Whats What

SOME ultra-economical housekeepers turn the virtue of frugality into a vice when they are too miserly in their table service, or when, having provided sufficient fare for an occasion, they watch each helping of food as if their guests were robbing them of every portion eaten.

The first of hospitality is that what is offered must be tendered freely, even eagerly; yet there are well-to-do women, who, never having forgotten the privations of early poverty, look as though they were suffering untold sacrifice whenever they share their present bounty with others. People of this type should never invite guests to their table, or if they must entertain visitors, they should try to cultivate an attitude of hospitality. The only watchfulness a well-bred hostess exerts is to see that her guests are properly served, that is to say, properly fed.

Things You'll Love to Make

Raisin chocolate cookies—Two egg whites, one cup powdered sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two squares unsweetened chocolate, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla, three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon, one cup soft bread crumbs, one-half cup Sun Maid raisins, one-fourth cup chopped walnut meats.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add sugar slowly. Add salt and melted chocolate. Mix cinnamon, crumbs, raisins and nuts and add to egg mixture. Mix well. Add vanilla and drop from teaspoon on greased pan, not too close together, as they spread. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. This makes about 24 cookies.

Apple sauce cake—One and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup fat, one egg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two and three-fourths cup flour, five teaspoons baking powder, juice and rind of one-half grated lemon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, two teaspoons cinnamon, one and one-half cups smooth unsweetened apple sauce (made from either fresh or dried apples), one cup seeded or seedless raisins, one-third cup nut meats.

Cream the sugar and shortening. Beat the apple sauce and the eggs very well beaten. Roll the nuts and raisins in part of the flour and sift the remaining dry ingredients. Combine and beat together. Bake as a loaf or in well-greased muffin pans as individual cup cakes. Cover with simple confectioner's frosting or leave plain as desired.

Dear Madam Richet

I have a dark blue wool serge coat of fine quality which I wish to make into a dress. It is a plain one-piece coat; full length, but is not quite long enough without using a something for a drop skirt, so I have bought enough black satin for the skirt. I propose to make it in Redingote style, with a long elastic collar the length of front of the main, vest of satin. There was a small spot on back of coat near bottom and after cleaning it there was a little, so I have a stamping design to embroider around bottom, quite a wide design, as the Redingote was illustrated embroidered in just that way. Now I wish to ask you what color to use in the embroidery. It is a large scroll design and is to be done in same manner along the other edge of the coat. I would like to use henna if that is still in style; or is there something newer? Or would black be better to match the black satin? The coat is a navy blue. I would like to brighten it, somehow. What would be best to use for a belt? I have enough serge, or could use the satin, or have you a better suggestion? My daughter has a maroon broadcloth which she wishes to make into a dress-like skirt with pockets set in on front, jacket with long sleeve, collar length of front with braided satin vest, seams to run up each side of back to shoulder, which makes it difficult to change, please suggest a way to make over. Daughter is 20, 5 feet 9 inches tall, bust 36, waist 25, hips 28, dark brown hair, not much color. MRS. L. M. E.

MS. L. M. E.—For the redingote, which is an excellent way in which to make over your coat, there is a combination a bit power than the henna. The black warts and use Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by the sharp, stabbing pain, which may come and go or be constant. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, arm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the foot. Sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which often ends in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pains or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poison. Apply Tynol to the part that hurts, and the pain will be gone.

Tynol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerve, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Price 35¢ at Woodruff's and Owl Drug Co., or any reliable druggist.

Club Work Outlined

Rotarians for 10 Days.
The work of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club was outlined in a brief address by H. A. Sargent, president of that club, in speaking at the luncheon of the Rotary club at the Benson hotel yesterday. Following his address a fast series of aerobics and boxing bouts and weight-lifting exhibitions were put on under the auspices of the athletic club.

Otto C. Mauthe, physical director of the club and chairman of the day, announced that the courtesies of the athletic club would be extended to Rotary members for ten days as they might become acquainted with the Multnomah club and learn what it is doing.

Senior Stefano Mascagno, head of a ballet school in New York, was a guest of honor.

No Love Lost for America, Declares Dr. G. Earle Henton.
That there is no love lost for America and Americans in Europe was the declaration of Dr. G. Earle Henton of Portland in an address at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Multnomah hotel yesterday noon. Dr. Henton has just returned from a tour of the principal countries of that continent.

Dr. Henton said that the allies are not willing to give this country credit for more than shortening the war. On the other hand, he said Germany is convinced that she won it, and there is consequently no love lost for us in that locality.

Dr. Henton said that farming had practically recovered from the war and manufacturing was rapidly getting back on a pre-war basis.

Auto Licenses $75,089.
OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Despite the lateness of the season and the fact that the half-rate for automobile licenses became effective September 1, license fees received by the state treasurer during September totaled $75,089.15. Spokane was second with $17,743.82, and Pierce third, with $5,983.15. The total of automobile license fees for the year up to October 1 was $2,352,855.50.

Budgets Are Not Protested.
CENTRALIA, Wash., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—No objections were voiced yesterday when the city commission and school board held hearings on their respective budgets for 1924. The city's budget provides for the raising of $54,850.94 by taxation next year, which means a 19-mill levy. This is an increase of 1 mill over last year. The school district budget provides for the raising of $78,796.13 by taxation, or a 15-mill levy. To this, however, will be added 5 mills for the retirement of bonded indebtedness.
