

EXTENSION OF ROAD TO PORTLAND URGED

Milwaukee Need Build Only 85 Miles.

SEATTLE IS BOYCOTTED

Olympic Peninsula Residents Eager to See Trade Connection Established.

A campaign by Portland to bring about the extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway from Quincy, Wash., to Tenino, and thence into Portland over the O.W. & N. company's tracks is urged by James Fullerton of Port Townsend, Wash., former traveling immigration agent for the Chicago & Milwaukee road.

Mr. Fullerton has written a letter outlining the situation to the city council and this letter has been referred to the Portland Chamber of Commerce for its investigation.

According to Mr. Fullerton, there is but an 85-mile gap that separates Portland from connection with the Olympic peninsula, a section of land that has, in addition to billions of feet of timber, other resources that would come into Portland for distribution to markets of the world.

Trade Connection Desired. Residents of the district involved are anxious to make trade connection with Portland, according to the writer, for the reason that Seattle has been boycotted by them.

"Seattle has acted like a huge octopus," wrote Mr. Fullerton, "sticking its tentacles onto everything of value in the surrounding country and taking it until she has antagonized all the smaller towns, including Tacoma. Seattle has been boycotted by the merchants of these places so that they send anywhere but there for goods and, if Portland had direct communication with all these outlying towns and showed a friendly spirit towards them, Seattle would go begging for trade."

Mr. Fullerton has already taken up the question of the bonus that the railroad would demand for the building of this extension. He expresses confidence that if Portland will take a lead in this movement, all the smaller towns and cities affected would be willing to contribute to the bonus.

Should the connection be made, Mr. Fullerton states that not only will Portland benefit from the trade that will be derived from the Olympic peninsula, but in addition, will obtain trade from Alaska and the San Juan islands.

Portland Would Be Benefited. During his travels as immigration agent for the railroad, Mr. Fullerton gave many lectures on the north-west country and found that in the majority of eastern points where he lectured there is great interest in Portland.

"It would be a big benefit to Portland if this connection could be made, as the men employed by this railroad who are sent to eastern points would then be able to include Portland and its environs in the talks that are given and the advertisements that are run by the railroad company."

Women's Activities

Mrs. R. E. Bondurant, president of the Albertina Kerr home and prominent social services worker, gave a luncheon Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce, in honor of Miss Uta Hayashi, founder of the children's home in Osaka, Japan, and Mrs. Ada Wallace Urub, chairman of the Oregon W. C. T. U. children's farm home. Miss Hayashi explained that she became interested in humanity service work 36 years ago through the American W. C. T. U. world's missionary, Mrs. Levitt, then working in Japan. She has since devoted her life to the social welfare and Christian work in Japan. She is president of the W. C. T. U. in Osaka with 6000 members, which maintains a women's home with over 100 inmates as one of its activities. Among the guests besides Miss Hayashi and Mrs. Urub were Mrs. Mary Mallett, Mrs. H. T. Gies, Mrs. G. L. Buland, Mrs. Lee Davenport, Madam Takaeda, wife of the Japanese consul at whose home Miss Hayashi is holding her first audience at the Episcopal convention, at which she is an official delegate.

Members of Court Multnomah No. 270 of the Daughters of Isabella are planning a card party to be given Tuesday night, September 26, for the benefit of the Sisters of the Precious Blood. This is the first card party of the season announced by the entertainment committee of the organization and a record attendance is anticipated.

The Dramatic club will meet Friday at 8 P. M. at the home of Mrs. D. S. Williams, 1142 Harold avenue, for the purpose of forming a permanent organization. All interested are invited to attend this meeting.

Correct English: A Daily Quiz

A Daily Quiz. WHAT is a maroon? What are maroon glasses? How pronounced? What is a Maroon? What is a maroon with the advice, "Conserve next winter's coal bill!"

Answers to Wednesday's Questions. A scullion is a servant who cleans pots and kettles. We eat scallions not "scullions." Resilience, pronounced "re-sil-ee-ens" means elasticity, springiness. Continually means "without ceasing." Constantly sometimes means "regularly," as "the boys cats constantly" (not "continually").
