SHIP SUBSIDY BILL HAS CHANCE TO WIN

Friends and Foes Almost Evenly Divided.

FILIBUSTER IS POSSIBLE

Two Democratic Senators Are Expected to Vote for Measure; Fight Is Assured.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

(Copyright by New York Evening Post, Inc. Published by Arrangement.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Whether the ship subsidy bill becomes a law is as interesting a speculation about future legislation as Washington has seen in many a day. The bill is now in the senate. Two democratic senators will vote for it. They are the two from Louisiana, who vote with the republicans on the tariff and on so many other matters that they sometimes seem as near republican as democratic.

It is occasionally claimed that one other democratic senator will vote with the republicans in favor of the bill, but this is doubtful. One of the democrats who were counted on is Fletcher of Florida, but in point of fact it was Fletcher who wrote a minority report from the committee against the bill. It is also claimed occasionally that Underwood will support the bill, but it is most doubtful whether this can be expected from a man so completely identified with democratic leadership as Underwood is.

Assuming that two, and only two, democratic senators join the republicans in favor of the bill, it will be necessary, in order to defeat it, for the insurgent republicans who are leading the opposition to get together at least 14 republicans in opposition. The best judgment is that they cannot get more than 12. If this calculation is correct the bill should pass in the senate by a majority of about two.

Filibuster Also Possible.

But there are several other hurdles. For one, the insurgent republicans may not confine their tactics merely to voting against the bill. They may adopt filibustering methods. If a considerable number of them should filibuster they could prevent the bill passing. There are only two or three who are willing to adopt filibustering tactics. It may turn out that La Follette and one other will be the only ones to filibuster. That would hardly be enough, although as a filibusterer La Follette is a whole bloc in himself.

Even without deliberate filibustering, it is possible for the vote on the bill to be so long delayed as to fail to come up at the present session. This eventuality, however, seems less likely now than it did a little while ago. For one thing, the republican friends of the bill have got it on the floor and to the front and they mean to keep it there until it comes to a vote. For the second thing, the lower house is making unexpected and wholesome speed with the 12 appropriation bills which, with the ship subsidy bill, constitute the bulk of the legislative programme.

It now seems possible for all the appropriation bills to be through the house and ready for the senate by the latter part of January. If this should come about, there would seem to be no reason why the ship subsidy bill should not come to a roll-call.

Bill Materially Changed.

But even if the bill in its present form should pass the senate, there is yet another hurdle. The bill, as it passed the house, was materially different from the bill as it now stands in the senate. In the house a provision was attached requiring that the annual subsidies be appropriated each year by congress. This was acutely unsatisfactory to President Harding and the friends of the bill, because no business man would want to make plans based on a subsidy which might be cut off in any year by a temporarily hostile congress.

In the senate the bill has been restored to its original form. The result is that even if, and when, the senate passes the bill, there must be a conference between the house and the senate to adjust the differences. In that conference, it is stated with much confidence by the opponents of the bill, the house will stand firm.

When the bill passed the house it had a majority of only 24. It is said that on a conference report this majority might readily dwindle to less than nothing if the senate should insist on a form of the bill which dismisses the provision for an annual voting of the subsidy. All in all, there was hardly ever a piece of legislation so nicely balanced between success and failure. Of course, if the bill should fail at this session it could not pass at all thereafter in the new and quite differently constituted congress.

FARM RATE CUT URGED

Conditions in Grain-Producing Areas Declared Bad.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—Officials of western federal reserve banks in testifying today before the interstate commerce commission declared that financial conditions in grain producing territories of the United States are so bad that some relief to farmers, probably in decreased railroad rates on their principal products, should be afforded. The testimony was brought out by western state railroad commissions, which are urging further decreases on rates of grain, grain products and hay in all the territory west of the Mississippi and east of the Rocky mountains.

J. E. Blair, director of the Chicago reserve bank; Curtis L. Mosher, assistant reserve agent at Minneapolis, and C. A. Witherspoon, deputy governor of the Kansas bank, joined in urging the freight rate reduction. The agricultural industry of the west, they said, had lost more proportionately in ank deposits and in loans and had registered a higher percentage of business failures during the last two years than industrial areas.

ORATORICAL PLANS MADE

Intercollegiate Contest to Be Held in Albany.

