TURK PROPOSALS NOT ACCEPTABLE

Offer Is "Discussable," Allies Decide.

PEACE CONFERENCE TODAY

Kemal Makes Conditions for Military Halt.

BOUILLON GIVES REPORT

General Harrington and High Commissioners Are Met; Kemalists Are Near Chanak.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Kemalists proposals which will be laid formally before the Mudania conference tomorrow are "discussable but not acceptable." This was the decision of the extraordinary council which met at the British embassy this afternoon. It included the allied high commissioners, ambassadors, generals and admirals. M. Franklin Bouillon, the French envoy, through whose efforts with Kemal Pasha the conference was made possible, expressed his confident belief of the Associated Press correspondent this evening that an agreement would be reached tomorrow at Mudania.

Two Questions Important.

Two of the most important questions to be discussed at the conference will be demarcation of a new neutral zone on the Asiatic shores of the Dardanelles and Ismid, and the evacuation of Thrace.

The allied policy that Kemal's demands, as outlined by M. Franklin Bouillon, are of such a nature that the Ankara assembly would thereafter be in a position to reject the allied note. Kemal Pasha insisted on settlement of all military questions before replying to the allied proposals. He and four of the ministers at Smyrna accepted the allied note in principle, but the attitude of the Ankara assembly was not made known.

Neutral Zone Not Mentioned.

The allies feel that Kemal's demands could have been made with better grace if the allied note had been fully endorsed by his government. Kemal's armistice terms make no reference to a neutral zone or neutrality of the straits, but the opinion of the allied council was that the most important question to be discussed tomorrow would be the establishment of a provisional neutral line at Chanak, as suggested by General Harrington's latest note to the Turkish nationalist leader.

Session to Be Ashore.

It was decided tonight that the armistice conference must take place ashore at Mudania, instead of on one of the allied ships. This decision was reached principally because the allies were unable to agree even on such a minor question as to which should have the honor of acting as host of the conference.

Each apparently feared that the holding of the conference aboard one of the others' ships would give that nation a special advantage in the session and in the report of that session which would reach the outside world.

Delegates Go to Mudania.

Hammid Bey, representing the Ankara government, accompanied by M. Franklin-Bouillon, the French envoy, will leave tomorrow morning for Mudania on the cruiser Metz. General Monblli, who will represent Italy at the conference, will proceed on the Victor Emmanuel; General Sharple, for France, on the Jean Bart, and General Harrington on the Iron Duke.

Change Causes Comment.

General Harrington's consenting to meet Ismet Pasha, instead of Mustafa Kemal has caused much comment. There is a vast difference in their ranks, General Harrington being commander-in-chief of the allied forces, while Ismet is only second in command of the nationalist army.
