STATUS OF MURDER TRIALS
FACED BY WOMEN.
Mrs. Ivy Giberson gets life term for murder of husband at Toms River, N. J. Trial of Mrs. Catherine Rosier, charged with killing husband and stenographer, begins at Philadelphia. Eleven witnesses testify in case of woman accused of killing her twins at Hammond, Ind.

(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.)
TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Ivy Giberson of Lakehurst tonight was found guilty of the charge of murdering her husband, William F. Giberson, 38 years old, garage owner, in his sleep on August 14 last. She was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

The jury brought in a verdict of first degree murder at 7:40 P. M., after four and one-half hours' deliberation. Only two ballots were taken. A unanimous vote for conviction was cast on the first ballot but one juror voted to send her to the electric chair instead of the life imprisonment.

Woman's Nerves Do Not Fail.
Mrs. Giberson's "nerves of steel" did not fail her in the end. She received the verdict without a tremor, her face expressionless. Facing Judge Kallach in the lighted courtroom as she sentenced her, she stood as erect as a defeated general and appeared as stoical. In pronouncing sentence Judge Kallach said: "I shall add nothing to make you feel more the punishment that is to be inflicted upon you. The sentence of the law is that you are to be confined in prison for the time of your natural life at hard labor."

A small crowd remained to hear the verdict. Public sentiment favored the conviction and those who sat through the trial were convinced the jury would convict. Joe Richmond, son of the defendant, and Peter Giberson, father of the murdered man, were present when sentence was pronounced. The defense attorneys, William H. Jeffrey, will appeal the case on a writ of error, he announced. The case will go to the court of errors and appeals.

Innocence Is Maintained.
In a statement Prosecutor Jayne said: "I prosecuted with a consciousness of the woman's guilt." The weakness of the case presented by the defense, the improbability of Mrs. Giberson's story that burglars did the killing and failure to put Joe Richmond on the stand were considered the strongest factors in the conviction, which was entirely upon circumstantial evidence.

Sitting on the side of her prison cot, Mrs. Giberson received reporters, after her return to jail. She smiled and chatted in the manner of a hostess entertaining guests. "I am sorry," she said, "but I am not downcast. I am just as innocent as I was the day the trial began." The prosecutor stated that the woman had taken $2300 from her husband and discovery of the fact was impending when he was killed.

MRS. ROSIER'S TRIAL ON Woman Accused First of Killing Husband's Stenographer.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Catherine Rosier, who on January 21 shot and killed her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his stenographer, Miss Mildred "Jerry" Reckitt, in Rosier's advertising agency, came to trial today. Marjorie J. Spenser, assistant district attorney in charge of the commonwealth's case, elected to try the defendant on an indictment charging her with the murder of Miss Reckitt alone, a procedure strongly opposed by counsel for the defense, who urged that she be tried simultaneously on this and the indictment charging murder of Rosier. Judge Barratta ruled in favor of the prosecution.

Among those called as witnesses was Mrs. C. Mathewson, mother of Christy Mathewson, famous baseball pitcher. She is a grand aunt of the defendant.

MURDER OF TWINS DENIED
Eleven Witnesses Are Heard,
Some of Whom Tell of Hoax.
(By Chicago Tribune Leased Wire.)
HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 18.—Eleven witnesses were produced by the state to testify today against Mrs. Hazel McNally, charged with the murder of twins which she says never were born to her. The witnesses, if they accomplished nothing else, convinced the spectators in the courtroom that, whether guilty or innocent, Mrs. McNally perpetrated one of the most cleverly conceived and executed maternity hoaxes of court record.

The recital of how, with two doll heads attached to baby clothes stuffed with straw, Mrs. McNally fooled her husband, her neighbors and even the woman who nursed her following the twins' arrival, provoked outbursts of laughter from the spectators.

PEARL BAHMER AND HER GUARD.
This shows Pearl Bahmer as she appears in her cell in the Somerset county jail, Somerville, N. Y. This 15-year-old girl, accused of incorrigibility, her arrest resulting indirectly from Raymond Schneider's "confession," wishes that the whole affair was cleared up, she says. Nicholas Bahmer, father of Pearl, arrested on her charges, still remains in jail, but it is said that he has been eliminated as a murder-case factor.

COMING FROM SHED.
No Assistance Is Given to Victim Because of Fear for Own Safety, Say Witnesses.

Word was received from Boundbrook of the continued optimism of the prosecutors, which revived suddenly at the height of preparations to turn the entire matter over to the state authorities on Sunday, when promises of "definite action" were made to Governor Edwards. The governor is expected in New Brunswick tomorrow, but whether directly in connection with the Hall-Mills murder could not be learned.

According to the prosecutors, their optimism is based on valuable evidence, the nature of which cannot be learned through the pall of mystery and secretiveness which they successfully have drawn about them.

