hind the unhittable pitching of Lefty Crumpler, and Los Angeles the second, 3 to 1. That made the series even, each team having won three games to date. The play-off will be this afternoon at the usual

Bis Lefty Crumpler had one of frare days in the first engagetie has except control, and he was good in the pinches that only one als seven bases on balls did the intest damage. That happened the fifth inning when a combination of Douglas' safe poke and three ne of 2:45 o'clock. forced a run over the plate. But Crumpler was so undisturbed that with the bases still full and two down he actually whiffed Art Griggs for the third out. "Art didn't get his bat off his shoulder, which ordinar-ily happens about once in a season. Crumpler seemed to have it in for Crumpler seemed to have it in for Griggs on general principles, for a couple of innings later he did the same thing to him, this time with two on bases. Griggs stood and looked at a hook that broke in at him with about a three-foot swoop, turned and tossed his bat away with never a word. In five times up Griggs didn't get a smell

He fooled them so slightly in three innings plus that they cuffed him for three runs and seven hits and batted him out in the fourth with the bases full and none down. Two more came in on Douglas, his successor, a lanky left-handed youth, but as the location on the bases he was responsible for them, the location on the bases he was responsible for them, the location on the bases he was responsible for them, the location of the entire series to decide the championship.

But something has happened to the wherein tread the better of Canfield.

Mollwitz and Sheehan were ban-inshed in the morning game for disputing a decision at second base. Manager Pick of Sacramento was shown the clubhouse in the afternoon for protesting a decision on Canfield's balk, which let in Wille with a score. Scores:

The Beavers made their runs and hits in clusters. In three innings, the first, fourth and seventh they bunched four hits an inning and scored all their runs but one. Among other outstanding features was the spectacular rout of old Joe Slump by Frank Brazili. Frank, old boy, came out of the doldrums with a tribe in his first time up off Crantriple in his first time up off Cranall and a homer uglas, the 105th home run made in this park this season.

one of them. Rip King threw to second and nobody covered on Mc.

Cabe's steal. The throw was a poor one, anyhow, being off the bag. McCabe went on to third and came in on Twombley's scratch ait to Poole; who fielded it cleanly, but ulidn't throw to first because no-ody was covering. Just previously Spencer had singled, stolen second and tallied on McCabe's drive through Yarrison's legs. That made two runs and the best the Beavers could do off Thom as was one.

An error rigured in that tally, too.

Gressett, first up in the third, got a walk. Catcher Rego saw him leading too far off first and might have had him if the throw had been good, but it was wild and went into right field, Gressett chasing around to zon brought Gressett in with a peach of a squeeze bunt.

This Yarrison looks like a real flinger. He has lots of stuff on his underhand delivery and he mixes that up occasionally with an over-hand fooler. He handles himself like an infielder on batted balls. Once yesterday he scooped an attempted sacrifice one-handed and ripped a runner at second on a dinger of a play. He will be a sweet pitcher for the Beavers next reason. The scores:

MEDFORD, Or., Sept. 10 .- (Special.)-"There have been more deer cial.)—"There have been more deer in Jackson county and vicinity this year than for seasons past," said Patrick Dally of Medford, district deputy game warden, "and so far during the season, which opened August 20, I have checked up more than 100 carasses which do not than 100 carcasses, which do not represent by any means all the deer killed, and the season is yet young, ending on October 31 next.

"The deer are lying back in the deep brush and canyons of the hills, and only the experienced hunters, who go out for three days or more, get them. The one-day hunters from the city usually return home with the story of no luck. They don't know how to scare them up, but at that some of the one-day fellows come back with meat.

"The coming storms will drive the deer out of the brush and canyons long before the season ends, and then everyone will pronounce the deer hunting good."
