A SENSATIONAL act tops Pan-tages new bill. It is a physical cultural turn presented by Prosper and Maret. They are splendid ath-letes, clean-cut and manly and alert, Maret is a marvel of strength and, in a series of phenomenal hand-stands he and Prosper astonish and delight. For a greater part of the act Prosper is not once on the floor, but remains in midair performing daring balances while supported by Maret. The men are handsomely attired in white satin trunks with red trimmings and both are good-iooking, smilling chaps of likable personalities. They go through their personalities. They go through their wonderful act quietly and with a delightful ease which pieases.

To My Friends:

I ask your first choice vote for City Commissioner.

Because you know my qualifications.

To Friends of Other Candidates:

I ask your second choice vote. Because I am trained in accounting, engineering, law and business; I am a registered engineer; I have visited and studied in thirty-one of America's largest cities, such problems as the efficiency of railroad terminals; co-ordination of rail and water transportation; street car, electric, gas and water service and other civic matters. For ten years I have been the technical expert on public utility matters for the Railroad and Public Service Commission of Oregon. I have one of the largest private libraries in the west on these subjects.

So, with your friend and myself as city commissioners, you will be well served.

I say this sincerely, for I am allied with no faction.
