

HOOD RIVER FOLK HEAR BILLY SUNDAY

Evangelist Brings Laughs and Tear Drops. 'HEDGEHOG PIETY' IS HIT

'God Don't Pass Buck to Anybody.' Among New Phrases. Flappers' Wiles Described.

HOOD RIVER, Or., July 30.—(Special).—"I come to Oregon every summer to rest," declared Rev. Billy Sunday today in his annual sermon to his valley neighbors at Riverside Community church, "but I can never resist the call to address you friends."

Mr. Sunday declared his annual anticipations of his journey to the Pacific northwest and his arrival in the Cascades were as happy as those days when his pride bubbled over in the possession of a pair of red-topped, copper-toed boots. Mr. Sunday named a long list of castles and cities where he will hold evangelistic services the coming year.

"If I don't come back next summer I'll be in heaven." "Christian's Hope Put High." "I appreciate the sacrifice of you mothers with small children who cannot come to church without bringing them," said Mr. Sunday, "but I am going to ask that you take them out if they begin to cry."

And then he launched into one of his typical sermons, going from the sublime to the ridiculous and making his hearers laugh while wiping away tear drops. "Be ready always to give an answer," was his text, and he declared the hope of a Christian the only solace for human soul, in comparison with which wealth, fame and personal attraction are as nothing.

Those were some of the new phrases uttered by the famed preacher: "We should use more sweet oil and less cayenne pepper in our lives." "You may be a devil in the city, but you are a Christian in the hospital."

Mr. Sunday gave a vivid description of the wiles of the flapper whose clothes, he declared, would be insufficient for making the tail of a kite. He told the story of Abraham and Sarah, when they visited in the foreign land and the king's eyes fell on Sarah, who was a "good looking."

ART LOSSES HEAVY IN UNIVERSITY FIRE

Classroom Notes Impossible to Replace Destroyed. SCULPTURE IS BURNED

EUGENE, Or., July 30.—(Special).—Loss approximating $15,000 was inflicted on the contents of the university buildings destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon, according to the latest figures. About half is represented by the personal possessions of faculty members.

The question of just what form the replacement will take is yet to be decided. About ten buildings, including several residences at distances as far as 200 yards from the burning structures, were on fire at different times, and were saved only through the hardest kind of work.

The most tragic results of the fire were the losses of the work of years by Avard Fairbanks, sculptor; Miss Maud I. Kerns, head of the department of normal arts, and Dr. John F. Bovard, head of the school of physical education. In money their losses aggregate thousands of dollars, but in each case the money loss is far outweighed by the destruction of priceless personal possessions.

Each had taken to the university from home many of their personal records and treasures for the use of the classes. Fairbanks' Loss $2000. Mr. Fairbanks estimated his own personal loss at between $2000 and $3000, while the loss to the department is $1000.

"The whole of my work for two years is gone," said Mr. Fairbanks, "except the doughboy statue." The original model is now in the east being cast for the state of Idaho, while the smaller model is safe in the home of President Campbell. Photographs, negatives and paintings which Mr. Fairbanks had been collecting for many years, clippings of historic value, a large part of his personal library and a lot of material he was making ready to be put into book form were destroyed.

One of the few things saved was the plaster cast of the mother group, which is to be placed in the women's quadrangle. Miss Kerns lost almost every bit of her art possessions, including valuable pictures and photographs, a great deal of illustrative material, and all her class lecture notes gathered in years of work.

KANSAS GOVERNOR TALKS

Duty of Every Good Citizen Said to Have Been to Help Keep Lid Down.

(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.)—MONTICELLO, Ill., Aug. 1.—Governor Allen of Kansas, who addressed the general convention of the Young People's Christian union of the United Presbyterian church here last night, said William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, was guilty of engaging in a conspiracy to intimidate men who wanted to exercise the liberty of their rights to work.

However, later in his address, the governor said his friend could be trusted and had no intention of doing wrong. The liberty to work, the speaker said, is denied men in every state except Kansas. It did not exist at Merrin nor later in Galasburg, Ill.

"If with freedom of speech we had an equal measure of loyalty to government," said the governor, "what a people we would be!" Getting back to Editor White, Governor Allen said the greatest "crime" was done when White got to working his typewriter when he was warned.

"We were sitting on a lid," the governor said, "and trying to keep it steady. It was the duty of every good citizen to help us keep it down and White was one man we could not afford to have making faces at the law."

"Speech is not the only thing that ought to be free," Governor Allen said. "The right to work and right for protection when a man wants to work; the right to have fuel and transportation are equally important."

Governor Allen was reticent about discussing his recent disagreement with Mr. White when interviewed, and declined to make further comment on the editor's card, placed in the window of his newspaper office.

CONFECTIONER TO MOVE

Sweetland's Establishment to Open Up in Royal Bakery Store.

The Royal bakery retail store and restaurant, for years a landmark on upper Morrison street, was closed yesterday and the work of remodeling the place for use as the new location of Sweetland's confectionery store will be started today.

The Royal bakery establishment was purchased last week by J. E. Hawkins, proprietor of Sweetland's, and the 1½-year lease was assigned to the confectionery store. The deal, which represented rentals aggregating approximately $200,000, was negotiated by Leon Bullier, manager of the leasing department of the F. E. Taylor company.

It was estimated that it will require at least 30 days to remodel the new establishment for the use of the confectionery store. About $10,000 is to be expended. The sale of the store means that the Royal bakery is going out of the retail business entirely, it was announced.

ROAD BIDS TO BE ASKED Washington to Contract for Sand and Gravel for 1923. KELS0, Wash., July 30.—(Special).—The state highway department of Washington will receive bids early in September for placing of sand and gravel for use in paving the Pacific highway between Kalama and Toledo, 35 miles, next year.