ALBANY, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Plans are being made at Albany college for the state intercollegiate oratorical contest, which will be held here March 9, it was announced yesterday by Clive Saiz, president of the Intercollegiate Oratorical association of Oregon. A meeting, at which nine state colleges were represented, was held in Salem Saturday. Change in the form of trophy presented by the association to the winner will be considered by a committee, which will meet in Eugene in January. The University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural college, and Eugene Bible university will be represented on this committee.

A resolution proposing a Pacific coast oratorical association was also adopted by the collegians. The plan suggested provides for elimination contests in each state and a final contest for the regional championship.

The nine colleges represented at Salem were University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural college, Pacific college, Linfield college, Eugene Bible university, Willamette university, Oregon normal, Pacific university and Albany college.

ARSENIC SUPPLY SHORT

FIGHT ON COTTON PEST TO BE RESTRICTED.

12,000 Tons of Poison Needed Yearly in Combating Boll Weevil in South.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—Shortage of calcium arsenic, used in exterminating the cotton boll weevil, was disclosed today by the geological survey, which reported stocks of domestic arsenic on hand October 1 at 1230 short tons, with the output between October 1 and next May 1 estimated at 3400 tons.

About 8000 tons were distributed during the 1922 season to southern cotton growers, according to the survey.

Though unusually large demand doubtless is the principal cause of the shortage, there are a number of other causes, the geological survey reports. Among these are the reduction of the quantity of copper ores treated at Anaconda, Mont., and at Tacoma, Wash., the small supply of arsenical dust from lead smelters in Montana, Utah and Colorado, and the decrease in the imports from Canada, Japan and Mexico.

The present demnd amounts to 12,000 tons a year, while the available supply in 1921 was only 6455 tons.

Mrs. Macdonald succeeds Harl J. Cook of Spokane, who resigned several weeks ago. The appointment is effective immediately.

Ashland Gridder Near Death.

ASHLAND, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Leslie J. Heer, a member of last year's football team of Ashland high school, was taken to the local hospital last night suffering from a stoppage of a large blood vessel in his leg. Though it was thought the accident would prove fatal, physicians still hold hope that he may recover.

Lodge Holds Homecoming.

SILVERTON, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Over 200 knights and their wives and families attended the 20th anniversary and homecoming of the Knights of Pythias lodge at Silverton Monday night. The affair was also in the form of a formal opening of the new hall recently completed. A community sing was the chief feature of the evening.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The people of Florence and Glenada have petitioned the Lane county court for a free ferry for foot passengers across the Siuslaw river between these towns. A fare of 5 cents each is now charged pedestrians. Fees are also charged for vehicles and animals.

CONFERENCE HOPE DASHED BY ISMET

Exchange of Populations Is Still Demanded.

CURZON PLAN REJECTED

Proposal to Have League Administer Affairs of Minorities Is Spurned.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, dashed the hopes of the near eastern conference for a speedy and satisfactory settlement for the protection of minorities in Turkey when, in an address at this afternoon's session, he insisted upon an exchange of the Greek populations in Anatolia for the Turks in Macedonia. He demanded exclusion of all foreign interference in Turkey, which, he said, would protect the remaining minorities, as the Turks had always been able to get along with other nationals when they kept out of politics and were not stirred up by outside influences.

Ismet declared that Turkey would not accept Lord Curzon's proposal to have the league of nations administer the affairs of the minorities, as that would mean that the foreign powers would continue their interference in Turkish affairs and encourage the minorities to appeal to the league of nations. This plan, he asserted, would result in the exploitation of minorities for political ends under "the lying cloak of humanitarianism."

Whole History Reviewed.

The Turkish chief delegate reviewed the entire history of Turkey from the time of the conquest of Constantinople. The Turks, he said, lived peacefully with the Greeks and Armenians until 100 years ago, when the Russians began agitating against the Mohammedans under the pretense that Russia was the protector of orthodox Christians in Turkey.

He charged Russia with being responsible for the attack Gladstone made on Turkey in behalf of the Armenians, and maintained that the so-called Turkish atrocities against Armenians had been in the nature of reprisals for pogroms perpetrated by the Armenians through encouragement from Russia, which wanted some excuse for invading Turkey.

Armenians Are Blamed.

