

HOUSE CANDIDATES MUST LIST EXPENSE

Law Confusing Regarding Senatorial Aspirants.

FILINGS NOW BEING MADE

Senator France of Maryland, Reports Primary Expenditures Totaled $30,795.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—While less than one-half of the candidates for the senate have filed campaign expense statements, according to the count made today by clerks, candidates for the house are still sending their reports at the rate of almost 200 a day. In the midst of the confusion as to provisions of the law, the one fact that stands out clearly is that house candidates must file, now and after the election.

The view was expressed by some senate officials that many candidates for that branch might accept the interpretation of the supreme court decision in the Newberry case by Attorney-General Daugherty that they were not required to file. In a letter last year to Representative Luce, republican, Massachusetts, the attorney-general, answering a specific inquiry as to the effect of the Newberry decision, said:

"As United States senators are not now elected by legislatures of the states as contemplated in the act, it is my opinion that this fact, in connection with the holding in the Newberry decision, makes it unnecessary for a candidate for United States senator to file any statement whatever in connection with his nomination or election."

HOUSE CANDIDATES AFFECTED

Mr. Daugherty contended that the only provision of the election law now in force and effect is the one which requires such statement to be filed in connection with the election of candidates for the house.

Most of the reports on file brought up to date, many relating to primary expenses, Senator France, republican, Maryland, reported that in his primary fight his expenditures were $30,795, with contributions of $31,000. Royal W. France, his brother, headed the list of contributors with $15,000.

Senator Townsend, republican, Michigan, reported that his election expenses were $700. After the primary Senator Townsend filed a report showing the expenditure of $30,729 for his nomination fight by "the Townsend-for-Senator club."

Senator Ashhurst, democrat, Arizona, received a contribution of $100 from the brotherhood of railway firemen. He spent $17.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts spent $375, all of which went to republican clubs in his state, while William A. Gaston, his democratic opponent, spent $1215 in the primary and $4133 in the general election fight.

OTHER REPORTS LISTED

Some of the other reports show: Lynn J. Frazier, North Dakota (primary), $349; Senator King, Utah, on September 19, contributions $1679, expenditures same; Senator Hildecock, Nebraska, $5412; Carl W. Riddick, republican, Montana, $310; Earle E. Mayfield, Texas, $154.

Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, received $4818 and spent $5974, while Senator Kendrick reported the expenditure of $1415 in Wyoming.

A final accounting by candidates after the election will give the total amount of their expenditures, all statements now on file not having been brought up to date. The list with the senate clerk also includes a number of candidates who were defeated in the primaries in various states. Some states require a filing separately from those sent here.

ELECTION RUMOR SPIKED

Vancouver Candidate for Mayor Makes Denial in Circular.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. 1.—(Special)—Rumors that N. E. Allen, candidate for mayor of Vancouver, would allow the municipal dock to be controlled by private interests, that he would be in Vancouver only one or two days each week of his administration and that he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, were denied in circulars distributed about the city by Mr. Allen.

All three statements are absolutely false, Mr. Allen declared. He said he was not affiliated in any way with the Klan and that he had never attended any meetings of the organization.

Mites to Be Slain

The princess' gown is described as being of mauve chiffon and satin, lavishly decorated with rhinestones and steel beads. Mauve was chosen by the ex-kaiser because this color was always worn by the late Empress Augusta at court functions. It is recalled here that the wedding text selected by William was also used when he married Augusta. The text is: "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

It is remarked that Sunday's rites will, in their severe simplicity, be in direct contrast to William's first wedding, which was attended with unparalleled pomp.

ITALIAN ENVOY RESIGNS

(Continued From First Page.) gathered in Rome and who took part in yesterday's celebration were out of the city by this morning. All night trains carried the legions to their homes throughout Italy.

At all the railway stations in the chief cities the fascist were met by the heads of the local fascisti, who had been previously instructed by the fascist supreme command to instruct all to go peacefully to their homes and avoid disorder.

The excitement and enthusiasm marking the rise of the fascist to power and the inauguration of the Mussolini government gave place today to earnest work by Premier Mussolini and his advisers in beginning the task of re-establishing peace and order throughout Italy.

Leaders Called Together

Premier Mussolini worked virtually the entire night giving instructions to this end and called together in his office today the leaders of the fascisti, together with

BULL RUN ACCIDENT IS FATAL TO TWO

Portland Railway Plant Has Violent Explosion.

FOREMAN HURT SLIGHTLY

Ennis S. Townsend Killed and Fred McKee Burned Fatally in Power Wreck.

