

OLYMPICS ARE BEING IN FULL STRENGTH

San Franciscans to Arrive in Portland Tomorrow. TEAM IN PRIME FORM

Two telegrams received by Ted Faulk yesterday from Kenneth McLeod, manager of the Olympic club of San Francisco, conveyed the information that the football team of that organization will arrive in Portland tomorrow and that it will be at full strength for the Thanksgiving day game with the Winged M.

Record Classic Promised. "We are proud of our football aggregation and will honor Portland with the play of the squad. We propose to play a clean, well-headed American game, but, regardless of which team wins, the good citizens of the Willamette basin will view the best exhibition of the gridders game seen on the Pacific coast in years."

The other telegram from the south states that Williams, captain of the California outfit and ex-Cornell star, is backing up the Olympic line even better than he performed that function at the Black and White and that Olympic King, noted all-American lineman with Annapolis last year, is placing "kick" with deadly accuracy. "Kick" has missed only one field goal this entire season, reads the wire, "and will be sure to kick the ball over the crossbar if it gets anywhere near the Multnomah goal."

Center and End Strong. Faulk's eleven went through another grueling practice last night under the arc lights, coming through two hours of hard scrimmage practice without a mishap. The way Jake Riskey and Marty Howard worked at center and end respectively, made the mentor's heart glad. Riskey, who was an all-northwest player for three years, has been refereeing high school games all season and is in fine condition. Howard showed all his old-time dash in getting down under punts, and his tackling last night was vicious. He and Bob Pelouze will grab more than one long forward pass out of the air for good gains Thanksgiving day.

HOOP LEAGUES ARE FORMED. Three Organizations Will Play Basketball on Weight. At a meeting last night at Spalding's three basketball leagues were formed. The teams in league A average 115 pounds, in league B 125 pounds and in league C 135 pounds. League B has 14 entries, so two divisions will be formed, with the champions of each division meeting on a post-season game for the 135-pound championship. In league A are the East Side Juniors, Holy Name and the Woodstock Juniors. In the 125-pound league are Columbus club, Waverly Juniors, Goose Hollow, East Side Juniors, Holy Name, Chinese Lions, Vancouver (Wash.) Juniors, Loyal Comrades, Stevens, Home club, Hollywood, Kenton, Irving Park and the Bachelor Juniors. In the 135-pound league are Columbus club, Ramblers, Holy Name, Stevens, Oswego and Vernon. Officers of the three leagues are A. E. Cann, president, and Frank Haller, secretary-treasurer.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Advance sale of tickets for the Thanksgiving day football game between Washington and Oregon in the stadium indicates a capacity crowd. The game will be for the football championship of the northwest. Attendance at the Armistice day game with California was 25,000 and Washington authorities expect the turkey day crowd to be close to that total. GOLDENDALE WILL PLAY. STAR HIGH SCHOOL TEAM TO MEET COLUMBIA. Mid-Columbia Champions Said to Have Varied Attack and Brilliant Machine. At last there has been discovered a high school football team that is not only willing but extremely eager to play the far-famed eleven of Columbia university. It is more than a month since F. C. Dahlquist of the mid-Columbia league in Washington-Goldendale. This little high school, with a most handful of students to pick from, has turned out what has been termed the most brilliant scholastic grid machine seen in the northwest for years. F. C. Dahlquist of the Multnomah club, who refereed a game between Goldendale and The Dalles recently, says it is an absolutely dazzling exhibition of modern football. Forward passes from a dozen different running formations, double and triple series, crosses, delayed line bucks, lightning shifts, fake kicks and hidden ball plays followed each other in such rapid succession as to take one's breath away. "I haven't seen Columbia play this year, but I don't hesitate to say that a game between the Portland preparatory school and the mid-Columbia champs would be one of a hundred thrills and I would mortgage the Teon building, if I owned it, to bet on Goldendale."

Frank Kendall, manager of the Milwaukee fight arena, is staking his reputation as a matchmaker and promoter on tonight's battle scheduled at the cap barn ring. He is most positive in his statement that the seven four-round bouts he has signed up will give the most continuous fun one continuous thrill and he will be the most surprised man in Portland if there are not at least two or three knockouts registered before the night is done. "Just take a look at the array of maters that will do their stuff," says Kendall. "There are Danny Nunes and Mike DePinto, for instance. Everybody knows that Danny Nunes did to Ad Mackie in Portland last week, and there are few who will not admit DePinto is as good as the best 126-pounder in the southwest over a short round. While Nunes may appear to have an edge over the Portland featherweight, Mike's backers are ready to say 'I told you so' in the event of a knockout in action and they hit like mules. "And did you ever see a more evenly matched pair than Billy Gardeau and Ritchie Davis, those speed burning 145-pound bulldozers of the hemp gridded gladiatorial zone? "Let me tell you, too, that the scrap between Frankie Crites and Jack Griffin is going to be a dingsy-donger from bell to bell. These boys are nothing if not young hot-cats in action and they hit like mules. "Tim Callahan is an animated shillash inside the ring. This 135-pound son of the outfit so doesn't know what it is to quit and he keeps his fists going like pistons every minute of every round.
