport community club, Woman's club and Spanish War Veterans have extended an invitation to the Oregon American legion, now in session at The Dalles, to hold its next annual convention in this city.

Newport business men say they can take care of the boys and that this city can handle all the crowd at any time in ease and comfort.

In addition to the monster programme of the Veterans of Foreign Wars picnic, Saturday, July 29, they have engaged Miss Blanche Hatfield, the Kentucky wonder, who is an expert rifle shot. Though Miss Hatfield is but eighteen years of age, she has displayed her marvelous skill throughout the United States, such as shooting cigars and cigarettes out of a man's mouth. And number of fancy trick shots too numerous to mention.—Adv.