"The Armenians brought the massacres on themselves," Ismet Pasha declared. "They have abused Turkish generosity and dabbled in politics. Jews have never had any trouble in Turkey; that proves that the Greeks and the Armenians have been responsible for their difficulties in Turkey. They were fired by the example of other Greeks, the Bulgers and Serbs, to imitate them in the hope of upsetting the Turkish government."

According to Ismet, there are now no minorities in Turkey which can claim the right to belong to any other nation, thus disposing of the Armenian claim for a national home in Turkey.

Lord Curzon replied in a spirited manner to Ismet, saying it was the first time the conference had seen the Turkish delegate as a historian, and had always thought of him before as a soldier and a diplomat.

Solution Is Demanded.

The British secretary for foreign affairs said the conference was dealing with the affairs of peoples in the greatest distress and must find a solution for the problem of the miserable refugees, and without regard to ancient history, and must frame a treaty which would protect these unhappy people. He called the attention of the conference to the fact that Ismet Pasha had not mentioned the allied plans for solving the difficulties of the minorities in Turkey, which Curzon had presented at the opening of today's session, but had devoted himself to history and an attack on the league of nations, which might be useful to Turkey.

In emphatic tones he denounced Ismet's demand that there be a forced exchange of Turkish and Greek populations, and declared that minorities must remain in both countries.

The debate between Turkey and Greece over the question of which nation is responsible for the tragedy of Smyrna continued to form a dominant issue at the near east conference. Ismet Pasha said he was quite willing that the treaty which the delegates hope to frame shall provide for a system of payment to the allied nations for the damages their nationals suffered in Turkey during the great war, but that on the other hand, he would insist upon reimbursement by Greece for the losses sustained by the Turks in Asia Minor at the hands of the retreating Greek army.

Greeks Also to Ask Indemnity.

Ex-Premier Venizelos insisted that the Greeks burned only through military necessity. He declared that the real crime of the Asia Minor campaign was the action of the Turkish troops in outraging and shooting Greek residents, sacking homes and deporting hundreds of thousands of destitute human beings.

If Turkey exacts reparations from Greece, M. Venizelos said he would present a bill for the horrors and injustice suffered by the Greeks. The question of the Ottoman debt was developing as a danger point in the negotiations and the bitter Turkish-Grecian dispute, which was based on something more than a question of money, was serving to make settlement of the whole problem exceedingly difficult.

Ambassador Child today made an earnest plea to the conference for the protection of the minorities in the near east and the creation, if possible, of safe territorial refuge for special populations.

American Relief Worker Dies.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 12.—A wireless dispatch from the American destroyer Edsall stationed at Samsum to the Near East relief headquarters here announces the death at Marsovan on Sunday of George Williams, one of the relief organization directors. Mr. Williams, who was formerly United States vice-consul at Milan, made his home in Foxburg, Pa.

1919, three degrees above zero ushered in on the wings of a blizzard.

Continued cold has resulted in a remarkably low river stage. At 5 o'clock last night at low tide the reading was 2.9 feet, a subsidence of a little more than six inches in 24 hours.

SNOW BREAKS WATER PIPE

The Dalles on Short Rations as Result of Slide.

THE DALLES, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—A shortage of city water caused by a slide blocking mill creek somewhere along the upper reaches and cessation of boat service between this city and Portland because the locks at Cascade Locks are frozen, were coincident with the coldest weather of the winter experienced here last night and today.

One degree below zero in the city and two and three degrees below in outlying districts were reported as the low marks for last night. Despite clear skies, 19 above was the high mark reached today and this had receded to 10 above at 5 P. M. A request that water be used sparingly until the dam caused by the slide breaks through, in order that the city reservoirs may be kept at a level commensurate with safety in the event of fire, was made by the city water commission today. No water was coming through the pipe line into the reservoirs during the day, it was said.

LA GRANDE HAS 4 BELOW

32 Degrees Reported at Meacham by Railroad Men.

LA GRANDE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Union county experienced its coldest weather of the season early this morning before daylight when the mercury dropped to four degrees below in La Grande. Railroad men reported that it dropped 32 degrees below zero at Meacham and reports from Union and North Powder stated that the cold was intense. The drop in temperature was not accompanied by wind, the atmosphere being still and the sky clear. In La Grande at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the temperature registered eight degrees above zero with sunshine flooding the city.

