THIEF INVADES AUTO CAMP AND ROBS TOURIST OF $20

Campers Take Up Collection and Poor Man's Loss Will Be Distributed Among Auto Owners.

BY ADDISON BENNETT. THE first theft of any amount noted at the camp grounds occurred Sunday night, when a prowling thief flashed a pair of headlights out of a tent while the owner was asleep, and extracted the sum of $20 from a pocket.

Saturday and Sunday were big days at the camp, the Sunday arrivals of machines being 115, making it one of the biggest days for arrivals. The number of arrivals for the season passed the 7000 mark Saturday afternoon, and Monday at 10 A. M. stood at 717.

Three cars left San Jose, Cal., July 3, and three now at the camp. The owners of the first car are F. W. Pfeiffer and wife, with their daughter, Dolores, aged 11. In the second car came Len Wigg and wife with two children, Leonard, aged 11 and Clara, 7. The third car brought Ira Fox and wife. All of the men folk are owners of orchards in the vicinity of San Jose. They seem to be getting along fine on their trip, as the fox and the wolf are agreeable.

From Alhambra, Cal., arrived Charles W. Young and wife, with their friends, Walter H. Weyrath and wife, and two children, Dorothy, 12, and Robert, 10. Mr. Young is the manufacturer of a screw machine. Mr. Weyrath is a civil engineer. From here they will go by auto stages to Detroit, Mich. where Mr. Young will stop. Mr. Weyrath will there buy a machine and motor down to their real home at Dayton, Ohio, where they have been in California for the past year.

From Grayhall, Wyo., which place from its name, must be in the livestock or cattle country, arrived two families in one car, S. J. Vanderburg and wife, and D. M. Hohe and wife, the latter couple having a sweet 7-year-old daughter, and a boy, 4, noted for one beautiful hair, which is just beyond Auburn. She must be the pride of the section where she lives. Her father is a traveling salesman. They head for home from here.

Seattle is represented at the camp by F. W. Phelps and wife, with their little daughter, Frances Belle, age 7. Mr. Phelps is a writer and publisher of The Pacific Coast Mechanic. They are simply on a trip to this city, and will return in a day or two.

It had been hoped by the judges themselves, as well as all interested in the award, that would have been made yesterday at what was hoped to be the final meeting of the judges. This was found to be impossible, although the jury went into the task with all the vigor possible. It was realized that further consideration of the most formidable contenders for the beauty crown would be absolutely essential.

The great care the judges are taking to choose the very loveliest of Oregon girls to bear the proud title of Miss Portland at the Atlantic City pageant of beauty, next month is complete evidence of their fairness and desire only to make no mistake in the ultimate picking of the winner.

The five experts named to elect Miss Portland want to be in complete accord in making the award. It is believed that with further consideration this will be possible. It is expected that Miss Portland will be introduced to The Oregonian national prize offered by the beauty crown would be absolutely essential.

Should the government take up and develop the St. Lawrence ship canal and expend $500,000,000 through rivers and harbors appropriations, as is proposed, Oregon motorists will suffer for the warning given to members of the Portland Chamber of Commerce by Henry W. Hill of Buffalo, N. Y., at the forum luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Hill is touring the United States in opposition to the St. Lawrence project. He said that the taking of such a large sum of money from the rivers and harbors budget would make almost impossible the appropriation of money for the needed improvements of ports on the Pacific coast.

"Why waste millions in the wasteful waters of the St. Lawrence, which leave unimproved the waterways of the United States, for there are not now and for a generation there will not be sufficient buyers, to take care of both?" Mr. Hill asked.

He stated that the St. Lawrence scheme was one of the expediency of which the great majority of the nation or owner of an ocean-going vessel.

Mr. Hill is a member of the state commission of New York appointed to fight the St. Lawrence project.

There are between four and five billions of feet of beautiful stands, which are easily found themselves on the railroad to Oak Ridge, and will be made more so when the Natron cut-off is completed.

Mr. Hoffman was also being done some survey work in the pine timber lands in the Burns area, where large sales are being contemplated for the forest service. He is of the opinion that large lumber interests cannot afford to pass up the opportunity to settle upon the valuable lands which will be released by the government.

Seaside and looking anything but heroes and the members of the recently organized second company of the Premium Motion Picture corporation, with headquarters in this city, reached Portland last night, and heaved a sigh of relief when they at last stood on something that was stable and not given to nauseating movements. Picture work will begin soon here.

The company, which was in charge of John J. Fletcher, president of the corporation, included Ruth Stonehouse, Lura Anson, George Larkin, Carl Silvera, William Gould, Frank Whitson and Al. Ferguson.

J. C. Cook, the cameraman, proved a good seaman. In order to while away the time he mounted his camera on the bridge of the vessel and every time any of the woe-begone looking members of the cast did the best they could to record on celluloid their unheroic actions.

General enlargement and improvement of departments and judging methods are planned for the Clackamas county fair, which will be held September 19-22. Stricter rules will cover competition and augmented classification of exhibits is being arranged.

BE CHOICE WAITS

JUDGES IN CONTEST ASK FOR MORE TIME.

Five Experts Are Expected to Agree in Selection of Miss Portland.

Judges of The Oregonian beauty contest asked for more time yesterday in which to arrive at a decision. It is expected they will bring in a verdict within a day or two.

It had been hoped by the judges themselves, as well as all interested in the award, that would have been made yesterday at what was hoped to be the final meeting of the judges. This was found to be impossible, although the jury went into the task with all the vigor possible.
