A NUMBER of the sub-debutante set called at the home of Miss Anna Louison yesterday when she was hostess at a charmingly appointed tea. The rooms were gay with bright holiday decorations of holly and red ribbon bows. Presiding at the tea table, which was most attractive with its centerpiece of holly and pineapples, were Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith, Mrs. Joseph Feldman, Miss Clementine Hirsch, Mrs. George Black and Mrs. Allen E. Meier.

Miss Winona Roberts, society maid of Seattle, is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Kirby.

Mrs. Alexander R. Lundgren of Spokane, who has been the guest of Miss Katherine Graham, entertained a group of her friends at the Hotel Portland yesterday.

Miss Katherine Miller is visiting Miss Amy Madison in Seattle. She will be an attendant at the Crawford-Brown wedding December 27. Miss Lurline Brown, the bride-elect, is well known in Portland, where she visits frequently.

A brilliant affair of Saturday, December 30, will be the New Year's party at the Waverley Country club. This will be a dinner dance and many reservations are being made. The club will hold open house on New Year's day from 2:30 until 5:30.

Mrs. Luis Abelli, who has been visiting in Portland for a number of weeks, has been the inspiration for much entertaining. Mrs. Andrew Porter gave a large dinner recently and Friday afternoon she was honored at a smart bridge party given by Mrs. Bruce D. Stewart. Mrs. F. E. Moore complimented her with a bridge party last Saturday, which was followed by a buffet supper and dancing. Mrs. Harvey Nicol Black was hostess for a charmingly appointed luncheon Tuesday for Mrs. Abelli, and Friday Mrs. Noemie P. Sealy will entertain with a bridge luncheon. Mrs. Abelli will return to her home in South America in February.

DOGS DO NOVEL TRICKS

Small Canines at Hippodrome Are Clever Impersonators.

With dogs doing impersonations of Charlie Chaplin, Doug Fairbanks and Eva Tanguay, Jule Busse and her partner at the Hippodrome this week are bringing a novelty animal act over the circuit. Rope jumping, balancing on the rims of wine glasses, working on slack wire and doing somersaults are some of the unique tricks by the tiny canines.

During the entire turn the man in the circus stunts some daredevil acrobatic stunts while Miss Busse does her share with the dogs. These animals are considered the smallest trained dogs in vaudeville. Miss Busse has appeared all over the world with her act, and has made a decided hit at each engagement.

Housewife's Idea Box

A Convenient Way of Opening a Cereal Box.

HERE is a good way to open a cereal box so that it will pour easily and at the same time be closed tightly when not in use. With a sharp knife make a slit one inch below the top edge of the box. When you wish to pour out the cereal squeeze the box slightly, thus forming a sort of mouth. When you let go of the box it will take its natural shape. The cereal is therefore kept virtually airtight.

The Home in Good Taste

The Use of the Valance.

THE valance is primarily to carry the color of the side drapery across the window so as to make a frame. The color of the drapery should, of course, be so related to the color of the room as to carry a part of that color up to the top. The valance finishes it at the top.

A valance is not always used. Curtains are sometimes hung on a cornice made to match the wood trim of the room and sometimes, where light is the prime consideration, curtains are merely hung at either side of a window and the top is left clear. But from a decorative point of view the valance is very important. It may be severely plain and stretched over a curved frame, trimmed perhaps with band or galleon, or it may be box pleated, sewn across the window. It may be straight or shaped—but the only rule which must be followed is that the wider the valance the lower the room will appear. In a very low room the valance should be so narrow as to be merely a connecting note of color. Ten to 12 inches for the ordinary window will be found satisfactory. If a decorative effect is desired, with plain drapery a figured valance is often used, or a plain valance connecting plain furniture with figured drapery.

Whats What

By Helen Decie

It is a good form to use numbers for dates, trains, etc., as in correct in business letters. The words and numerals must be spelled out, thus: "December twenty-fifth."

