

ASTORIA BUSINESS SECTION DEVASTATED BY $12,000,000 FIRE

Remarkable Photographs by Staff Photographer of The Oregonian Tell Story of Losses Sustained by Business Houses When Flames Swept Through City's Heart.

1—What is left of Astoria Furniture company store, with remnants of automobile.
 2—Wall left standing amid fallen bricks like war scene.
 3—Another vivid bit showing ruthlessness of yesterday's fire.
 4—Household goods snatched from flames.
 5—Ruins snapped from Tenth street, looking toward court-house.
 6—Refugees moving into apartment house that stood outside of fire-swept area.
 7—Looking east on Exchange street, Y. M. C. A. building on right.
 8—Scene that presents itself by looking north on Tenth street.
 9—Ruins at corner of Tenth and Exchange streets looking southeast; Elks temple in right foreground.