HERE OCT. 28 AND 27

Oregon State Association to Hold Convention.

LONG PROGRAMME READY

Health Exposition to Open Up
Simultaneously at Municipal Auditorium.

The annual convention of the Oregon State Medical Association will be held in Portland October 28 and 27, the meeting having been postponed from June, the month in which such gatherings have been called together in previous years.

Headquarters of the association will be at the Portland hotel and medical sessions will be held there. Discussion of papers will be open to all members and guests of the society.

On the same date that the convention opens the first annual health exposition to be staged in Portland will start at the auditorium. The exposition is to be conducted under auspices of the state board of health and the city health bureau and will last until November 4.

Federal Help Promised.
These bodies will be assisted in putting on the health exhibit by the National Health Exposition association, the United States Public Health Service and other national, state and local organizations, departments and institutions.

Such expositions have been held in various parts of the country, the purpose being to present to the public those things which promote the health, comfort and happiness of the people. The progress of preventive medicine, general methods of hygiene, surgery, nursing, pharmacy, dentistry, sanitation, safety, the care of the sick and social service will be presented in the most comprehensive manner possible.

For its slogan the exposition has adopted, "Live a little longer," a shibboleth that is expected to appeal to well-to-do alike, and insure large attendance.

SPARE ROOM RENTED
PAYS FOR CLOTHES
"Oh, Tom, I have such good news for you. I rented the spare bedroom this morning to the nicest young lady. She's a school teacher from Iowa and she's a fine girl, really."
"Well, that's great, dear. But don't work too hard keeping it up. Make her keep her things up. The new house keeps you pretty busy as it is, without any worrying about young lady roomers."
"I'd never think of worrying, and it will be pleasant having her around. She seems like a quiet, lady-like girl and she won't be demanding all kinds of impossible privileges, I am sure."
"That's fine, if you don't work too hard. I want you to use all the extra money on yourself, dear. You've gone without clothes and other things while we were getting the house. Now we have it and I can manage the other payments easily. You begin buying new clothes now to match the new house."
"Tom, you're an angel. I do need new clothes from the skin out. I know just what I'll do, too. I'll buy them at Cherry's and make arrangements for monthly payments. That way I can buy what I need most right now and pay for them gradually as I get my extra money."
"Good idea, Cherry's is a fine place, I know. So many of the best dressed men have told me they bought there. 319 Morrison St., second floor, take elevator."—Adv.
