Growing Commerce of Port With All Sections of World Is Indicated by Movements.

Early risers along the waterfront were treated to an unusual sight yesterday morning about 7 o'clock attraction at the Majestic theater. Pacific liners, were in motion at once in the lower harbor in the vicinity of terminal No. 1. Aside if from being a pretty sight, the inci-dent was significant of the growing a commerce of the port with all sec-tions of the world. The Columbia Pacific Shipping company's steamer West O'Rowa, just arrived from the orient with general cargo, started the proces-sion by coming upstream and slipsion by coming upstream and sup-ping into a berth at terminal No. L. As the new arrival docked the steamer Nebraskan of the same line's intercoastal service, which, since its arrival Saturday, had been discharging New York freight, backed out downstream and then started up for the Inman-Poulsen

The Nebraskan had no more than fot into the stream when the Amer-ican, also of the intercoastal service of the Columbia Pacific Shipping company, which had been standing by offshore, slipped into the place left vacant by the Nebraskan. The American arrived yesterday morning at 5 o'clock from New York and ay ports with general cargo. While these vessels were maneu-ring the steamer Deerfield of the Elder & Dempster line's intercoastal service passed by, en route to the Willamette Iron & Steel works to discharge several hundred tons of Steel, after discharging a portion of her cargo from Atlantic points at terminal No. 2. Immédiately be-hind the Decriteid came the motor-ship Challamba of the Ocean Motorship company's service en route to the St. Johns Lumber company to complete a cargo of lumber for Honolulu after taking on some lumbe at Riverview cemetery.