Local sportsmen are fearful that the cold snap, accompanied by the snow which fell recently, will endanger the lives of pheasants and other game birds and animals.

SNOW DEEP IN SISKIYOUS

Autoists Crossing Mountains Have Hard Time.

ASHLAND, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—With 22 inches of snow on the summit of the Siskiyous, tourists coming from the south in particular are having a hard time reaching this city. Five men are at present employed in keeping the Pacific highway cleared of snow, but a freeze-up of the caterpillar tractor and a breakdown of the truck used to pull a drag snow plow has temporarily put an end to this work.

The road is rougher than if it had not been touched, according to tourists, several of whom were warned at Hornbrook and shipped their cars over the hill. Conditions on the California side of the summit were said to be even worse than on the Oregon side.

FREEZING AT WALLA WALLA

Autoists Also Have Trouble With Radiators on Machines.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Walla Walla's plunge from balmy chinook weather to bitter cold came so suddenly that many citizens were unprepared. The result was that plumbers and auto repair men put in a busy morning thawing out water pipes and auto radiators.

Even the 10 above temperature yesterday failed to be enough warning for many who woke this morning to find the temperature 1 above and their autos frozen up. Some finally thawed out their machines sufficiently to drive downtown, the radiators emitting steam like miniature geysers. Several found that their machines froze up while driving, so cold was the air.

SALEM HIT BY COLD SNAP

20 Degrees Above Registered in Capital City.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Salem and Marion county last night experienced the coldest weather for the season. At 5 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 12 degrees above zero, or 12 degrees below the freezing point.

The sudden cold spell caught many of the residents unprepared and there were a number of frozen automobile radiators and water pipes. The highest point reached by the government thermometer today was 25 degrees above.

Continued cold is forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Hood River at Zero.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—With a minimum of zero last night and a maximum of 15 today, Hood River experienced the coldest day of the year. At Parkdale a minimum of 4 below was reported. It was indicated that tonight's minimum would drop to about 5 below. Plumbers were busy today thawing out and repairing water pipes. Children have turned from coasting to skating on Columbia sloughts, frozen thick.

Snow and Ice Stall Train.

CONDON, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The train to Arlington got stalled near Clem going down last Saturday morning and did not arrive in Arlington until 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The drifts of snow and the ice in the cutting on the line were so packed that the snow plow could make no headway. The public school has been closed since Wednesday last. All stock is being fed hay and no loss of sheep has been reported up to the present.

Vancouver Has 15 Above.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Vancouver last night experienced its coldest December weather since 1919, when the Columbia rever froze over, the mercury going to 15 above zero early this morning. The maximum temperature today was 30 degrees. At 6 o'clock tonight the official thermometer registered 24 degrees, indicating that a still colder night was in prospect, as it was 9 o'clock last night before it dropped to the same temperature.

Olympia Has 14 Above.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—For the second time in 48 hours the official thermometer at the local weather observatory recorded 14 degrees above zero early today. Exposed water pipes suffered severely last night, numerous cases of frozen and broken pipes being reported to the city water department. A sharp north wind added to the discomfort. There was no thaw during the day, with indications of even a colder night tonight.

Freeze Hits Astoria.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Following the snow of last Sunday and with the continued northeast wind, a frigid wave struck Astoria yesterday afternoon, and last night was the coldest of the season thus far, the mercury dropping below the freezing point. Today the sun has been shining brightly, but with the clear sky low temperatures are expected tonight.

Eugene Has 22 Above.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Twenty-two degrees above zero was the lowest point reached by the mercury in Eugene early today and at no time during the day was it very much above the freezing point. The highest temperature was 34. The weather observer reported that tonight at 7 o'clock the temperature was 28 degrees, which is five below the figure registered last night. He looked for a minimum of 18 tonight or early in the morning.

Roseburg Expects Colder Weather

ROSEBURG, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—A forecast of cold weather was issued by the weather bureau today. The temperature this morning was 31 degrees, but a rapidly falling thermometer tonight indicated that the temperature tonight or in the early morning will reach a lower degree. The lowest point reached so far this fall has been 30 degrees.

Crater Lake Has 6-Foot Snow.

MEDFORD, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—While Medford and vicinity was enjoying the mildest temperature in the state today with a minimum of 31.5 degrees above this morning, a telephone message was received in the city from the ranger stationed at Anna Spring camp in Crater national park stating that there was 6 feet of snow at Crater lake.

