

LIGHTNER'S CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY

Elaborate Defense Swept Aside by Court.

VERDICT IS DUE TODAY

Charges of Official Collusion and Corruption Are Declared Irrelevant to Case.

All the elaborate defense, so carefully built up by Dave Lightner, accused dope dealer, was swept aside in the federal court yesterday by Judge Bean, when the court, in instructions to the jury, declared that the evidence had wandered far from the issue and that the charges of official collusion and corruption should be ignored.

If you think that the defendant violated the Harrison narcotics act, the opium act, the conspiracy statute, then it is your duty to convict him regardless of what you may think of the conduct of the officers," declared the court.

Denunciation Is Terrible.

Seldom has a prisoner sat at the bar of justice in the local federal court and listened to such a terrible denunciation as that which United States Attorney Humphreys heaped on Lightner's head during the closing argument yesterday afternoon.

The taking of evidence in the case had been completed Saturday, and yesterday was devoted to the arguments of opposing attorneys. Assistant United States Attorney Tom Maguire opened for the government and Charles Garland and Ben Goodman answered for the defendant during the morning.

Six Persons Are Attacked.

Six persons were singled out for attack by Frayley: Dr. Linville and Frank B. Mitchell, prohibition enforcement officials; Customs Inspectors Greenwood and Kappel; Arthur P. Fiegel, ex-assistant United States attorney, and Police Inspector Persinger.

On a table in the court room stood a box of evidence, the valuable shipment of cocaine taken from Lightner at the time of his arrest. Dramatically, the federal attorney reached over, picked up a can of the drug and handed it to an elderly and rural juror.

Evil Effects Related.

The prosecutor told of the awful effects of cocaine and morphine; he followed his word picture of the slave of dope with a description of those who traffic in the stuff. "He is lower than the man who deals in the bodies and souls of women," Humphreys said with emphasis. "No depth is too deep or too black, no degradation too pronounced for this type of vultures who prey on the bodies and souls of their victims. But if these have contaminated their users, it has blackened those who engage in the traffic. This case exemplifies to you gentlemen the true spirit of the traffic."

Obituary.

William S. Griffis.

OREGON CITY, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—William S. Griffis, 81, president of Gladstone, and recently of Forest Grove, Or., died at the family home in the latter city Sunday. His death was sudden, and was caused by pneumonia.

The body was brought to Oregon City this afternoon, and funeral services will be held at the Holman & Paet chapel tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will be in the family lot in Mountain View cemetery.

Mr. Griffis was 70 years old and was survived by his widow and three sons of Portland. The family left Gladstone about five months ago, after residing in that place for several years.

Earl W. Perkins.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Earl W. Perkins, state traffic officer, died here today as the result of injuries suffered last Tuesday when he was run over by a truck operated by the Willamette Valley Transfer company on the Pacific highway near Aurora. Investigation of the accident indicated that the driver of Mr. Perkins' motorcycle struck the truck, throwing him in the path of the heavy vehicle. He is survived by his widow, who lives in Portland; his father, S. W. Perkins of Howard City, Mich., and a brother, G. A. Perkins of Wheeler, Or. The funeral probably will be held in Salem, but arrangements had not been completed tonight.

George Taylor. George Taylor, who died at his home in Corvallis November 26, was born in Lincolnshire, England, in 1828. He became a sailor and in the course of his world wanderings, joined in the great California gold rush in '49. Settling in Marion county, he married Margaret Daniels of Salem in 1867. The first modern creamery in Oregon, the Benton creamery of Corvallis, since converted to a new company, was established by him. During his active civic career Mr. Taylor worked intensely for the establishing of the Oregon Agricultural college, and that institution in no small part owes its foundation to his efforts.

Free from any ailment during his long life, until a slight accident coupled with extreme old age caused his death, he was at all times filled with an energetic interest in civic matters, and was most beloved by a large circle of friends and admirers. A widow and two children, Katie M. Buchanan and Charles E. Taylor, both of Portland; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren survive him.

Rev. Peter R. Burnett.

EUGENE, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The funeral of Rev. Peter R. Burnett, who died in Eugene Wednesday as the result of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile here, November 9, was held here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Christian church of this city, the pastor of the First Christian church of this city, the Rev. C. F. Swander of Portland. Other ministers from over the state were in attendance and relatives from different parts of the coast were here for the services.

Mrs. Arlington B. Watt.

McMINNVILLE, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Mrs. Arlington B. Watt, who was appointed postmistress of Amity by President Wilson March 1, 1915, and served more than seven years, died in Amity, Oregon, November 26, 1922. She was a daughter of Marlon B. and Ellis Hendrick, Oregon pioneers and was born at Westland, Yamhill county, November 26, 1831. She was a member of the Rebecca and Degree of Honor lodges, Amity Study club and Baptist church. Funeral services were conducted in Amity Baptist church by Rev. C. L. Travin and Rev. A. J. Hunsaker of McMinnville.

Vera V. Brann.

Vera V. Brann, who died at the Sellwood hospital Sunday, November 26, was the daughter of J. B. and Minnie Cornett and was born near Sheed, Or., September 11, 1903. She married Paul B. Brann July 21 of this year. She is survived by her husband, one brother, John A. Cornett, and a sister, Marcia A. Margason, all living in or near Sheed. Funeral services will take place at the Sheed Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow, followed by interment in the Pugh cemetery.

DRINK WATER OFTEN IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles. Too much meat may form uric acid which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach get sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Drink lots of water; also get one of our pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.
