

KLAN GRAND JURY FINISHES HEARING

Report at Medford Likely to Be Made Today.

TWO STRANGERS WARNED

"Citizens' Committee" Makes Statement Said to Be Directed to Pair of Kieglges.

MEDFORD, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—After remaining in executive session all afternoon the special grand jury making an investigation of alleged Ku Klux Klan activities in Jackson county, adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The jury report probably will be submitted some time tomorrow.

A dozen witnesses were called before the jury this morning when it met in the courthouse courtroom, where the remainder of its work will be done. None of the witnesses remained in the jury room for any great length of time and it is presumed that each was called for the purpose of clearing up points developed during the six-day hearing.

County Judge Witness

Among the witnesses called today were County Judge Gardner, J. F. Hale, Arthur Burr and Frank Johnson, the last three victims of the night riders; Pat Dalley, deputy state game warden; Charles Harrison, Medford insurance agent; Carl Beebe, taxicab driver; Roy Wilson, a cement worker; and Harry Loftand, all of Medford.

Immediately after returning from lunch the jury began secret consideration of the evidence. Shortly before 2 o'clock the adjudge was instructed to call ex-County Judge Touville, presumably for information concerning Hank Johnson, one of the victims.

Admission Is Given

The only word received from members of the jury was a courteous admonition directed to newspapermen not to speculate on the action of the jury until a report was filed with Circuit Judge Calkins.

Statement Is Issued

A check with Sheriff Terrill's office shows that all of the witnesses subpoenaed for the hearing before the grand jury testified except two—Joe J. McMahon, state traffic officer, who is said to be in Salem, and Paul Wright, reported to be in the Umpqua Divide country on business pertaining to a mine in which he is said to be interested.

Sixty Carloads of Honey Annual Oregon Output

State Has 100,000 Colonies of Bees, Says Authority.

SIXTY carloads, or what would amount to a good-sized freight train, is a conservative estimate of the honey produced each year in the state, according to C. A. Scullen, specialist in bee culture at the Oregon Agricultural college.

The state now has 100,000 colonies of bees managed by nearly 10,000 bee keepers. The largest honey producing sections in the state are the irrigated districts in eastern Oregon, Umatilla and Malheur counties leading. With 200,000 acres under irrigation and 1,200,000 more which it is possible to irrigate, Oregon is able to furnish pasture for many more colonies than she now has.

The clear, water-white honey, the best grade, is made from the nectar of alfalfa, sweet clover, alkali and white clover and fireweed blossoms. It is this grade that is produced in eastern Oregon. From 10 to 20 carloads are produced in these leading counties, some large producers selling as much as one or two carloads.

Cattle Shipments Heavy. With a supply of cattle for market seldom greater than at the present time, buyers will be active until fall sending out shipments for it will not be profitable, the Baker Democrat asserts. Growers to hold longer than they are disposed to do them an account of the likelihood of hay prices being prohibitive to feed.

Least winter stock up all the surplus stacks in Baker county and while the crop this year has been normal or even better, still growers feel that with the larger number of cattle on hand there is an uncertainty regarding the supply of hay available for winter feeding.

Lane Pear Crop 500,000 Pounds. The Lane county pear crop is reported to be looking very good and Manager J. O. Holt estimates at least 500,000 pounds will be received at the Eugene Fruit Growers' association cannery. This is practically the amount received at the cannery last year, says the Eugene Guard.

Last week ended the loganberry and raspberry receipts at the cannery and in about two weeks the blackberries are expected. The new cannery at Cushman is rapidly nearing completion. The boiler and canning machinery are now being installed and will be in readiness to receive the first coast blackberries, says Mr. Holt. The new fruit packing plant at Creswell has also been completed.

Big Ranch to Be Drained

Completion of the drainage system for the Laine dairy ranch west of Langlois, Or., will require several more months of work. Six hundred rods of main and lateral ditches empty into Flores creek near the beach. This 800-acre ranch will be drained.

EUROPEAN DANCER STARS ON HIPPODROME BILL

Rita Roma.

One of the cleverest acts on the bill the Hippodrome this week is that of the Roma duo, of which Rita Roma is a member. Rita Roma, a European dancer who has been in this country only a short while, has never been on this coast before.

The act Rita Roma and her company present is one of the few opening acts on a vaudeville bill which has ever won the honor of "topping the show," the highest distinction that can be accorded any attraction. This occurs at the conclusion of their Russian skaters' dance, an exhibition in which the movements of a skater are reproduced with absolute fidelity in dance. The music for the act was all arranged by Dave Roma, Rita Roma's partner.

subdivided into tracts of 40 and 60 acres, which means the addition of 12 or 20 families to the population of the district and a sensible increase in volume of dairy products.

Strawberry Record Claimed

Carl P. Staeger of Dryad, Wash., claims a prize strawberry record. From a quarter acre Mr. Staeger states he marketed 290 gallons, or nearly 100 crates, of strawberries of the Marshall variety. He sold practically all of them locally and did not furnish containers. He realized $1.55 a crate. He used the sprinkling system, which prolonged the crop, and has just finished picking.—Cheshalis Bee-Nugget.