Contractors have had difficulty in getting gravel this year and to avoid this condition next year the contract for gravel will be awarded in advance. The state highway board plans to award the contract for this gravel stretch to the highway next year in seven contracts of five miles each.

The highway will be closed and travel detoured via the west side highway from Toledo and the Columbia will be crossed at Kelso via the Long-Bell ferry. The state will provide $1,000,000 for this paving work.

BURGLARS LOOT STORES Waldport Druggist and Pool Hall Man Losers. WALDP0RT, Or., July 30.—(Special).—Burglars made a raid on Dr. Linton's drug store and J. M. Reilly's pool room last night. Dr. Linton's store was riddled with watches, jewelry and many valuable articles, including all the cash, even to pennies. Dr. Linton's loss was at least $500.

5 COMMITTEEMEN RESIGN

Klamath Sportsmen Protest Action of State Commission. KLAMATH FALLS, Or., July 30.—(Special).—Despite pleas of members that they reconsider, J. J. Furber, L. J. Dean, Dr. H. D. L. Stevens, art, William McNelly and Byron Hardenbrook last night submitted their resignations as executive committee members of the Klamath Falls Sportsmen's association, in accordance with announcement earlier in the week, when they declared that Klamath county fish breeding waters were being ceded to the benefit of other parts of the state and that they could not work in harmony with the state fish and game commission.

The five defended their action as inspired for the best interest of the county and disclaimed any political motive. At the Theaters. Hippodrome. VARIETY punctuates all the acts on the new bill which opened at the Hippodrome yesterday. J. Bogannay's roster of comedians tops the list, but there are other acts on the bill which are equally of topnotch caliber.

Ethel Gray, for instance, is one of these. She is a beauty and has a lovely voice, sweet and high, which she uses all too seldom, for the audience liked her singing and her effective playing on the French horn and would have relished more of her songs and music. Her partner, Arthur Page, is a good comedian who uses original methods and keeps the laughter going. Their act is one of the popular numbers on the bill.

Another first-rate act is that of George Mack, a comedian, and his pretty partner, Mildred Dean. Their comedy amuses and their singing voices blend in delightful harmony. A fun riot on the bill are Quinn and Caverly, who exchange observations and riddles. The curtain slowly rising, affords a constant surprise and comedy element as it reveals the outside of several buildings plastered with signs, the reading of which gives the audience a huge kick. Quinn and Caverly put out one of the doorways and immediately engage in their diabolical way to participate in legion convention activities.

CHITA OPPOSES JAPAN HITCHES APPEAR IN NEGOTIATIONS IN FAR EAST. Moscow Is Believed Encouraging Friends to Present Strong Front to Mikado.

BY ROBERICK MATHESON. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service, Copyright, 1922, by the Chicago Tribune.) TOKIO, July 30.—Unexpected hitches are appearing in the Chita-Japanese negotiations to renew their conferences with a view to concluding a commercial treaty. Chita, presumably encouraged by Moscow, is showing its teeth, and is abruptly refusing to consider some of the Japanese proposals regarding the scope of the treaty.

The Osaka Mainichi states that it is known here that Chita is submitting everything to Moscow, whence its instructions come. The withdrawal of the Japanese forces from Siberia is now regarded in soviet circles as evidence of an internal trouble in Japan which is strengthening the Chita attitude. The Mainichi says: "While Japan is anxious to withdraw peacefully, regardless of Chita's relations with Moscow and to conclude a treaty of amity with Chita, should the latter be held by federal authorities as 'bait to lure out of hiding the man the federal authorities really want.'"

Y., has left for Portland to visit friends after calling on the families of local friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Lemmon. Miss Stanton, who was formerly principal of the Oak Grove school here, after engaging in psychological research work at eastern universities, received her appointment to the Rochester institution, which was endowed for $5,000,000 by the Eastman of Kodak fame. Oddfellows to Dance. The Independent Order of Oddfellows, Star lodge No. 115, and Rebekahs, Silver Leaf lodge No. 203, will give an excursion dance on the boat Bluebird tomorrow. The dance is to be given to assist the Oregon Federation of Fraternal societies in its work for the promotion and employment of American citizens in Portland and Oregon. This federation is composed of delegates from the various fraternal societies of this city and is financed by donations from the treasuries of the various organizations affiliating. All members of the lodges are invited to attend the dance.

Coal is Declared Fair. Cinnabar Product is Considered Good Enough for Coke. HOQUIAM, Wash., July 30.—(Special).—It was estimated there are 200,000,000 tons of sub-bituminous coal in the Cinnabar area, about ten miles northwest of Onalaska, Lewis county, and samples analyzed "appear to be a fair grade coal that would probably make a very good service as well for steaming as any coal now being marketed from Washington mines," said a report submitted by W. H. Peters, port engineer, to the port commission following an investigation July 16. Mr. Peters went on to say that the situation seems ideal for mining operations, as the site would allow the operator to discharge his mined coal at gravity from the main tunnels directly into railroad cars. It is estimated 100,000,000 tons could be reached from three main tunnels in this manner.

Bend Daily Press Quits. Paper to Be Issued as Weekly From Now On. BEND, Or., July 30.—(Special).—With this morning's issue the Bend Daily Press suspended publication after being in the local field for a little more than a year. In a statement contained in the last issue, recognition was made of the fact that the daily field here is large enough for but one paper. The press will continue as a weekly publication. Under the editorship of A. Whinnant, the Press started an afternoon daily in December, 1916, and early in the next year suspended publication, to run as a weekly until 1921, when the daily again made its appearance, this time as a morning paper. A few months later, the name was changed to the Oregonian Sun, but on Christmas morning the old name was again taken.
