JUDGE HAS HARD JOB

Ladd & Tilton $1000 Stake for Fine Harness Beasts and Five-Gaited Class Prominent.

PROGRAMME FOR PREMIER NIGHT OF PORTLAND'S HORSE SHOW. 7:45 P. M.—Heavy draft horse teams. 7:55 P. M.—Novice hunters. 8:10 P. M.—Ladd & Tilton $1000 stake for fine harness horses. 8:35 P. M.—Gentlemen's three-gaited saddle horses, 15.2 hands and over. 8:55 P. M.—High stoppers, single. 9:10 P. M.—Gentlemen's five-gaited saddle horses. 9:35 P. M.—Handy hunter jumping class. 10:10 P. M.—Hunt club drill by 24 local riders.

Eight different features make up the programme for the first performance of Portland's annual horse show, to open tonight in the arena at the livestock exposition building. From the angle of fine horses the two classes which vie for interest are the Ladd & Tilton $1000 stake for fine harness horses and the class for gentlemen's five-gaited horses. But from the standpoint of the spectacular the two jumping classes and the red-coat drill by Portland Hunt club riders are paramount. The judge, Sam Haines of Columbus, O., will have his work cut out in judging the large classes and his will be no easy job. There will be 14 entries in the five-gaited class, and of this number at least six are famous ribbon winners with long show records. Heading the list is Romping Feavine, recently purchased from Roy L. Davis by F. A. Douty of Portland.

Toss-Up is Indicated. Talk among horsemen indicates about a toss-up between three of the horses for first place and the coveted blue. These are Romping Feavine, Miracle Man, owned by E. A. Stuart, and Lou Ann, a horse from the Louisa Long Comb stable, now belonging to Mrs. William P. Roth of San Francisco. These horses will be shown by Roy Davis, James Buford and Leslie Hayden, respectively, three of the best riders in the country. The other horses are Kinaston, owned by Revel Lindsay English; Major Highland, Romie C. Jacks; Miracle Lady, E. A. Stuart; Hildare, Mrs. Wayne W. Keyes; Etta B. Dare, Romie C. Jacks; Mountain Missie, Miss Roberta Douty; Chester K., Lady Potlach and Plummer.

A number of these same horses will appear in the competition for $1000 for fine harness horses, with Miracle Man, Miracle Lady and Lou Ann playing favorites. Other entries are James McCleave's Mabel Reade, Mrs. W. P. Roth's Mission Girl, Miss Estelle Milden's Chester K., Mountain Missie, Hildare and George E. Plummer's Bohemian Art. 25 to Be Put Over Hurdles. In the novice hunter division there are 29 jumpers to be put over the hurdles and four of these which stand good chances of winning ribbons are Portland horses—Nat McDougall's Johnnie Dundee, Walter Swain's Buster, Mrs. Stanley C. E. Smith's Jack Flicks and Mrs. J. H. Held's Kentucky Bob.

