

FLUTE MUSIC IS CLEAR

TRIO DELIGHTS RADIO FANS WITH PLEASING MUSIC.

The Oregonian Broadcasts Other Concert Numbers and Speech on Fire Prevention.

The first flute trio ever broadcast by radio in Portland was the feature of the concert went on Wednesday night from The Oregonian tower in conjunction with the Shipowners' radio service. No long-distance telephone calls were received from further than 25 miles out, but an operator at that distance from Portland said he could hear every note of the three flutes and pronounced it excellent music.

The programme was a four-part affair, consisting of three different kinds of music and a short speech on fire prevention week delivered by L. P. Hewitt in behalf of the committee in charge of the week. Violin solos were played by Miss Pauline Wolf, accompanied by Miss Frances Byers. Jerry Ryan, baritone vanguard singer, sang three new songs, assisted at the piano by Miss Ellen Sprague.

The flute trio consisted of Robert E. Millard, Miss Margaret Laughton and John Abbott. They played two selections, trios for flutes by Kuhlau and Furstenberg, and in addition John Abbott played a flute solo, "Andalusian" (Pessard), assisted at the piano by Mrs. Abbott.

The three solos played by Miss Wolfe were "Ave Maria" (Gounod), "Cradle Song" (Hauener), and "Three o'clock in the Morning," the last by request.

Mr. Ryan sang three new numbers just published by Leo Feist. They were "Cool Black Mammy," "Why Should I Cry Over You?" and a comedy number entitled "All For the Love of Mike."

The next regular programme to be broadcast from The Oregonian tower will be tonight, when George Olsen and his orchestra will play a concert of dance music.

WOMEN ARE RADIO FANS

The Oregonian Concerts Enjoyed Throughout Oregon.

That the "lady of the house" is an equally enthusiastic radio fan as her lordly male is shown by the letters received from women throughout Oregon who have enjoyed The Oregonian concerts.

Mrs. Carl Genter of Grants Pass writes: "We set up your beautiful concert every other night. Surely enjoyed last Sunday night's programme. Wish you great success with your new set for broadcast."

In a letter from Claire J. Gray, Portland, she says: "I want to tell you of our appreciation of the splendid concert which you broadcast Sunday evening. We were able to hear it clearly on a detector alone, and wish to thank you for our many evenings of pleasure received from your broadcasting station."

From Clear Lake, 80 miles north of Seattle, comes the report that Theodore Smith, living in that district, receives The Oregonian broadcasting. He says the station consists of a vacuum tube detector and one step of radio frequency amplification.

The California reports are still piling up. Hardly a day goes by without two or more letters from persons living in the southern state.

Wednesday a letter was received from Ekersfield written by H. D. Dunning of that city, who states that he has been hearing The Oregonian concerts frequently, notwithstanding the interference from a score or more of other stations within several hundred miles from him.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT PLANNED

WORK OF MILLS OPEN-AIR UNIT GOING SOUTH.

Board Sends Principal to Oakland to Prepare for Installation of Products.

Such is the worth of the Mills open-air school of Portland that an exhibit representative of the unit will be sent by the district to the international safety exposition, which is soon to convene at Oakland, Cal. By unanimous vote of the board, the exhibit will be sent to the exposition, and it was decided to display the school exhibit and to dispatch Miss Anna Thompson, principal, to Oakland for the purpose of installing it and representing the school and district.

"There is no question," said Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, who recommended the action, "about what you have to offer in an educational way. Mills school is the finest open-air school in the United States, and possibly in the world."

The board by an unopposed motion, at the request of Judge Jacob Kanaler, agreed to provide office quarters for the Americanization council in the new building, now under construction on the site of the old Holiday school.

Bids on construction items pertaining to the administration building were opened and read, and referred to the properties committee for action. The lowest bid for roofing the structure was that of W. J. Morton, in the sum of $1190. For excavating, brick and concrete work the lowest bid was that of Frank Lanning, in the amount of $15,765.

DRIVER GAGGED, ROBBED

Automobile Is Stolen by Trio; Victim Chews Rope, Escapes.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 11.—(Special).—E. J. Bellus, a salesman for the Burt & Hall Motor company, reported to the sheriff today that three men had stolen his money and his automobile, gagged him, and kidnapped him at Pulp siding, in this county. Bellus said he got loose by chewing the rope with which he was bound.

Bellus said two of the men were armed, and that they forced him to enter the brush and then bound him. They took from $10 to $16 from his pockets, he said, and then drove off with his machine. The authorities expect to trace the assailants through a laundry mark on the handkerchief with which Bellus was gagged.

