TONG JURY DISMISSED

Case Against Dan June Results in Deadlock.

Hopeless deadlock, with the jurors standing six to six in their views as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, caused the dismissal late Thursday night of the jury in the case of Dan June, Chinese tong man, accused of an attempt to kill Lee. Wong, member of a rival tong, on August 1, 1921.

This was the second trial of Dan June, the first resulting in a verdict of guilty, but a new trial was or-dered by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh on the ground of perjured testimony. The second hearing was in the court of Circuit Judge Tucker. The inof Circuit Judge Tucker. The in-jured man was shot five times but did not die. Albert Wong, jointly indicted with Dan June, admitted participating in the shooting and jumped his bond a year ago. Arthur I. Moulton conducted the defense, Deputy District Attorney Mowry and John A.