Maupin to Have New Hotel

Excavation work has begun for a two-story fireproof hotel Maupin, Wasco county, to be built of concrete brick being made in The Dalles. The Maupin Times reports the building will be ready for occupancy in three months.

FISH STATIONS SOUGHT

Game Commission to Hunt Sites for Egg-Taking.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—State egg-taking stations for the Smith River Falls, on Smith river, in western Douglas county. A station established near Templeton, on an inlet to Ten-Mile lake, last spring proved a failure, as the water overflowed the ponds and released the trout.

Mail Swamps Postal Clerk

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Marshfield people who send out heavy mails have swamped the mail clerk on the morning passenger train leaving here at 10:40, and it frequently occurs that as many as 450 letters are posted at this station outside the regular mail bags. Many business men find it convenient, as do their stenographers, to reply to letters in the morning and then mail them on the train. This gives them an hour longer, nearly, than if letters were dropped in the postoffice. An appeal has been made to the people of Marshfield to place all the letters possible in the postoffice.

Long-Bell Ferry Busy

KELSO, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Sunday 602 automobiles were transported from Kelso to Rainier, Or., by the Long-Bell ferry, which has been doing a constantly increasing business ever since service was inaugurated, this being the largest single day's travel. The ferry rate one way for autos is but 75 cents, which is lower than the Kalama ferry rate, and by crossing from Kelso to Rainier the autoist has pavement from Rainier to Goble instead of the rough road from Kelso to Kalama.

New School Building Begun

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—The school board of the Langlois consolidated district has begun a new building to house pupils from the Langlois, Har and Flores creek communities. The board, to give the students plenty of campus room, bought an eight-acre tract. It is hoped the building will be finished so that school may be opened October 1.

Runaway Boy Caught

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—A story of Aunt Jermina and Uncle Ebenezer failed to get Benjamin Lee, Editor, 15, of Portland, past Albany's veteran marshal, Johnnie L. Catlin, today. The boy confessed to running away from his home in Portland, saying that he was on his way to "Los Angeles to see the world."

LICENSE HEARING TODAY

RUM CHARGES TO BE AIRED BEFORE COUNCIL.

Revocation of Business Permits Will Be Considered by City Commissioners.

Hearings on recommendations of Mayor Baker and Chief of Police Jenkins that licensees of three men liquor charges in municipal court will be held before the city commissioners this afternoon.

John Sorenson, conducting the Sweeney hotel, 24 1/2 Burnside street, was convicted July 28 in municipal court of maintaining a liquor nuisance, selling liquor and possessing liquor. On the maintenance count he was fined $200 and on the selling count received a sentence of ten days in jail.

Ben Adler, who runs a second-hand clothing store, tailor and repair shop at 211 Third street, was convicted of having 11 pints of moonshine liquor in his place of business. He was said to have admitted that this was the second offense. A fine of $125 was levied against him July 27.

Some liquor and a serving glass hidden in a stove were evidences of liquor law violations presented against Marko Kullacha, 62 North Third street, where he conducts a soft drink establishment. M. Nicotich, in charge of the place, was fined $75 for alleged maintenance of a liquor nuisance. This was said to have been the second offense for this establishment.

Eleven Indictments Returned. LA GRANDE, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—The Union county grand jury, which just ended its session, found 11 true bills. Five of the persons are in custody. Basil O. Gray, charged with stealing cattle, running them into Umatilla county and there butchering them and selling the meat, pleaded guilty. Joe Williams and Joe Brown, negroes, were indicted jointly for larceny in a store. W. A. Hartman was indicted on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Masons to Give Picnic. KALAMA, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Kalama's city park will be the scene of the annual Masonic Cowitts county picnic, to be held August 6. Besides a fine basket dinner there are to be speeches, a baseball game and other sports.

Chief's Resignation Surprise. LA GRANDE, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Members of the city commission were surprised when Roy Fixler, chief of police, handed in his resignation last Saturday, charging that unwarranted criticism.

Armistice to Be Celebrated. LA GRANDE, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—The county council of American Legion posts of Union county has decided to celebrate Armistice day in La Grande as guests of American Legion post No. 43 of La Grande. All ex-service men will be in uniform for the occasion, and this will be the biggest celebration of the kind ever put on here.

Cherry Fly in Washington. OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—The unexpected appearance of the cherry fly in several sections of this state has aroused anxiety among officials of the state department of agriculture, who are taking every means to stamp out the menace before it gains hold on the orchards, it was said today. A considerable quantity of fruit shipped in from other states has been seized and destroyed by department agents, who found in one consignment practically every cherry of those offered for sale infected by the worm.

Bridge Traffic Curtailed. KELSO, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Because of the heavy travel over the Kelso bridge, particularly so since the Long-Bell ferry began operation to Rainier, Or., the Cowitt county commissioners have limited travel over the bridge. No load in excess of two tons is allowed, and autos must not exceed eight miles an hour nor trucks four miles. Saturday 1226 cars crossed the bridge in 12 hours, and Sunday the travel exceeded 1500 cars. Two special officers have been detailed to the bridge and are on duty at all times.

Irrigation Probe Begun. OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Preliminary investigation of the Columbia basin project by Frank C. Goodwin, assistant secretary of the interior, is proceeding rapidly, and Mr. Goodwin, with Marvin Chase, supervisor of hydraulics in this state, will be in
