

ELECTION CONTEST WAITS FOR JUDGE

Both Sides in Coffey Suit
Want Outside Arbitrator.

HOME JURISTS BARRED

Contestant for Place Apparently
Won by R. J. Kirkwood
Gets Favorable Ruling.

With both sides ready to proceed with the recount in the John B. Coffey contest, interest centered yesterday on efforts to get a judge to hear the matter early next week. Contestants and contestees objected to appearing before several of the local jurists and Circuit Judge Evans instructed Joe Rogers, presiding clerk, to get in touch with an out-of-town circuit judge.

First choice of attorneys for both sides was said to be Harry Belt of McMinnville, but up to a late hour yesterday he had not been located by telephone.

It is the vacation season for circuit judges, and some difficulty may be experienced in finding one who is willing to come to Portland for a week or 10 days to preside during the check of ballots in contested precincts.

Amended Notice Attacked.
The second amended notice of contest filed by Coffey, which included precinct 201—now being investigated by the Multnomah county grand jury—in those to be checked on the vote for R. J. Kirkwood, was attacked by defendants yesterday through a motion to strike on the grounds that the change made virtually a new complaint rather than an amendment to an old one.

Judge Evans denied the motion, holding that the addition of precincts questioned was in the nature of an amendment to a veto for the Coffey force. It is believed by the contestant that a large number of votes cast for Coffey in precinct 201 were credited to Kirkwood.

If a judge can be obtained it is probable that the hearing will begin next Monday. The count in more than 200 precincts is being challenged and will require a recheck of many of the precincts in which the boxes first were opened in the Ball-Ootoot recount. Coffey is but 30 votes behind Kirkwood in the final official vote, and it is known that this lead will be cut down considerably and possibly eliminated by the changes disclosed in precinct 201 alone. If the 49 or 50 votes which were not counted for Coffey in this precinct were credited to Kirkwood Coffey would have the nomination on the republican ticket for state representative.

Vote of Four Questioned.
The contest questions the vote given Kirkwood, Louis Kuehn, Herbert Gordon and E. R. Campbell. Waiting only for the Coffey contest to start, with issues all made up, the W. W. Banks contest of the republican nomination of W. J. H. Clark for joint senator from Multnomah, Clackamas and Columbia counties will get under way at the same time. A joint check will be held for economical reasons.

CONCERNS FILE ARTICLES

Transportation Company Has
Capital of $100,000.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Articles of incorporation filed in the office of Secretary of State Hinkle yesterday included the following:

Whidby Island Transportation company, Coupeville; capital stock $100,000; to operate the steam lines on Puget sound waters; Fred G. Reeve, Martin Madison, Julius T. Iverson, George Leach and B. H. Lovejoy.
Argonaut Grill, Seattle; capital stock $600; Gust Pappas, H. W. Lanterman and Leo Cruise.

WATER ISSUE UP AGAIN

Marshfield Will Decide Whether Or Not to Buy Plant.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Whether or not the city of Marshfield desires to buy its water system and will buy the plant, property, watershed and distributing system, or give the Coast Bay Water company an extension of its franchise, will be discussed at a mass meeting called by the city council for the evening of August 23. The water situation has been under negotiation for a year, but figures, $315,000, submitted as the price by the company, do not agree with the city council's idea of its worth, which they hold to be at least $400,000 less. The mass meeting, therefore, will be informed of what the council considers the system worth and a decision probably will be made as to whether the electors will vote on the proposal this coming November.

BEAR DESTROYING SHEEP

State Hunter Requisitions Traps to Kill Invaders.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Peter Kerra, sheep owner in the Colville Indian reservation, reported to the Washington office of the bureau of biological survey here yesterday that bears are causing heavy loss among his sheep.
State Hunter Corbin, employed by the state department of agriculture in co-operation with the bureau of biological survey, has been transferred to the district and has requisitioned six heavy bear traps with which he expects to catch the invaders. Mr. Kerr sustained a heavy loss to his sheep on the same range last year.

Bridge Building Near Kelo.
KELSO, Wash., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—T. D. Dunbar is building a suspension bridge across the Coveeman river to connect his dairy farm, Coveeman Echo ranch, with the county road. It is 200 feet long and 14 feet wide and the suspension towers are 36 feet high.

FOR MEN

New All Wool Overcoats

$19.50

This annual early-season offering from one of our good makers comes as a boon to forward-looking men and young men. These are the first fruits of his fall crop, and men who pick them up now will thank their stars.

From the sound all-wool fabrics of which they are tailored to the careful manner of their finishing, these are garments of exceptional worth. Skinner's satin lines the yoke and sleeves.

The styles are up to date with belted, half-belted and box coats well represented and there are both raglan and set-in sleeve models.

Browns, grays, oxfords, heathers and lightsome tans insure that every color preference shall be satisfied.

The size range—34 to 44—insures that nine out of ten can be fitted with the utmost dispatch.

The price—Nineteen Fifty—makes it possible for every man to own one of these coats.

HERE'S NEWS OF

New Shirts of Fine Quality

$2.50

About half the former early-season quotation for the most wearable new shirts. Of finely serviceable poplin, well-tailored, carefully finished, these are a new achievement in moderately priced shirts. Handsome striped patterns in blue, brown, green, helio, pink, two-tone and cluster striped designs, with WOVEN fiber silk stripes. Colors guaranteed fast. Sizes 14 to 17.

New Silk Ties

Record New Values at 95c

This offering is pretty well expressive of the Meier & Frank idea of doing business. Instead of asking the $1.50 and $2 per tie which would be fully justified on the regular cost, we cut the cost to our patrons in the exact ratio of the manufacturer's concession to us. And what ties!

Brocaded Satins Persians
Embroidered Charvets
Swiss Grosgrains
Basket Weaves, Etc.

Considering that the ties are made of these and other famous long-wearing silks by a manufacturer of national reputation, you KNOW how wonderful they must be at 95c.

It's Time for a New Fall Hat When $5 Buys a Good One

No one will dispute the tonic quality of a new hat—it brightens up a man's thoughts as well as his clothes. It is particularly illuminating of the lower price trends for fall 1922 that such hats as these can be bought for a five dollar bill.

Velour and brush-finished felts are among the leaders for fall—and they're in this sale. New shapes and new shades of gray, golden brown, seal, pecan and black.

Interesting new stocks of Stetsons in java and other new shades—the "Feature" hat at $10. Other new Stetsons from $7.
