

COMMUNITY COUNCIL UP

CLUB FEDERATION TO BE PROPOSED SOON.

Suburban Organizations to Be Asked to Send Delegates to Session October 24.

To complete definite plans for formulating a central council with representation from each of the various community organizations in the city, a meeting will be held at the chamber of commerce October 24, at 8 P. M., according to J. C. Henderson, head of the Portland community service, who is working in the interests of the central council idea. The plan to federate the various clubs and improvement associations in the suburban districts has been under discussion for several weeks, and has received the approval of the community organizations in Sellwood, Peninsula park, Woodstock and South Portland, and the idea was approved at a recent meeting of delegates from the organizations of the southeastern portion of the city called to discuss the Ross Island bridge project.

The plan has been successful in various other large cities and has been the means of perfecting a strong organization which has taken an active interest in local and state matters. Henderson expects to provide for an interchange of talent for the entertainment programmes at each of the various clubs during the winter months, and the advantageous features of such a federation.

A representative of the state chamber of commerce will be present at the meeting and outline the organization and benefits of the central control plan of the chamber of commerce. Secretary Duryea of the state chamber has become interested in the project and will assist in the organization of the central council for the local organizations.

Requests that the various community clubs send representatives to the meeting to perfect the organization will be sent out this week, and it is hoped to have a full representation. Several entertainment features will be provided by the community service.

TWO HELD OVER DEATH

MEN ARE ARRESTED HERE ON TACOMA ADVICES.

George E. Walton and William B. Hunt Detained; Use of Drug Suspected by Police.

On advice from Tacoma, Portland police yesterday arrested George E. Walton, alias George E. Collins, and William B. Hunt, both of whom will be held pending the investigation of the death of Joseph Ryan, alias Cronin, in Tacoma Wednesday night. Police here said that the two men arrested in the Imperial hotel are drug addicts and that a letter written by one of the men indicated that Ryan had died of an overdose of morphine.

The three men, together with Arthur G. Myers, were on their way from Vancouver, B. C., when they all stopped over in Tacoma Tuesday. Both Walton and Hunt, however, left town when Ryan was sent to the hospital Wednesday in a serious condition. His death followed shortly.

Walton said his home is in Vancouver, B. C., while Thomas lives in Minneapolis. Papers found in their possession, police said, indicated that the men were on their way traveling from one fair to another.

UNIVERSAL DRAFT URGED

WAR-TIME SERVICE IS HELD DUTY OF EVERY MAN.

Appeals for Tariff Adjustment Under New Law to Be Made Direct to Commission.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Drafting of all labor from banker to laborer, in war time, advocated by Colonel L. H. Ruggles of the United States ordnance department, and announced by William S. Culbertson, vice chairman of the United States tariff commission, by an order by President Harding that all investigations under the flexible provisions of the tariff law for change in rates should be filed with the commission, featured tonight's sessions of the American mining congress.

"When the drafting of labor at home is mentioned, it should not be understood to apply only to manual laborers, frequently referred to as 'workers,'" Colonel Ruggles declared.

"It should include every male citizen physically and mentally capable of service in the defense of his country," Mr. Culbertson said that October 7 the president had signed an order that "all requests, applications or petitions for action" under the flexible provisions of the tariff law, "shall be filed with or referred to the United States tariff commission."

He said that consideration of individual tariff rates "undoubtedly will be broadly construed," and that the powers conferred on the president by the new tariff law will "lead to greater stability."

Resolutions adopted by the congress today included providing transportation committee to study freight rates in the mining industry and see whether the charges are "fair and equitable" as compared with charges for transportation in other industries; condemning all legislation "set up by individuals or commissions to pass without appeal on mining investments."

ESTIMATES WILL BE ASKED FOR SHRINE HOSPITAL.

Member of Board of Governors in Portland and in San Francisco Hold Long-Distance Session.

"I move that estimates be obtained for the Portland unit of the Shrine hospital for the crippled children," said Bishop Frederick W. Keator of Tacoma, at a meeting of the board of governors, at the Imperial hotel yesterday.

"I second that motion," came over the long distance wire from John D. McGilvray, who was "attending" the meeting via the telephone, at his office in San Francisco.

And for 15 minutes the business of the hospital board was transacted with Mr. McGilvray, who, with Bishop Keator, is a member of the national board of hospital trustees.

A contract for the excavation of the Portland unit will be let soon, it was announced, but some alterations in the plans will necessitate another meeting before the bids for the construction of the hospital can be let. The changes have been recommended by Bishop Keator.
