

REPUBLICANS VOTE SENATORS IN AGAIN

3 Incumbents Win Out Over Opposition in Primary.

8 STATES GO TO POLLS

Townsend, Lodge and Poindexter Seem Renominated by Safe Margins.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The three republican incumbent senators involved in Tuesday's eight state primaries overcame strong opposition by apparently safe margins, according to incomplete returns available early today.

Senator Townsend of Michigan led the nearest of his three opponents, Herbert P. Baker, by 14,244, with the vote approximately forty per cent complete.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts rolled up a majority of more than 125,000 over Joseph Walker in returns from 1334 election precincts out of 1407.

Senator Poindexter of Washington led the nearest of his five opponents, George Lampling, of Seattle, by a substantial majority.

Redfield Proctor was apparently certain of victory over Lieutenant Governor A. W. Foose in the Vermont republican gubernatorial contest. Senatorial candidates were unopposed.

Cole L. Blease, former governor of South Carolina, was defeated for the democratic nomination for governor of that state by Thomas G. McLeod in a bitter contest.

In the Massachusetts gubernatorial contest, Governor Cox had an easy victory for the republican nomination. William A. Gaston, Boston banker, was well in the lead for the democratic senatorial nomination in late returns from the state.

Governor Groesbeck of Michigan easily defeated two opponents for re-nomination, while James Balch had a small lead over Iva M. Cummins on early returns for the democratic nomination.

H. G. Dupre, representative in congress from the second Louisiana district, had a substantial majority in early returns.

REPUBLICANS ARE JUBILANT

Administration Held Approved by Primaries.

(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—Administration republicans are feeling jubilant over Tuesday's primary elections.

The victories of Senator Lodge in Massachusetts, Senator Townsend in Michigan and Senator Poindexter in Washington, were particularly gratifying to the administration.

In the renomination of all three of these senators, who have stood valiantly by the administration, and all of whom were opposed by men who appealed to the radical side for support, republican leaders believe the wave of revolt which appeared earlier to have set in against the administration, has been checked.

On the heels of the Maine election, which was quite encouraging to the republicans, despite democratic gains, yesterday's primaries have served to revive optimism over the November election, an optimism that was not so general a month ago.

President Harding is reported to be particularly pleased, inasmuch as the administration in these contests was affirmed to be on trial by the party. Republican leaders who were saying a month ago that the party would retain control of the next house by a "safe majority" are saying that it will be more than a safe majority. They still admit that the democrats will make gains, but they do not believe in the light of recent events, that they will be threatening to republican control of congress.

Wets in congress are crowding over the result of the Maryland primaries, where the dries, except in two instances, were defeated. All dry candidates for senate on both party tickets were defeated. Only two dry candidates for the house were nominated.

Walker Ahead in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—Clifford W. Walker, who was defeated two years ago by Thomas W. Hardwick for governor of Georgia, today has turned the tables and won a sweeping victory in the democratic primary for gubernatorial nomination today on the face of incomplete returns received up to 11:30 o'clock tonight by the Atlanta Constitution.

RAIL PEACE AGREED ON

(Continued From First Page.) railroad representatives and six shopcrafts agents. The shopcrafts members of the commission are to be selected by their chiefs. Within 15 days from the signing of the agreement on any railroad, the commission must be functioning.

Settlement May Be Near. On the belief that many carriers will follow those who were parties to this agreement, it was understood tonight, the shopcrafts officials place their hopes of a nationwide settlement of the strikes. The action of the agreeing roads, they were said to believe, will force the others to the same terms.

Just how soon men on the "peace" railroads will return to work could not be learned tonight, but it was predicted that orders ending the strike on some roads would be issued within a few hours.

The terms of settlement were as follows: 1.—In order to bring to an end the existing strike of employes upon the railroads and relieve the country from the adverse effects thereof and to expedite the movement of essential traffic, the following memorandum of agreement is made upon the understanding which the

PORTLAND ELKS OUT FOR BIG CONVENTION

Grand Lodge Session for 1924 Is Sought.

CAMPAIGN TO START

Committee Appointed to Go After Event; Reunion of 1912 Is Brought to Mind.