WHITNEY CHORUS SINGS

250 BOYS IN WHITE COSTUMES GIVE CONCERT.

Varied, Interesting Programme Given in Municipal Auditorium by Youngsters.

Two hundred and fifty boys in white costumes with red neckties, comprising the Portland Whitney Boys' chorus, were an imposing group Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium. The programme was varied and entertaining, and gave a comprehensive idea of the boy talent of the city. Only a few out-of-town members were included. Chorus numbers were the most impressive and were directed by Rev. H. E. K. Whitney, organizer of the chorus. The boys sang with a harmony and spirit which gave evidence of careful training.

PYTHIANS END SESSIONS

OREGON-WASHINGTON CONFAB'S LOVE FEAST.

Grand Lodges Name Joint Board to Promote Proposed Temple at City of Vancouver.

Not a ballot was cast at the two-day state convention of the Knights of Pythias, which closed Wednesday. All business transacted, including the election of officers, was by acclamation. The convention was pronounced the greatest love feast of the order ever held here.

The most important matter to come before the sessions was that of the construction of a new temple for the order in the city of Vancouver and Oregon. A committee was appointed from the membership of the Oregon grand lodge to meet with a similar Washington committee and discuss ways and means of obtaining funds for the building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $130,000 and will be located at Vancouver, Wash.

It will take another day for the grand lodge of Pythian Sisters of the state of Oregon to wind up its convention. Principal business accomplished by the Pythian women yesterday was the annual election of officers, as follows: Hester Hogan, Albany, grand chief; Florence Rand, Hood River, grand senior; Calla Holman, La Grande, grand junior; Mabel Williams, Yamhill, grand manager; Rose Farrington, Portland, grand mistress of records and correspondence; Helen Wrightman, Silverton, grand protector; Pearl Kinzer, Hubbard, grand guard; Pearl Kinzer, Albany, grand press correspondent.

RECITAL IS ENJOYABLE

Sylvia Weinstein, Violinist, and Susie Michael, Pianist, Heard.

An enjoyable recital was given in the ballroom of the Multnomah hotel Wednesday night by Sylvia Weinstein, violinist, and Susie Michael, pianist.

The programme was as follows: Fugue, Tartini-Kreisler; Nocturne, a Chopin group, B minor, Op. 9, No. 2; F sharp major, Ballade, Op. 10, No. 3; Concerto, G minor, Op. 10, No. 1; L'Alouette, Glinka-Balakirev; concert valses, Friml, Adagio, Vivaldi, Tambourin Chinois, Kreisler; Serenade, Rameau; Chaconne, and the Spanish Dance of Sarasate.

Miss Michael was to have played the "Hungarian" No. 12, Liszt, but an accident to her hand obliged her to omit this number. These two young girls showed astonishing technique, a grasp of musical phraseology of what they played, and a very evident enthusiasm.

YOUNG MAN DIES AT SEA

Norman Brown Biggar Succumbs on Voyage From China.

Norman Brown Biggar, ex-resident of Portland and a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Biggar of Seattle, Wash., died while returning from a trip to the Orient, according to news received here Wednesday.

Biggar, who was 19 years old, left Portland about four months ago. Shortly after leaving here he departed for China. It was on the return voyage, when the steamer was a few days out from Seattle, October 5, that his death occurred.

He formerly attended the Alameda school here. He was a cousin of Mrs. Jesse Stearns of Eugene, Or.

LAND OPENING DEBATED

Plans to Allow Fillings on Tule Lake Tract Considered.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 11.—(Special).—The special board of reclamation for the Klamath project, under the direction of J. Frank Adams, for reclamation work on Klamath marsh and the opening of homestead entry of a second tract of Tule lake lands comprising between 10,000 and 15,000 acres in addition to the tract now being reclaimed, was in session at the United States reclamation service office.

They expect to complete their work by the end of the month, and their findings to Secretary Fall, who will base his decision accordingly.

ENGINEERS SHOWN DUTY

Address Given Before Local Branch by Professor Dunlap.

Professor John H. Dunlap, secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, pointed out the path of duty and civic conservatism that lies before the engineers, in his address before the local branch of American civil engineers at the University club Wednesday night.

Figures show that 45 per cent of American men are morose; that is, men with the intellects of children, he explained. To be able to comprehend, therefore, with profit and safety to the community, the innumerable discoveries of the most devoted, the tiny minority of scientific intellectuals who now control them must be widened.

The American Society of Civil Engineers, Professor Dunlap showed, is doing its part in the widening of national interest and the improvement of co-operation among the engineers of the country. He traced the work of its publications and membership committees, asserting that the 10,491 members now in the society are the most carefully chosen persons of the country.