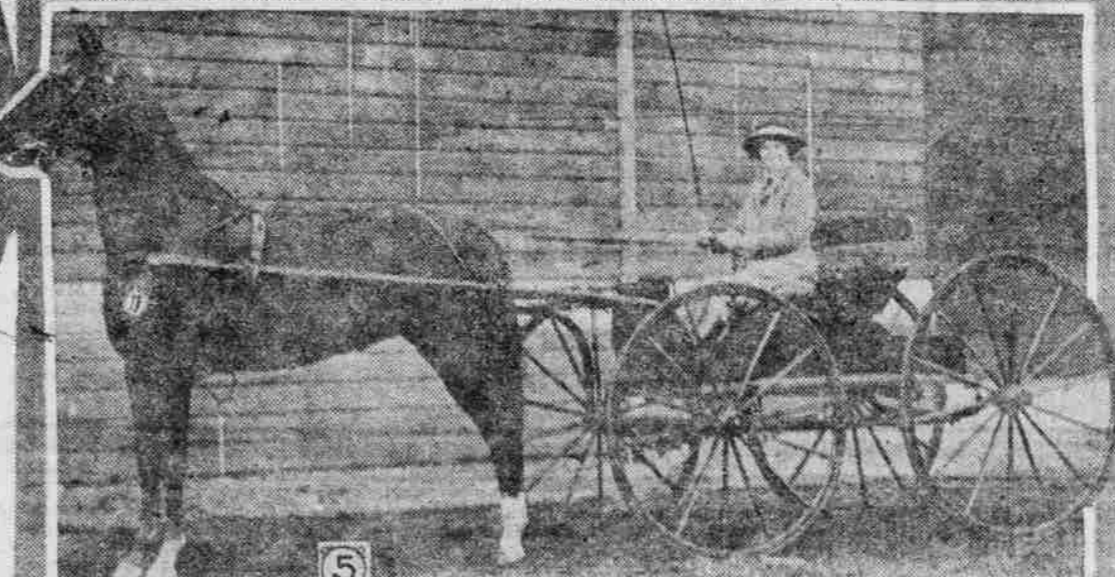

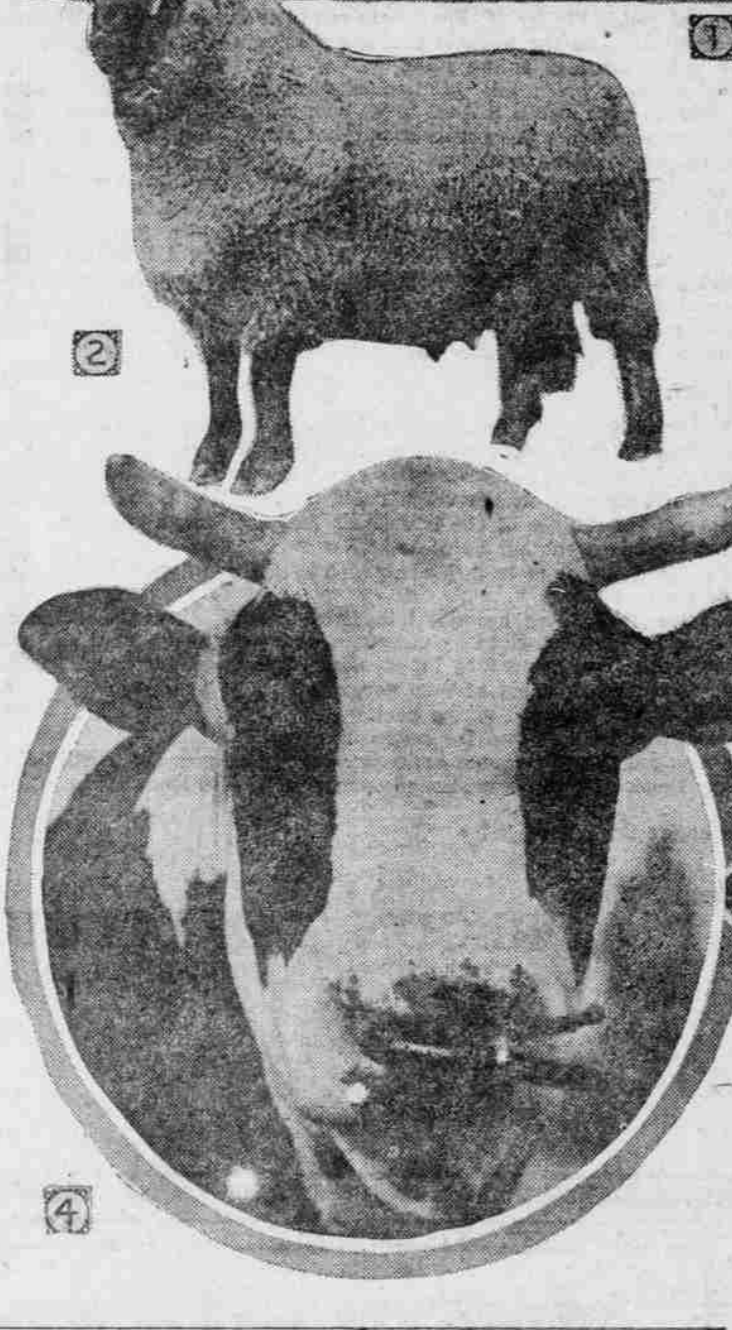

The handy hunter class will be one of the largest jumping exhibitions in point of numbers ever seen at a Portland show. There are 42 horses entered and they will be put over the difficult course of six jumps one at a time. The two hunters from the English stable, Bounder and the Persian, and several of the entries of James McCleave, together with the three entries of Oswald West and Miss Helen West, are those which are considered likely winners, although the class is judged more on performance than on conformation and any horse which jumps well is sure of a chance among the ribbons.

Two more Portland horses have excellent chances in the class for gentlemen's three-gaited saddle horses over 15.2 hands high. These are Nat McDougall's Sterling Duke, one time a champion at the Portland show, and Miss Margaret Ellen Douty's Sunbright, a horse imported from the east this summer. The competition here, however, will be very keen, for Mrs. Winslow Anderson's Highland's Gloria, an animal that under the name of Santa Monica swept the three-gaited classes last year, is also entered, and others to reckon with are Stuart's Glistening Glory and Shipley McKee, and Mrs. Keyes' Golden Lass.