An immediate campaign to have Portland named as the 1924 convention city for the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be launched, it was announced yesterday.

A 1924 grand lodge commission to have charge of this campaign as well as of the work of preparing for the entertainment of the anticipated convention was also announced yesterday by Dr. E. V. Morrow, exalted ruler of Portland lodge.

1912 Entertained Recalled. It is generally believed that Portland will have no difficulty in winning the 1924 session of the grand lodge of Elks. The wonderful success this city attained in the entertainment of the grand lodge of Elks in 1912 is still the subject of conversation at all grand lodge meetings.

High officials in the order have stated that if Portland desires to entertain the grand lodge delegation and visitors in 1924 there is little doubt that the convention will come here in July of that year.

ELKS' CHAPLAIN IN CITY. Rev. John Dysart to Visit Portland Lodge Tonight.

Rev. John Dysart, grand chaplain of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, who is making a tour of western cities as the personal representative of Grand Exalted Ruler Masters, will make an official visit to Portland lodge No. 142 at its meeting tonight.

Last night Rev. Mr. Dysart visited Oregon City lodge and for the next two weeks he will be visiting Elks lodges in Oregon and Washington.

In addition to representing the grand exalted ruler in the west, Rev. Mr. Dysart is in attendance upon the triennial convention of the Episcopal church. He is rector of St. John's Episcopal church in Duquesne, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Dysart became a member of the Elks in 1904. "I have seen the Order of Elks grow from 165,000 members to 812,000 members," said Rev. Mr. Dysart. "I have seen the charitable work of the organization expand from $250,000 each year to $3,000,000 a year. I have seen the property of the Elks grow from $2,500,000 in value to $100,000,000.

"But, more important, I have seen Elksdom evolve from an organization whose only purpose was 'having of a good time' to an order seeking to aid humanity."

ELKS' TEMPLE TO BE SAFE. Provisions Made Satisfactory to Mayor and Council.

Failure of the bureau of buildings to submit plans of the new Elks temple to the fire marshal's office resulted in a conference yesterday between city officials, Elks' building commission, and C. A. Houghtaling, architect in charge of construction of the temple.

Several days ago H. E. Plummer, chief of the building bureau, in a published statement declared that the Elks had overlooked fire escapes for the new building. Mayor Baker called a conference, which was held yesterday.

Mr. McKenney explained that the Elks are anxious to make the new building safe and for that reason arranged for fire platforms on each floor, wide entrances from all parts of the building to them and open stairways on the south side of the temple. The protection provided cost the Elks an additional $27,000, he explained, whereas fire escapes could have been installed for $3,000.

"We believe we have provided facilities that will make this building one of the safest on the Pacific coast," Mr. McKenney said.

Mayor Baker and other members of the council assured Mr. McKenney that a special ordinance covering the building of a car while intoxicated.

"But I'll help him out," she said. "He's done wrong, but he'll go down and out if he gets away from me, and, judge, I won't give him another cent."

"How can you keep money from him?" Here the judge was very serious in view of the enormity of the offense, for Ward had not only run his wife's car into a ditch Tuesday night, but when picked up he was trying to navigate the battered vehicle once again.

"He can carry his lunch and eat his meals at home and I won't let him have the car again. And, judge, I don't want him on the 'folic' side."

"You'll keep the car away from him sure? All right, then, a fine of $50 and his license revoked for a year. I'll give him a suspended sentence of ten days and if he's caught driving again in that time he'll serve it."

Woman Promises to Prevent Mate From Again Driving Automobile While Intoxicated.

"He's a mighty good man, Jack is, but I can't trust him. Why, judge, do you know, that man would get drunk on a glass of beer. He has no business to touch booze." Thus said Mrs. John Ward, 1121 Knapp avenue, wife of the defendant in her spouse as he stood shame-faced before Municipal Judge Ekwall on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

"But I'll help him out," she said. "He's done wrong, but he'll go down and out if he gets away from me, and, judge, I won't give him another cent."

