NEW YORK ISSUE

One Appeals to Pocketbook;
Other to Heart.

RACE GENUINE THRILLER

Tammany and Hearst in Accord,
Though Democratic Aspirant
Dislikes Publisher.

York delegation to the national convention shall be controlled by Hearst and voted for anybody Hearst names.

The general belief among politicians is that if Hearst has made such a bargain he has been sold a gold brick, for it is common sense to figure that if Smith wins this time it is Smith and not Hearst who will be the national figure in 1924. And Smith not only hates Hearst, but frankly says so on every possible occasion.

"Al" Smith Gets Comfort.

The way the Journal and American have done this by giving Smith and Miller equal amounts of space, presenting their campaign arguments without editorial comment. But listen to this item from "Briabane's Column" of a recent date: "Frank Munsey actually thinks our government is too radical."

Cutting of Costs Issue.

Of course, when the returns are all in a lot of men will claim to have had much to do with the victory. The fact remains, however, that both candidates are practically playing lone hands in the game of politics.

Candidates Are Unlike.

The present campaign is unique in one respect. Neither candidate questions the other's personal integrity. They disagree on figures, that is all. But socially and individually they are as unlike as the financial arguments they present.

WETS INDICATE CHOICE

National Association in Washington Indorses Candidate.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The national wet organization which operates here under the name of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has indorsed George W. Waters, democrat, for congress in the 1st district of Idaho, in which Representative French, republican, is running for re-election.

GAS CO. DOLLS.

Quite a novelty is shown in one of the gas company's windows on Alder street near Fifth. The most beautiful miniature figures, imported from Paris and never before shown in Portland, represent a beautiful blonde lady sitting in her large living room at her "Radiant-fire" and her stylishly attired lady friend just leaving the residence.

Close Fight Apparent.

Miller's office-holding record is also a singularly satisfactory one. He was corporation counsel of Cortland, controller of the state, justice of the supreme court and associate justice of the court of appeals, the highest legal tribunal. He resigned to practice law and is credited with earning in excess of $100,000 a year, which he relinquished for the $10,000 annual stipend the state pays its chief executive.

Candidates in Clash.

Miller says, in legal dignified tones, "My administration has been far better than the administration of Alfred E. Smith," to which "Al" Smith replies, breezily, "You're

MR. LLOYD GEORGE
HAS CHANCE TO WIN

Conservatives Expected to Avoid Break.

LONDON AT FEVER HEAT

Crisis Hangs on Result of Session of Unionists, Set for Thursday.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Whether Premier Lloyd George, whose administration has long outlasted the administrations of all the great statesmen concerned in the Versailles treaty and the making of peace, will fall as a secondary effect of Mustaph Kemal's victory in Anatolia still hangs on the result of Thursday's meeting of the unionist members of congress.

Betting Favors Miller.

Miller, despite the high offices he has held, the universal respect with which he is regarded, has few personal friends and even fewer acquaintances. No one ever stops him on the street to tell him the baby has cut a tooth. Smith can't go anywhere without being greeted as "Al," while thousands of voters are ready to make any kind of sacrifice to aid him, because of his high office and general little man with the ready wit, and the equally ready smile, who is always interested in their joys and their sorrows.

Economy Wins Supporters.

But there are elements in favor of Miller that must not be overlooked. He will poll a large vote of business men, normally democrats, because they approve of his administration, and his subordination of politics to economy. And the upstarters are usually ready to rally around one of their sons, in preference to a kind of Tammany. His indorsement there indications that the Hearst democrats and the Hyland crowd will knife Smith if they see their way clear to do so. There are already a number of elements that must be studied before one can tell which way the wind is going to blow.

Victory Is Expected.

Opinion tonight seems to be veering toward the belief that the reactionaries will at the last moment recoil before the prospect of breaking with Mr. Lloyd George, who clearly still retains the support of Mr. Chamberlain, and that the latter may get a majority at the Thursday meeting. It is understood that should the Carlton meeting vote against Mr. Chamberlain, neither the earl of Balfour nor Mr. Bonar Law would undertake to form a conservative ministry should Mr. Lloyd George resign.

Balfour Lloyd George's Friend.

The earl of Balfour has been so closely associated with Mr. Lloyd George in all phases of the prime minister's administration that he would probably not be inclined to take charge of a new administration almost certain to be short lived.

PIERCE TAX TALK RAPPED

Mr. French has a long and consistent record as a "dry," being known as both personally and politically dry. Mr. Waters' home is at Weiser, Idaho. His name appears among 202 senatorial and congressional candidates, representing both political parties, listed as wet. The statement accompanying the list of indorsements says: "Definite plans to secure the election of these candidates have been completed by the organization."

"Y" OUSTS PROFESSOR

JOHN P. TIERNAN IS HOME WITH WIFE.

DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE SUIT
ROOM WITH ASSOCIATION
AFTER PAYING REIT.

(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 17.—Although not bodily, John P. Tiernan, professor of law at the University of Notre Dame, was "kicked out" of the South Bend Young Men's Christian association here last night.

Professor Tiernan—without a home and deprived of a room at the Young Men's Christian association, where he had expected to live in separation from his wife, who contends that her husband is not the father of her baby boy—that is the son of Harry Poulis, local haberdasher's agent, but who lost her case when Judge Chester Doucette refused to question the legitimacy of the child—was forced to pick up bag and baggage and return to the gloomy domicile that he had left but a few days before.

Record Registration Announced by County.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Twenty-one thousand and thirty-eight voters are registered in Marion county for the general election in November, according to figures announced this afternoon by U. G. Boyer, county clerk. The final figures were in excess of the estimates made by county officials several days ago when registration closed.

OVERLOADING APPEAL LOST

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—J. R. Bemby, who appealed from a conviction in the justice court charging him with overloading, was convicted in the circuit court before Judge Campbell. The time for sentence was not set.

WATER BONDS ATTACKED

SETTING ASIDE OF PARK-ROSE ELECTION ASKED.

SUIT REQUESTS THAT "PRETENDED" COMMISSIONERS BE ENJOINED FROM SELLING ISSUE.

In a suit filed yesterday in circuit court by James W. Rouse, legality of the election which created the Parkrose water district was questioned and it was asked that the "pretended" commissioners be enjoined from issuing bonds or placing any sort of a lien against property of the district. The commissioners are named as defendants in the suit along with the Parkrose water district. The men thus named are Frank Harpke, Tracy A. Wood, Harlan J. Miller, A. M. Pullen and L. W. Palmer.

The complaint sets forth that an expense of about $1400 was incurred prior to the election, which created the water district and alleges that it is illegal to include this charge in any sort of a lien against property of the defendant or other residents of the district. The complaint attacks the state laws under which the district was created and authorized to issue $50,000 in bonds on July 7, 1922, charging that they are unconstitutional. It is asked that acts of the county clerk in connection with the election be declared null and void.
