

PEDDLER IS ARRESTED

THEFT OF FRUIT FROM CARS IS CHARGED.

Remark Made to Housewife Last July Leads to Catching in Act of Robbing.

A voluble and loquacious vegetable hawker, a haggling housewife, a watermelon, appear as the principals in a modern detective story which ended Wednesday when Antonio Saso, former Portland vegetable dealer, was arrested by United States authorities at San Jose and held for return to Portland.

The haggling housewife refused to buy melon from the peddler—his name a mystery.

The price was too high, she said. Antonio Saso sold melons much cheaper.

"Ah, madam," answered the voluble one, in his broken English, "if I could steal any melons, I could sell them cheap, too."

That was last July. The housewife told a friend. The friend relayed the story to a department of justice agent.

There had been a number of thefts from interstate shipments of fruits and melons left on the freight tracks near East Third and Belmont streets. Railroad agents were told of the voluble Italian's statements. On the morning of August 26 a railroad guard surprised Saso loading watermelons from a car into his truck.

The guard started to question the hawker. Saso claimed that he had authority to enter the car. By a ruse he diverted the watchman's attention, bolted, deserted his truck and disappeared.

A warrant for Saso's arrest was sworn out. The government's sleuths located the former Portlander at work on an uncle's ranch near San Jose.

Saso is 32 years of age and resided with his parents at 260 East Seventeenth street. He will be returned without delay to face trial in the federal court.

JOHN C. VEATCH TO QUIT

Assistant Federal Attorney Will Retire on November 1.

John C. Veatch, war time prosecutor in the federal courts, who has acted as assistant federal attorney for Oregon for the last four years, will step out of office November 1 and take up the practice of law with the firm of Joseph, Haney & Littlefield. Just who will step into his official shoes is not announced.

Lester W. Humphreys, federal attorney, who has been attempting to resign for the last six months, will leave his office January 1. Rumor in political circles has intimated that Mr. Humphreys' successor will be appointed soon after the general election, and as the recommendations for assistant are made by the man holding the post of federal attorney, it is not thought that Mr. Humphreys will attempt to name any successor to Mr. Veatch.

SCHOOL ROLLS DECREASE

Closing of Mill at Falls City Reflected in Registration.

FALLS CITY, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—After a two weeks' postponement to enable the boys and girls to help in the hop and prune harvests, the Falls City schools have reopened. Many families have moved away this summer because of the closing of the Falls City Lumber company's big mill here, and this fact is reflected in the smaller school enrollment. But 148 pupils came into the grammar school, against 220 for the first day last year. The high school had 87 enrolled, with a few more expected.

The pupils of the Oakhurst school, which burned about a month ago, are meeting in a vacant residence in their own district, attempts at consolidation having failed.

Student Societies Elect.

JUNCTION CITY, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—At the first meeting of the year of the Arena and Hypathian Literary societies the following officers were elected: Arena—President, Arnold Bodker; vice-president, Kenneth Lee; secretary and treasurer, Burton Young.

Hypathian—President, Mildred Dinges; vice-president, Helena Wilde; secretary and treasurer, Muriel Handewith. These clubs were organized in 1919 for the purpose of literary study and debate. They are composed of members of the Junction City high school.

College Dean's Father Dies.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Ansel Milam, father of Miss A. E. Milam, former dean of the school of home economics, died at his home in Springfield, Mo., October 2, as the result of a fall from a moving street car. Mr. Milam has been a regular visitor to Corvallis at intervals during the last four years. He had been planning to come to Benton county to reside permanently next summer. Miss Milam has just landed in China to take charge of instruction of home economics in universities and colleges there.

Citizenship Schools to Open.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The night schools maintained each year by the city educational department for the instruction of foreign-born residents in English and citizenship, will be resumed for the winter on the first Monday in November. As under the new federal law women as well as men must take the citizenship examinations, the attendance is expected to be much larger than formerly.

Field Secretary Makes Address.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—M. J. Duryea, field secretary of the Oregon state chamber of commerce, today addressed the members of the Eugene chamber of commerce at their first luncheon of the fall season. His subject was "The 'Pickin' Spirit'." Luncheon will be held each Thursday noon throughout the fall and winter.

Eastern Oregon Has Snow.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The first snow fall of the season in eastern Oregon occurred Wednesday at an early hour, when a light snow fell at La Grande Valley, south of La Grande.
