Judge of Michigan Court Gives Indication He Will Bind Men Over on Terrorist Charge.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Twenty reputed communists caught in a department of justice raid on a convention held in the sand dunes along Lake Michigan, 20 miles south of here, last August, were arraigned today before Judge Davis. Fifty-six others never have been apprehended.

Men to Be Bound Over. The judge indicated that he will bind the 22 over to the circuit court for hearing November 27.

Terrorist Charges Charged. The formal charges laid by Sheriff Bridgman against the prisoners allege that they "by word of mouth and writing" advocated and taught the "necessity and propriety of crime, sabotage, violence and other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial and political reform."

His body was found in a clump of bushes a few miles north of Aurora on the Butteville road.

BACKING OF UNIONS PLEDGED TO LEGION

Annual Convention Under Way in New Orleans.

FIREWORKS ARE LIKELY

Several Vital Issues to Come Up at Meeting Today—Big Parade to Be Held.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive committee in annual convention here today heard Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, pledge anew the faith of union leaders that its support will always be behind the government and upholding the hands of those who fought for the maintenance of American principles.

the convention, and the buddies have taken the town in their own friendly manner and the town seems to have taken to them as kindly as they to it.

Annual Parade Slated. Tomorrow the annual parade of the legion will be held, and if the enthusiasm with which small bevels have been marching up and down the streets whenever someone suggested it was appropriate, it may be assumed that the parade will be a big one.

The women's convention, that of the American Legion auxiliary, got under way in earnest today, after a late start and a brief session yesterday.

A feature of tomorrow's session of the convention will be the address by Kenneth M. Landis, foe of slackers when he served as federal district judge in Chicago during the war.

Mr. Landis, now supreme commissioner of baseball, received an impromptu reception of great enthusiasm last night when he reached New Orleans. Cheering veterans bore the white-haired "partner" on their shoulders through hotel lobbies, shouting his name and asserting, in reply to their own question of "What's the matter with Landis?" the emphatic assurance, "He's all right!"

Other Cities Surprised. Persons who have been closely following the campaigns of various candidates for national commander of the legion declared that the early selection of San Francisco as the convention city had proved a surprise to those who had expected to gain Pacific coast support for their candidates in exchange for votes for San Francisco for the convention.

Hansford MacNider, national commander of the legion, closed today's session with the announcement: "That is all for today; tomorrow at 8 o'clock we convene, and then the fireworks start."

Mr. MacNider smilingly declined to amplify his prediction of "fireworks" or to say whether he expected the injection into the deliberations of the convention of issues which have heretofore made no public appearance during the convention sessions.

No Questions Settled. These questions are understood to include a possible fight on behalf of resolutions calling for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer and light wine; criticism of President Harding's veto of the adjusted soldier compensation measure; attack on the activities of Brigadier-General C. E. Sawyer, President Harding's physician, in connection with the hospitalization programme sought by the legion; and perhaps some statement of the legion's attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan, which, it was intimated, might go so far as to suggest incompatibility of legal status between members of the secret organization.

None of these questions has yet been definitely settled in the committee meetings in progress since the opening of the convention, and those who seek action on them continued to predict that this will be brought to the attention of the convention either through committee action or directly from the floor.

OREGON MEN ARE BUSY

Strong Campaign for Re-election of Ed Elvers Under Way.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The Oregon delegation at New Orleans is running true to form by working night and day.

Committee assignments and delegation caucuses are contributing a large share toward the activities of the convention's standing committees, comprising Lane Goodell, finance committee; William B. Foltz, Americanization; George R. Wilbur, Oregon department commander, resolutions; Glen Dudley, internal organization; Harry Nelson, credentials, permanent organization, rules and time and place of next meeting; Eugene Rockey, rehabilitation; Pat Allen, legislative; Charles W. Erskine, Bend, constitutional amendments; and Roy Knox, military affairs.

Bill Foltz, Americanization committee, has been striving for a strong Americanization programme, with strict exclusion of immigrants and restrictions as to entry and employment of citizens on public works. San Francisco has been unanimously recommended by the time and place committee for the next convention city. The convention will act tomorrow. Pat Allen is chairman of the Forty and Eight. Great pressure is being brought to bear for second term Ed Elvers.