A second series of the letters said to have been written by Mrs. Mills to Rev. Mr. Hall was made public today by the authorities.

Love Notes Are Revealed.
Unaddressed and unsigned, the letters are filled with terms of endearment. In them the minister is often referred to as "sweet, adorable babykins." They speak of a "love nest" of a woman's dreams not to be learned through the pall of mystery and secretiveness which they successfully have drawn about them.

Jealousy of Work Confessed.
"I know I'm a crazy cat," Charlotte talks to me. "Don't ask questions, then, annoy, so how can I write?" "Darling mine, didn't you feel me putting around you, wasn't I contented? And close to you, too." "My sweetheart, true heart, I could crush you. Oh, I am wild tonight."

Not so, however, when you're wearing the flexible arch-supporting Cantilever Shoe. Better than wearing rigid supports in your shoes—and gives your feet a chance to strengthen through exercise. Fine for men who have foot trouble, and great for men who haven't any.

WILSON AND 2 PALS CAPTURED BY POSSE

Three Are Taken Without Giving Battle.

OLD PLANS GIVE CLEW

Sheriff's Men Find Fugitives Where They Planned to Hide After Break in April.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 18.—The three jail breakers, Herbert Wilson, mail robber and convicted murderer, Adam Blaszyk, convicted murderer, and Guido Spignola, convicted robber, were recaptured here today after 24 hours of liberty. They were taken without a struggle in the home of an ex-convict.

The fugitives were taken in a house not far from where the automobile which they had stolen was abandoned. Information of their presence there was obtained early today by a deputy sheriff, and Sheriff Traeger and a posse of deputies surrounded the residence and effected the capture with the same suddenness that the trio had surprised the jailers in their liberty break yesterday morning.

Old Plans Effect Capture.
The plans resulted from the use of the capture which the sheriff had formulated for concealment after the attempted break last April, which was frustrated by sheriff's deputies and in which Herbert Cox, partner of Wilson, was killed. Wilson was convicted of murder as a result. The trio was captured in the place where they had planned to hide last April. Sheriff Traeger learned in April that the trio planned to use the home of Tom Garwood, registered in police records and known as a pal of Wilson. Immediately after the escape yesterday morning the sheriff planned the Garwood home under surveillance. The reward came early today when watchers saw three men slink into the house. The sheriff was notified and a heavy posse rushed there, surrounding the place.

Same Sangfroid Present.
The same mysterious sangfroid of the ex-evangelist as exhibited since he was known to the authorities was present in Wilson's greeting to the captors. There was no confusion and Wilson and his fellow fugitives peacefully surrendered when they saw the large number in the cordon around the house. Wilson's first question was concerning the condition of Turnkey Purrier, whom he rendered unconscious in the break yesterday morning. He smiled and expressed satisfaction when informed Purrier was not seriously hurt.

Wilson talked freely of movements of the trio after escape from the jail yesterday morning, how they hid in a chicken coop all day with two men who were arrested. He said they seized immediately after the escape and then left the two men and went to Garwood's home. They went to bed at 9 o'clock and all lights were unscrupled from sockets so that in event of officers entering the place at night they should have to work in the dark with flashlights.

Crude Stills Seized.
ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Two of the crudest stills ever arrested again failed of materialization, included:

(A). Expert testimony that the couple were slain on the spot where the bodies were found.
(B). Prosecutors obtain affidavits from two men seemingly established in the scene of the slaying as a shed in a lonely section two miles outside of New Brunswick, from which the bodies were transported in a swiftly moving automobile to the spot where they were found.
(C). Publication of three additional letters written by Mrs. Mills to Dr. Hall.

That the murder took place several miles from the Phillips farm is contradicted by the report of chemists of the E. I. du Pont laboratories of New Brunswick, on an analysis of earth, stones and grass, taken from the spot where the bodies lay when discovered. This report was made today to Prosecutor Beekman.

Mrs. Mills' throat was cut after the heart action stopped, the examination of the heart established the opinion of the chemists that the slaying occurred where the bodies were found was based on tests of 162 pounds of stones, soil, grass and roots, which were conducted by Horace B. Holaday, analytical chemist. The amount of blood found, the laboratory states, "is very good evidence that Mrs. Mills was killed before her throat was cut. Nor is it likely that we would have found a pint of blood if the bodies had been transported to the spot after the murder."

If Mrs. Mills' throat had been cut before her death, in the opinion of the chemist, there would have been a loss of six and one-tenth pints of blood.

found in Clatsop county were seized by Sheriff Slusher yesterday in the marsh land near Westport. The stills were made of tin, which was covered with rust, had no coils and, as the officers stated, could distill nothing but the rankest of poison. While the plants showed signs of having been operated recently, no one was about them and no arrests were made, although there probably will be as the names of the owners are known.

Missing Girls Are Sought.