CHICKS HOME TO ROOST

Notaries Attacked by Attorney Who Paid Their Fees.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—W. S. U'ren, Portland attorney, who recently attacked the so-called interest rate amendment and graduated income tax measure in hope of preventing the secretary of state from placing them on the ballot at the November election, paid the fees to the state on behalf of Paul Turner, Otto Newman and Charles Lorati when notarial commissions were issued to them June 25, 1920. This was disclosed by the records in the state department.

Turner, Newman and Lorati are among the seven notaries public who were alleged by Mr. U'ren to have certified to houses on the petitions circulated in connection with the two measures, in violation of the Oregon statutes.

BUDGET IS PROGRESSING

State Estimates to Be Completed for Commission October 15.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—E. J. Dunbar of Astoria, who some time ago was elected technician for the state budget commission, assumed his duties today. Mr. Dunbar formerly served as secretary of state and is familiar with the work to which he has been assigned.

Frank Meredith, secretary of the budget commission, has reported that statements have been received from more than 100 state departments and institutions with relation to their estimated expenditures for the next biennium.

Not later than October 15 the tentative budget will be completed by Mr. Meredith and turned over to the budget commission for consideration.

DEAF MUTE COUPLE WED

Thirteenth of Month Has No Terror for Portland Pair.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The 13th had no terror for Orlan C. Stevens and Anna R. Zierlin, deaf mutes, who were married here today. Both gave their address as 424 First street, Portland, and Mrs. Myrtle Caldwell, of 101 Grover street, acted as witness.

When the license had been issued they went to Judge Simpson of the superior court, who performed the ceremony.

The judge wrote out the questions in the marriage ceremony, and repeated the words. They nodded their assent and were pronounced man and wife. Stevens, 33 years old, and the bride, also, had been divorced.

FLORA YOUTH SHOT DEAD

Harry Swisher Is Held as Slayer of Vernon Baker.

LA GRANDE, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Vernon Baker, about 23 years old, died yesterday at Flora, a small village 38 miles northeast of Willowa, as the result of gunshot wounds inflicted in a shooting spree that took place in front of the Flora meat market the midnight previous. Baker was the son of W. H. Baker, a merchant of Flora.

According to reports received from Enterprise and Willowa Baker and Harry Swisher were engaged in a heated dispute. After the argument had reached a white heat Swisher drew a revolver and shot Baker. Medical aid was called, but arrived too late.

"But, more important, I have seen Elksdom evolve from an organization whose only purpose was 'having of a good time' to an order seeking to aid humanity."

HALL PETITION STUDIED

Right of Candidate to Have Name on Ballot Still Undecided.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—It will be Thursday night or possibly Friday before the attorney-general will be able to give a legal opinion as to whether Charles Hall's name can go on the ballot as an independent candidate at the November election. Mr. Hall was defeated for the republican nomination for governor at the primary election, but recently was nominated for the office at an assembly held in Portland.

Upon receipt of his certificate of nomination yesterday the secretary of state referred it to the attorney-general for a legal opinion.