A. R. Dorris, Scappoose, is representing the Oregon national legion rifle meet, and Ward Ulrich, Portland, on wrestling events. Members of the auxiliary are busily engaged in auxiliary work. Caps of overseas type worn by the Oregon delegation have received much favorable comment. The caps are in legion colors with "Oregon" written on them.

Twenty Oregon men are present. Oregon men have met in meetings were with in the war. Business sessions take up the morning and athletic events the afternoons. All week the opening ceremonies, especially for the war dead, were very impressive.

MacDowell Club Favored by Miss Tosca Berger.

Artistic Violin Recital Proves Unusual Musical Treat.

BY C. HILTON-TURVEY. THE second musical session of the MacDowell club took place in the ballroom of the Meltnomah hotel yesterday afternoon. Tosca Berger, violinist, was the soloist, with J. Hutchison at the piano.

The first number, a concerto (Opus 82) by Glazounov, is a work which requires not only unusual technique of the soloist, but also demands a virtuoso pianist for the accompaniment. Her part was immensely difficult from beginning to end, with hardly an interval for breathing space. The first movement, an allegro, was possibly the choice for its rich melodic content. Miss Berger played it with fine vigorous tone and splendid bowing.

The second movement, Andante, suggests the etude. It seems almost overweighed by florid passages. It contains a long cadenza for the violin, which rings in the ears probably every difficulty known in the literature of this temperamental instrument. The third and final movement, an allegro, is charming. One bit, a melody like a barcarolle, sang above a piano pedale with delightful effect. The whole work, which never before has been played in Portland, is markedly characteristic of the virile Russian school and most interesting in both its instruments.

The romance of Bruch initiated the second group. The opening minor theme was smooth, suave and in fine contrast with the preceding composition. "Wine and Song" was the "antelle" (Op. 16), a well-known "show piece" for technical effect, bristling with difficulties, ended this group.

The rondo capriccioso (Op. 28), Saint-Saens, finished the programme with its encore, "Abendlied" (Op. 10), a melody like a barcarolle. Mr. Hutchison's art was delightfully evident throughout and implied symphonic harmonic values rather than those of a single instrument, both in manner and tonal quality.

The New PEERLESS

The Sensation of Portland! Already Unhesitatingly Purchased by the City's Most Discriminating Buyers!

The Peerless "Eight" has always been an unusually fine car—today it is a car perfected almost beyond belief.

A little over a year ago R. H. Collins, president, and many of the executive staff of the Cadillac Motor Car Co. moved over to Peerless.

They took with them an exceptional equipment of knowledge and experience—and an ambition to make the finest eight-cylinder car ever created.

And they succeeded.

The result is the new Peerless "Eight"—the car that in three days has become the most-talked-of automobile in Portland.

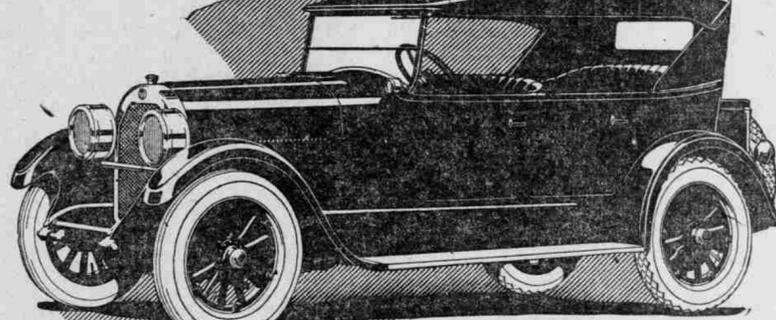

Since our initial announcement hundreds of people have visited our showrooms and marveled at the beauty of the models displayed.

There is a maroon-colored sedan that offers the utmost of luxurious furnishing—a gray four-passenger phaeton trimmed with pale blue—and a dark blue seven-passenger touring car that portrays the utmost of strength, power and speed.

The special display of these models will be continued up to and including next Sunday. We invite you to come and see them and are confident that you will share our enthusiasm.