One man was killed outright, a second was burned fatally, another was injured seriously and the entire electric system feeding the Portland area was jarred out of operation as the result of an explosion in the Bull Run power plant of the Portland Railway Light & Power company about 1:30 A. M. yesterday.

Ennis S. Townsend, 32, married, was killed. His body was taken in charge by the Clackamas county coroner.

Fred McKee, 24, married, died last night at St. Vincent's hospital from burns which covered his body.

V. D. Butler, foreman of the plant, suffered bruises about the lower parts of the body. He was cared for at Bull Run.

Townsend was killed outright by explosion of a compensator, a starting device attached to the motor generator. The explosion occurred when it was thrown into service after Townsend and McKee had worked over it throughout the morning to put it into condition.

In the flames and fumes which filled the room McKee was overcome. Clothes were burned from the bodies of both the men as they lay on the floor, Townsend dead, McKee unconscious.

Rescue Accomplished. Butler, the plant foreman, aroused by the terrific explosion, rushed downstairs into the flaming and gas-filled compartment in the hope of pulling the two men to safety. McKee he first carried out. Then, with the assistance of workmen, he took out Townsend's charred body. The plant was not cleared of smoke for some hours.

Generators in the entire plant, together with the Estacada, the Oregon City and the Portland plants, were "kicked out" by the uneven load that resulted. By 4:30 P. M. unimpaired service had been resumed on all power and light lines.

Townsend and McKee went to work early yesterday morning on the compensator, which was reported out of order several days ago, with the result that generators feeding the interurban railway systems of the company were "kicked out" at 11:30 and the switch was thrown in from upstairs to test it.

Townsend and his partner remained below to watch the results of the morning's work. The explosion occurred while both were near the compensator.

Dra. H. H. Hughes and George Ingalls were called from Gresham to attend the injured men, and B. F. Boynton, claim agent, and company doctors were called from Portland. Butler's condition was not considered serious enough to warrant bringing him to Portland. McKee was rushed to St. Vincent's hospital in an ambulance.

Damage to the plant was thought to be only nominal. The compensator was valued at about $10,000 and probably will have to be replaced.

Townsend is survived by his wife and a brother, Lester Townsend, foreman of the company's plant at Estacada. McKee leaves a widow and a small child.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 1.—Four South Carolina cotton manufacturers pleaded guilty today in United States district court here to a charge of evading the federal income tax law and were sentenced to pay fines or serve jail sentences.

H. H. Watkins, Campbell Couter and St. John Couter of Columbia were ordered to pay fines of $10,000 each or serve eight months in the county jail, while Ashmead Couter and Henry Rutledge Burt, Charleston, were sentenced to pay fines of $3000 each or serve three months in jail.

Landslide Blocks Highway

HOOD RIVER, Or., Nov. 1.—(Special)—The elements played a Halloween prank last night, causing a huge landslide on the Columbia river highway just west of Cascade Locks. While crews were rushed to the scene and were able in a short time to clear a way for traffic, J. R. Nickelson, supervisor of maintenance on the highway, says it will require nearly two weeks to remove the mass of rock and debris.

VOTE TO TEST WOMEN

FEMININE DEMOCRAT ISSUES STATEMENT.

WOMAN'S FATE IN DOUBT

Mrs. Champion, Accused of Murder, Awakes Jury's Verdict.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—Indications early tonight were that Mrs. Mabel Champion, 23, charged with the first degree murder of Thomas A. O'Connell, carnival promoter of New Haven, Conn., would not know her fate tonight.

The case went to the jury late today and after deliberating about two hours the jurors were taken to dinner, after which they resumed their deliberations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—Next week's election will stand as a "test" of the women voters, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice-chairman of the democratic national committee, declared in a statement tonight in which she said that the women have now had time to chart a course and select party alignments. She explained that when they received the franchise it was immediately ahead of an election in which they had had no voice in the picking of candidates.

MECHANICAL DEVICE DOES AWAY WITH HELMSMAN

Cuban Pilot Becomes Frightened and Warns Officers That Big Vessel Is in Danger.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A mechanical steering device supplanted the hand of the quartermaster of the Munson liner Munargo on her last voyage from eastern Cuban ports to New York, Captain Andrew Ashburn of the Munargo declared today.

The vessel, which docked here yesterday, was the first American passenger ship to make an ocean voyage without a helmsman, company officials said.

The device, Captain Ashburn said, was worked on the gyroscope principle and had been invented by Elmer A. Sperry, inventor of the gyroscopic. It insured a mechanically perfect course and gave warning of any forced deviation by ringing a bell.

Storm Damage Heavy

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Reports of the recent storm which swept both coasts of Mexico show that millions of dollars worth of damage was done along the coast of Yucatan.
