An embarrassing situation was brought about yesterday at the Episcopal general convention when the Young People's society formerly connected with St. Stephen's cathedral petitioned the house of bishops to investigate the actions of Bishop Walter T. Sumner, which brought the resignation of Rev. R. T. T. Hicks as dean of the cathedral on March 1 of this year.

The communication requesting the investigation was addressed by officials of the society to Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, as presiding bishop. Mimeographed copies were given to all bishops attending the convention, however, so it became a public theme in convention circles.

The embarrassment of the situation arose not so much from the nature of the communication as from the fact that an attack of the sort should be made upon the entertaining bishop at this time.

(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—When district commissioners of the Salvation Army opened a three-day conference here today it was learned that retirement of Evangelist Booth as commander of the organization in America was expected.

Miss Booth was in conference with the commissioners and afterward declined to make a statement. Her secretary, Brigadier Griffith, said, however, that reports of her coming retirement were true and that it probably would become effective as soon as Bramwell Booth, commander-in-chief, named her successor.

Plans were under way, he added, for separating the command of the army from the business corporations. Under this arrangement the commissioners in the United States would be responsible to the commander-in-chief, and Miss Booth's successor would be head of the business corporations.

A cut in the salaries of 4000 officers in 1100 American cities, made by London headquarters, is up for discussion at the conference. Pay of married officers would be cut $1 a week and of the unmarried $2.

U. S. WOMAN SLEUTH HURT IN AUTO WRECK

VICTIM ONE OF 4 INJURED IN COLLISION.

Man and Two Other Female Passengers in Machine Which Hits Street Car.

Four persons, three of them women, were injured, one seriously, late last night when the automobile in which they were riding east on Hawthorne avenue crashed into a westbound Woodstock car between East Second and East Third streets. Lack of witnesses and the inability of any of the occupants of the automobile to talk afterwards left the details of the accident uncertain.

Mrs. Lucille Thomas, 32 years old, known in Portland as the "invisible and mysterious Miss D," who won fame as a federal sleuth here during the war, suffered a broken leg, possible internal injuries and numerous lacerations and contusions. It was her husband, Oscar D. Thomas, 230 North Twentieth street, who was driving the car. He suffered lacerations of the face and knees and a possible fracture of the knee cap.

Miss Belva Thomas, 24 years old, 230 North Seventeenth street, was the third of the injured persons. She was riding in the front seat with Mrs. Thomas and suffered precisely the same injuries. The fourth injured person is a young woman whose name is Pauline Verry, but whom attendants at St. Vincent's hospital knew very little about early this morning. Physicians said she, too, may have internal injuries, besides cuts and bruises of serious nature.

So far as could be learned from the police there were no witnesses to the accident other than Motorman Mason of the Woodstock car, who left the scene shortly after the police arrived and who did not give his version of the collision.

MR. PIERCE ASKED TO TALK

Republicans and Democrats in Heated Row.

MR. PIERCE ASKED TO TALK

Bourbons Should Suspend Admittance Fee if They Insist on Rally, Say Opponents.

ST. HELENS, Or., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The Columbia county fair, to be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, has become the storm center in a bitter fight between the republicans and democrats of this county, as a result of the fair board's action in inviting Walter M. Pierce, democratic candidate for governor, to speak at the fair Wednesday afternoon.

The fair board announced that Mr. Pierce had been invited to speak on condition that his address be strictly non-political. It was announced that Mr. Pierce had agreed to these terms.

Neither of these announcements in the least assuaged the snorting of the republican warhorses, who saw in both the invitation and the acceptance an affront to the democratic candidate for governor. They pointed out that Mr. Pierce would get an opportunity to show off before a bigger crowd than any democrat could assemble here if his oratory was the sole attraction.

Republican suspicions stirred.

Republican suspicions were further stirred up by the fact that R. N. Lovelace, president of the fair board, is one of the democratic lights in Columbia county. It has been whispered around that the democratic central committee had charged Mr. Lovelace with the bourbon candidate a good turn by broadening the invitation through the fair board.

There also has been rumors that pressure was brought to bear on other members of the fair board to insure favorable action on the proposal to have Mr. Pierce speak. Just what form the pressure took has not been made public, but feeling has been roused to a point where the success of the fair is considered threatened.

It has even been suggested that if the democrats want to turn the fair into a political meeting Wednesday afternoon, they might at least suspend admittance charges. What ever may be the result of this county republican to hear good talks, it has been said that they feel that it is rubbing it in a bit to ask them to pay good money to get into the fair grounds when the chief attraction is to be a speaker whose presence on the program had been secured by their own party.

Injury to Fair Seen.

Efforts to get in touch with Ray Tarbell, secretary of the board, were unsuccessful today, and it could not be learned just what action would be taken regarding the admittance charges. Conservative opinion was to the effect that nothing could be done unless the democratic central committee was ready to assume responsibility for the bill, and come out publicly with the statement that the afternoon was to be made the occasion of a bourbon rally.

Whatever is the outcome of the political row, it was generally considered that the fair board had injured the fair by inviting Mr. Pierce. Political feeling has been at such a pitch ever since the primaries that the republican and democratic parties are on edge. Whether the republicans will go to the extent of blacklisting the fair Wednesday afternoon or even on all three days has been a matter of conjecture ever since the row began.