17 High Stoppers Entered. It has been nearly ten years since 17 high-stepping carriage horses have been seen together in a show ring anywhere on the Pacific coast, but that many are entered in the class for high stoppers tonight, and included in the number are two which have won ribbons in Madison Square Garden. This is the new pair of hackneys from the Louisa Long Comb stable purchased by Mrs. Winslow Anderson, Frivolity and Vanity Fair. Mrs. W. P. Roth has three entries, also from the Comb stable, Army Lad, Little Briton and Glenalvon Turch, while the four hackneys owned by Mrs. G. K. Vanderhoef of Cornwall on the Hudson are ribbon winners of dozens of shows. The horse show will begin promptly at 7:45 with the exhibition of heavy draft-horse teams. It will end about 10:45 with the four-horse red-coat drill by riders of the Portland Hunt club.

LIVESTOCK SHOW HELD BEST

Head of Pacific International Says Portland Leads World. Belief that the Pacific International Livestock exposition is the greatest stock show in the world was expressed yesterday by E. A. Stewart, owner of the Carnation stock farms and head of the Pacific International organization. According to Mr. Stewart, this year's show outranks the greatest dairy show held at Minneapolis and St. Paul, as there are 150 more animals entered at the local exposition than at the eastern show. The highest score in the contest was made by a Boise youth, Ted Warren, who scored 943 out of a possible 1000. The following cities sent teams to the contest: Boise, Idaho; Ontario, Calif.; Ontario, Minn.; Redmond, Medford, Lebanon, Corvallis, Dufur, Prineville, Forest Grove, Gresham, Knappa, Woodburn, Newberg, Independence, Ellensburg, Edenville and Elma, Or.; Washington and Moscow, Idaho.

MEMORIAL IS UNVEILED

F. S. STIMSON SERVICE IS HELD AT STOCK SHOW. Achievements of Late President of Association Are Praised by Numerous Speakers. (Continued From First Page.) ing up Mr. Stimson's work and carrying it on at the same rate. The unveiling of the tablet was held immediately after the addresses. The arena then was taken over by 24 riders from the Portland Hunt club, who went through the equitation drill, which they will give under the direction of H. M. Kerron at the night horse show during the week.

Stack Judging to Start

The judging of the stock will begin early today in the beef and dairy cattle, draft horses and some brands of sheep. These divisions will be judged for the most part in the big arena. The arena will be used at night for the horse show and also for the matinee horse show Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. There are approximately 3600 fine animals of all kinds under the roof of the exposition building. There are 480 animals in the beef cattle breed, 850 in the dairy breeds, 220 sheep, 175 goats, 800 hogs, 150 fine draft horses and 150 animals belonging to the boys' and girls' livestock clubs. These numbers do not include the animals of the fat stock divisions, and these total 21 carloads of hogs, sheep and cattle. Announcement of winners in the high school agricultural contest was made yesterday and honors went to the team from the Boise high school. Students from the Ontario California high school ranked second and those from the Ontario, Oregon, high school, third. Twenty-one teams of three members each, representing high schools of Oregon, Washington, California and Idaho, were entered in the contest, a stock-judging competition. Percheron horses, Shorthorn cattle, Poland-China hogs, Shropshire sheep and Jersey cattle were reviewed by the students, and on their judgment of the animals were the awards based. The Boise students who won first prize also won a similar contest at the Idaho state fair at Boise, and as a result of the prize money won there were enabled to travel to Portland to enter the competition at the local show. The highest score in the contest was made by a Boise youth, Ted Warren, who scored 943 out of a possible 1000.

In addition to the interest centered in the gubernatorial race there is much interest in city politics. A. F. Barnett, present councilman, was nominated at the regular primary election for mayor and W. H. Brewer, both of whom are now councilmen. During the last few days the candidates have begun to do campaigning and it seems likely there will be a close contest. Phone your want ads to The Oregonian. Attention, Republicans! OLCOTT SPENT $1500 TO HELP ELECT DEMOCRAT GOVERNOR

KNOW THE TRUTH! Do you know that Ben W. Olcott, now candidate for governor on the republican ticket, contributed $1550.00 to defeat the republican nominee and elect the democratic candidate for governor, Oswald West, in 1910? The following statements of expense filed in the office of the secretary of state at Salem speak for themselves. Read them. Know the Truth!

Olcott speakers have been asking Republicans to vote for Olcott on the ground that Harding wants a "regular" Republican administration in Oregon. What kind of a "regular" Republican is Olcott, who, on his own affidavit, contributed $1500 to the Democratic state campaign committee and swore to the fact as treasurer of a club boosting the Democratic candidate for governor? For my part, I have made up my mind to vote for Pierce for Governor. M. W. STOREY, A Registered Republican. (Paid Advertisement by M. W. Storey, 1381 E. 17th St.)
