DAVIS IS PRIMED

Pair to Clash at Armory on Thursday Night.

Travie Davis, the Seattle thunderbolt, is coming to Portland today primed not only to lick Bobby Harper in their 10-round main event go at the Armory Thursday event go at the Armory Thursday night, but to knock him out:

Davis is just egotistical enough to think that Seattle Robert will be no tougher for him than was Jack Josephs. He knocked Josephs silly twice in one fight in Seattle a few weeks ago, after Josephs had taken a decision here over Harper, and later Davis got a decision from Josephs over the route. Josephs went into his shell in that second fight and Davis couldn't hit him.

Harper Recognized as Good. "Anybody I can hit, I can lick," said Davis over long-distance telephone from Seattle vesterdsy. "I know Harper is a good boy and a tough boy. But I don't care how good they are or how tough. Let me hit them and they all drop. My left hand is fine and strong and if Harper wants it to be a fight, he'd better be in the best shape he has Harper wants it to be a fight, he'd date.

better be in the best shape he has ever been, for I expect to tear right three straight from the Zellerbach ever been, for I expect to tear right in from the jump and make it as short as possible."

All of which was simply waving a red shirt before Seattle Robert and his manager, Charley Yost.

"Humph." snifted the usually genial Jost, "that's his message, is it? Well, if he feels like that about the the result of the possible of the possible of the large will ge into this possible.

Flavin 170 132 173 502 183 275 173 802 it, Harper will go into this battle primed for some slaughtering, him-self. Davis prides himself on his left, but Harper has just as good a left as Davis, and a little better. Harper is a natural southpaw. His left hand and arm are better deleft hand and arm are better developed than his right; he writes left-handed, throws left-handed, eats left-handed. He has been trained to take a right-handed stance in the ring, but when he cuts loose a finishing punch, it's his left he shoets.

Davis' Talk Heard Before. Davis' Talk Heard Before.

"So, while Travie is trying to snap over his left to Bobby's chin, he will be putting himself wide open to a plant from Harper's left. I've heard Davis' kind of talk before. We're not scared at all, it is probably just as well for Davis to do his laughling now instead of waiting until after the fight. If he waits too long he won't have a chance to laugh."

These two boys are the leading welterweight contenders of the Pacific coast. They have met just conce-that only in a four-round go two months ago in Seattle. The papers all said it was a streat fight for they opened up and cut loose with everything they had. But it was a streat hardly started before it was ended. Now they meet to settle the argument they started then and they have the rounds to do it in. That such a fight in the points of the power of the papers all said it in. That such a fight in the points of the papers all said it was as received by opponents. With Liquor Transactions was composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wouths Stock Show Guests.

long count he evidently has. Harper hasn't knocked many, but he has lost only two decisions in his life.

There is naturally plenty of jealousy between Davis and Harper for they come from the same town and both aspire to the leadership of the weiterweights. Also, the followers of each have done so much bragging that naturally the question has been raised whether Davis really can whip Harper or Harper vice versa.

An entertainment that drew an audience of 3000 interested spectators who packed the municipal auditorium last night was that given by the Benson Polytechnic high school. The purpose of the entertairment was to raise funds for equipping the school gymnastium.

Other Bouts Attractive.

This fight itself ought to pack ten howling for a meeting between the two far months.

But that won't be all. Backing up the main go Matchmaker Hansen has arranged an attractive card.

In the semi-main go Mike Depinto will scrap Joe Hoff in six rounds. Remember their previous scrap here a few months ago? Depinto was the favorite but Hoff started after him in the opening round, lay all over him through the battle and at the finish had piled up such a big lead that the decision wasn't even in doubt. Ah Fong, the Chinese battler, and All Fong, the Chinese battler, and Chick Rocco will scrap six rounds and there should be buckets of blood to each round for both are the same type of battler—biff, cuff, crash, smash all the way.

In the four-round curtain raisers Bud Fisher and Paddy Mullins, middles, and Billy McDonald and William Eletch, heavies, will provide the entertainment. So the card will include everything from a featherweight to heavyweight bouts.