The difference between the business and social codes in this matter is very pronounced. In business, for example, "Fifth Avenue" is shortened to "Ave.," but in social letters "Jan. 21" becomes "January second." "$2.00" is "two dollars." "4:30 P. M." is "half-past four o'clock in the afternoon," and "8:15 A. M." is "the P. M. R." becomes "a quarter after eight in the morning on the Pennsylvania Railroad." The business method makes for speed; the social code implies leisure, and each is correct in its own circle. It would be quite as unbusinesslike to write "January the fourteenth, Nineteen twenty-three" in a commercial letter as it would be undignified to abbreviate it into "Jan. 14, '23," or "1-14-23" in social correspondence.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL

Hardware Clerk Topples Over Railing to Floor.

In a fall from a balcony in the Marshall-Wells Hardware company Mrs. Charles Patterson, 52, a clerk, suffered injuries yesterday which necessitated her removal to St. Vincent hospital, where attendants found several ribs on the right side fractured and a serious injury to the right leg.

Mrs. Patterson lives at 1185 East Twenty-sixth street North. The accident occurred just before the noon hour and half the employees in the place saw her toppling over the railing and to the floor below.

A fall on the steps of her home, 461 East Forty-first street North, resulted in a fractured right ankle for Rosa Barrett. She was taken to Good Samaritan hospital.

Ten-year-old Edgar Miller of Oregon City was brought to the Good Samaritan yesterday with a badly fractured leg, sustained in a coasting accident Sunday, when an automobile struck his sled.

Correct English: A Daily Quiz

WHAT is an atteller?
How is it pronounced?
Is it correct to say "The two women had a mutual interest in suffrage?"
What is amiss with the sentence, "The Rev. Roy Lee is a D. D.?"
What is the plural of "pailful"?

Answers to Wednesday's Questions.

Say "Each of the students has his own room," not "have their own rooms."
The accent falls on the second syllable of adjoin and on the first syllable of soloun.
Since per cent is an abbreviation of "per centum," it is preferably followed by a period.

New Today in the Markets

TURKEYS, which have been selling in meat markets for 50 cents a pound, dropped yesterday to 45 cents. Yarnhill markets are still selling at 38 cents a pound. Eggs took a drop of two cents yesterday and top quality eggs are selling today at 56 cents wholesale. Stores are asking about 55 cents.

Some of the stores are showing good looking California mushrooms at $1.25 a pound. Alligator pears are $1 each and good looking bananas are selling at 15 cents a pound. Emperor and Malaga grapes are selling at 50 cents a pound.

Contributions to the relief fund, received yesterday by Treasurer Crawford, were as follows:

Women's Activities

"Christmas in Finneas's Flat" is the title of a most humorous play to be given in the auditorium of Sellwood school next Friday at 2:30 P. M. A strong cast of characters has been selected from the class that graduates in January and all are taking a lively interest in the rehearsals. The chorus work, under the supervision of Miss Lela Chase, is exceptionally good. The play is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association and directed by Mrs. Emma Richards.

Chapter E of the P. E. O. sisterhood will be entertained at its annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Vernon Wessler, 544 East Forty-sixth street North today. Luncheon will be served promptly at 1 o'clock. (Take Rose City Park car.)

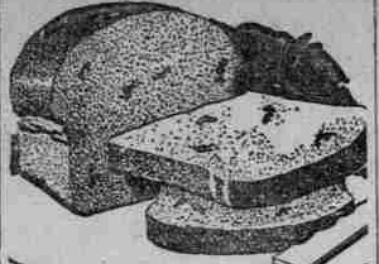

Woodstock W. C. T. U. will send its usual Christmas gifts of baskets to the county farm. All articles for these baskets should be taken to the home of Mrs. Tina Terry, Sixty-sixth avenue and Forty-fourth street.

Household Problems

ASTORIA, Or.—Dear Miss Tingle: How can I make cottage cheese out of a quart of milk? Have you a recipe for bean cookies using oatmeal and white flour? Thanking you. MRS. E. P. H.

COTTAGE CHEESE is made by heating sour, well-clabbered (but not stale-tasting) milk to about blood heat. This is best done in a double boiler, if a small quantity is used. Over heating will make the curd tough. Heat only long enough to have the whey separate, then hang up in a double cheesecloth bag and let drip.

The whey can be used like sour milk in making biscuits, cake or bread. The dripped curd should be