Albany Has 20 Above.

ALBANY, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The coldest weather experienced here since January 19, 1922, was recorded this morning when the mercury dropped to 20 degrees. With a clear sky yesterday and last night local people expected freezing temperature. It is continuing snappy today and the outlook for tonight indicates a still lower mark.

20 Degrees Below at Wallowa.

WALLOWA, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The mercury registered 20 degrees below zero here last night.

Chehalis Feels Eight Above Zero.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The thermometer again hit the toboggan at Chehalis last night and a new low mark for the winter was recorded this morning when eight above zero was reported. Today was fair and during the afternoon there was a slight thaw with indications of another cold night.

Ten Below at Goldendale.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The thermometer dropped to ten degrees below zero here today. Grain fields of the vicinity are protected from the cold by a covering of from eight to nine inches of snow.

Two Blacks Pay Penalty for Murder of Young Woman.

PERRY, Fla., Dec. 12.—The second of two negroes arrested Friday in connection with the murder of Miss Ruby Hendry, school teacher, the previous Saturday was lynched last night when Arthur Young was taken from the officers as they were attempting to transfer him to another jail.

Charlie Wright was burned at the stake Friday night after a mob of several thousand men had taken him from the officers as they brought the two negroes into town.

FEDERAL JOB IS ASKED

Senator Poindexter's Friends Urge Him for Bench.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The appointment of Senator Miles Poindexter to the federal bench, which is a life position, will be asked by his friends some time before the expiration of his term in March, it was learned today.

Vacancies are expected to occur soon in the United States circuit court of appeals at San Francisco and one of these, it was understood, will be asked for Senator Poindexter.

Goble Woman Renominated.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Florence A. Fowler again was nominated by the president today as postmaster at Goble, Or. A previous nomination was invalidated by reason of the failure of the extra session of congress to confirm Mrs. Fowler's appointment.

A Plain Statement From Mr. William Krause Regarding Peterson's Upstairs Store

Early Monday morning the following statement was prepared for publication by Mr. William Krause, formerly manager for the Peterson Co., Inc., of Portland:

THE STOCKHOLDERS of the Peterson company have given me full authority to dispose of the balance of merchandise left after the dissolution of the corporation.

The offers from dealers and speculators were so out of proportion to the actual value of the stock left that I felt it would be better for everybody concerned to sell it at retail.

I have been given the use of the Peterson Store in the Pittock block free of all expense (rent, etc.) until January 1, 1923.

Therefore I am in a position to sell what remains of the Peterson stocks at prices which would not otherwise be possible.

Yesterday I marked everything down to a point where the selling will go forward without a dull spell.

DRESSES that were bought to sell for as much as Thirty Dollars I have re-marked $12.

Dresses that were intended to sell for as much as Fifty Dollars are now all marked $17.

It should be borne in mind that these are all new and stylish, that they were fairly priced to begin with, and that the reductions are real reductions.

Indeed, it is possible to get three Dresses and to pay for one!

Coats are reduced in nearly as drastic a fashion.

The Sport Coats, which we expected to sell for as much as $22.50, I have reduced to $14.

The ones that were up to $30 I have marked $18.

The Coats that were as much as $49 I have marked $27.

The Dress Coats up to $65 I have marked $37.

THE SUITS are NOT reduced any further.

This is because they do not need it.

When Fifty-Dollar Suits are marked $15, that is, in my judgment, as low as they ought to be.

When Suits that were made to sell for Seventy-five Dollars are offered at $25, they will not last long at that figure. To cut the price again would be like throwing money to the birds.

I feel that in this advertisement I can be perfectly frank with everybody.

THE HATS are marked $2.25 and $1.25. (They were vastly more, as anybody can see.)

The Furs are $16.50 and $9.50, which is about half the erstwhile prices. The Wool Scarfs will be sold for $3.25 and $4.95. The Silk Jersey Bloomers are marked down to $3.50 and the Petticoats to $4.25. Blouses of Georgette in white and flesh will be sold at $2.95. The selling will be re-opened tomorrow at 9:15 A. M. I shall be glad to see all my friends and the public take full advantage of what I personally believe to be a real opportunity to BUY.

Respectfully submitted,
W. KRAUSE.
