

MARKET SOLUTION SOUGHT BY EXPERTS

Problem Declared Fundamental to Oregon Welfare.

LARGER EXPORTS AHEAD

Six Commodity Co-operative Associations in State Now Number 8000 Members.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 1 (Special).—Solution of the marketing problem is fundamental to the welfare of Oregon, says the resolution unanimously adopted by representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state college extension service at the annual conference at Corvallis. That Oregon is now an exporting state and with development will become more and more so, was cited as the reason.

Closest possible co-operation with existing co-operative marketing associations—Oregon co-operative council, farm bureau, grange, farmers' union and chambers of commerce, as well as all other associations seeking to put farm products on the market in a most efficient manner, was recommended in the report.

8000 in Associations. The marketing problems of Oregon consist of producing marketable products and developing an orderly, efficient, distribution system which involves improved methods of assembling, grading, packing, financing and transportation, as well as merchandising. This implies organization and efficient management of marketing associations to establish machinery for these requirements.

They have shown themselves to be sales organizations capable of handling large volumes of business and in 1921 sold for their members farm products to the value of $7,244,293," says the report. "In the transaction of this business they developed new markets in eastern districts and for grain in England and the orient, and have established grades and fixed brands and trademarks."

Contracts Are Basis. "These six associations concerned with fruit, eggs, wool, wheat, hay and milk are working under the terms of a contract between growers and the representative associations. This contract requires the grower to deliver his product to the association of which he is a member, to insure a guaranteed volume of production, that sales may be made on a business-like basis and the overhead kept down."

Like all new enterprises of this nature the commodity associations experimenting with marketing were met with difficulties. It was asserted by the committee-obtaining experienced officers and managers, and the lack of familiarity on the part of the public with the advantages which may accrue to farmers, distributors, consumers, and the public at large, by a more efficient distribution of farm products.

Marketing Work Reviewed. The conference reviewed the work already accomplished in relation to marketing. It was found that the foundation for the Poultry Producers' association was laid by the co-operative efforts of the extension service and the United States department of agriculture, as was the foundation of the Pacific Co-operative Wool and Mohair association. Members of the extension service have been appointed to represent the public on the boards of directors of several co-operative associations. Assistance was rendered in drafting the plans, constitutions and contracts of four of the statewide commodity associations. A study of the co-operative marketing movement in California was made by a representative of the extension service and reports were submitted before several farm organizations. The entire farmers' week programme in 1921 was given over to a marketing conference. In the most invariably been active in their support of these broader marketing methods.

The extension service was instrumental in drafting the present co-operative law and has prepared every amendment since its adoption.

yesterday. The complaint states that Dr. Stone, a man weighing about 250 pounds, "tied plaintiff with a rope and while she was thus tied took a whip and whipped her across the back." The blows of the whip are said to have cut and lacerated the flesh badly and to have rendered Mrs. Stone incapable of work for some weeks.

When she freed herself with her teeth and called the officers to defend her, alleges Mrs. Stone, the husband sent her away. She came to Portland and has since been obliged to support herself. She asks for $2000 alimony and the disavowal of the home and other articles she says have been withheld from her. The Stones were married at Condon, Or., March 7, 1921.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. It was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing."—Mrs. J. M. SIBBERT, 4022 High St., Everett, Washington.

Do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and "no good" feelings disappear.
