balance the French budget. In taking this attitude they are endangering the republics of both countries and all hopes of a European economic equilibrium; for Germany, squeezed to the last drop, with its industrial classes starving, the mark depreciated 95.6 per cent, is not only unable to pay reparations without a moratorium but, if pressed further, will in all probability relapse into a monarchy under a ruthless military regime, with possibly such a man as Ludendorff at the head. France itself is on the verge of bankruptcy and bolshevism, and can be saved only by the balancing of its budget by taxation. The money is available; it is in the fields."

VETERAN RELIEF LIMITED LAW RESTRICTS COUNTY IN AID, HEARING REVEALS. Certain Changes in Legislation to Bring It Up to Date to Be Suggested Next Session.

The budget item for relief of indigent soldiers, passed by the county commissioners calls for $32,000 for 1923, but this amount is only half that sought by the various veterans organizations. It was brought out yesterday at the hearing held by the tax supervision and conservation commission. The Grand Army of the Republic alone had petitioned the commissioners for $31,920. It was shown, and the various other bodies for an aggregate of $21,500. This relief problem was further complicated by the fact, explained by Chairman Mulkey of the tax commission, that the county is limited by law to an appropriation of $22,000 for such purpose.

WOOL BLANKETS ON SALE. If you want to see a busy store just visit the third floor of the Henry, prominent Portland consulting engineer, speaking to the City club at the Hotel Benson yesterday.

He recently returned from a tour of Europe conducted specifically for the purpose of probing the economic puzzles over there. It is his belief that the French agriculturists, having fully recovered from the ravages of the war, are not only prosperous, but in many cases hoarding money, and being in control of the French parliament, refuse to allow agricultural taxes of any sufficient sort to be levied on them in order to balance the enormous French deficit, thus heading France toward bankruptcy and industrial communism.

Public Schools Forever. A Principle laid down in Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1647. Public education, supported and supervised by the state, was the original American educational programme. It was inaugurated in 1647, when the Massachusetts Bay Colony ordained that every town of fifty householders should provide a public school for the use of ALL the people. This law providing for universal compulsory education was made national in 1787, when government recorded itself to the effect that public schools and the means of education shall be forever encouraged.

Thus our forefathers foresaw, with that rare wisdom which marked their deliberations generally, that education of American youth in the public schools was a necessary means to the end of moulding an enlightened citizenry and through it perpetuating the growth and development of American institutions. What our forefathers saw; what was true then, is equally true today. By educating all our children in the public schools, so that they may become imbued with common ideas and ideals as to the things which make for patriotism and fealty to our institutions; by teaching them in English only and by teaching them history from the standpoint of an all-American patriotism and not that of the glorification of any one class or creed above another—by doing these things we shall build up a unified America and weld a united people.

Let us here in Oregon do our part now. Vote 314 X Yes.

VOTE 314 X YES. A VOTE FOR A UNIFIED AMERICA.