COAL PROSPECTS INVESTIGATED

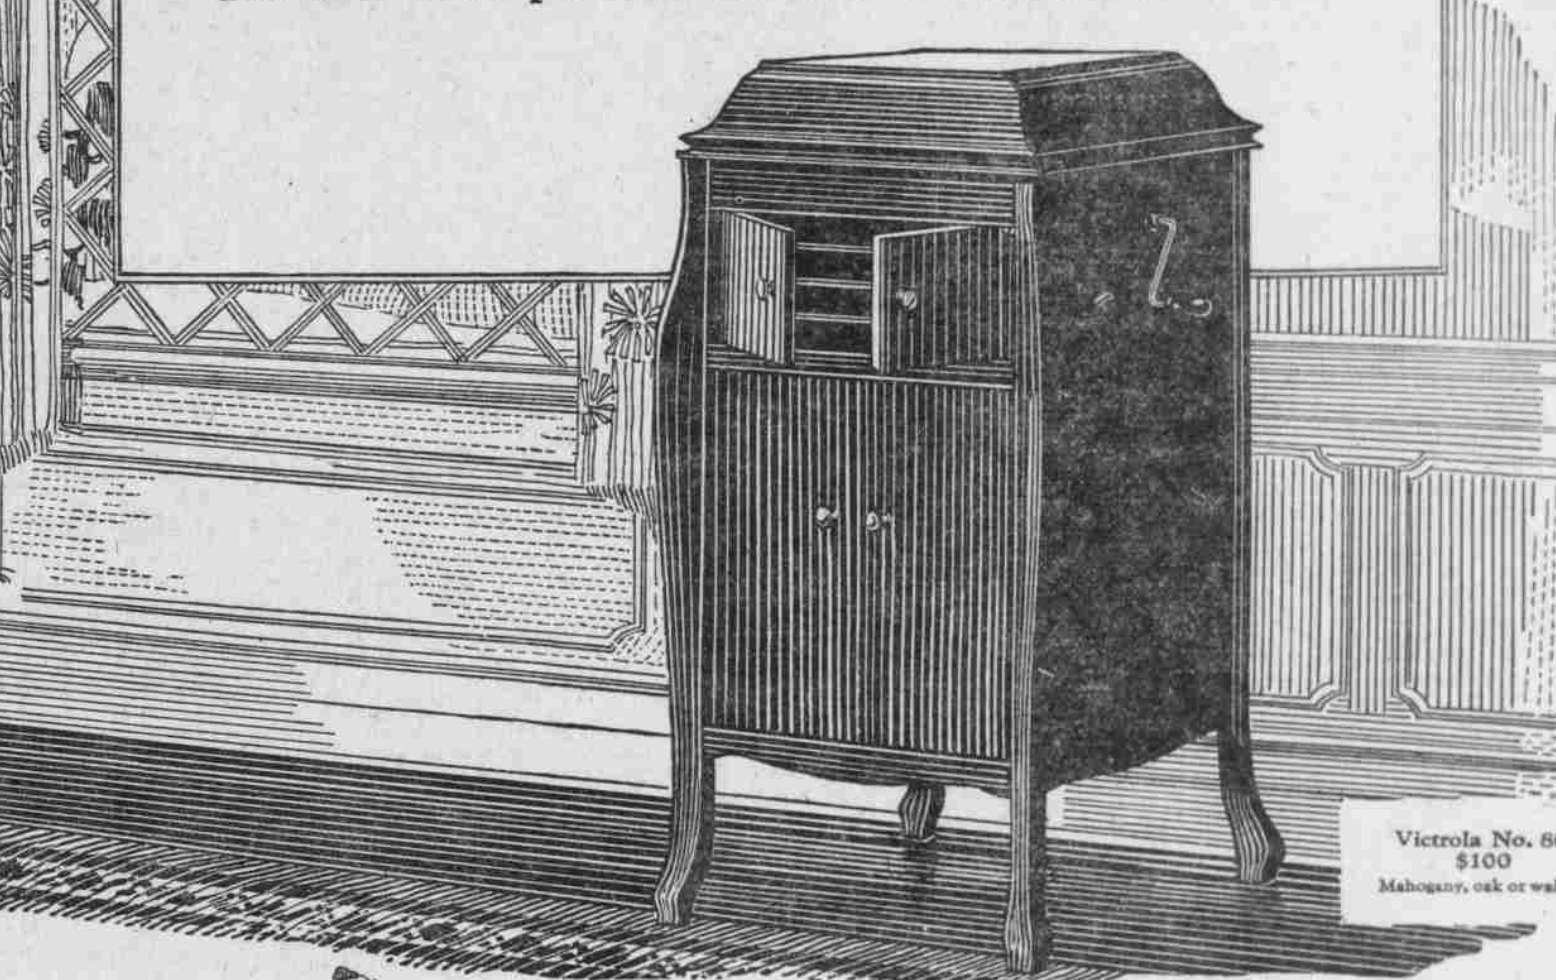

THE DALLES, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The chamber of commerce is investigating the possibility of extensive coal fields in Wasco county, as a result of petitions of residents of the Clatsop county district for money to complete drilling. Coal in small quantities has been found in Wasco county, at intervals during the last 25 years, but never in marketable quantities. A committee, made up of Mayor
