PARK ON HEIGHTS ASKED.—Property owners on Portland Heights believe the time has come when the city of Portland should utilize some of its property in Council Crest park addition for park purposes. Yesterday a voluminous petition headed by Stanley Meyers, district attorney, was presented to the city council. This petition requested that block 19, Council Crest Park addition, be transformed into a park. Attention was called in the petition to the fact that the city now owns all but eight lots in this block and in addition has many lots for sale in the immediate vicinity of this property. The establishment of the park, it was said, would aid the city in disposing of its other heights property. The block in question contains approximately three acres.

MAN SUE FOR HOTEL BILL.—Evidence of the high cost of living in the hotel conducted by the Waldorf Astoria, Inc., in New York was introduced in circuit court yesterday through the filing of a suit for $589.14 against T. W. Harvey. The hotel corporation said it provided room and meals for Harvey between November 11, 1921, and February 25, 1922, for which he agreed and "reasonable" charges amounted to $1579.88. Of this amount Harvey was alleged to have paid only $589.14, leaving due the balance of nearly $1000, for which judgment is now sought. The figures showed that Harvey's hotel bill amounted almost to $500 a month.

Problems of Dressmaking

by Madam Rachel

WHITE SALMON. Wash, Dec. 14.—Dear Madam Rachel: I have a piece of blue English homespun, 59 inches wide and 55 inches long, like sample. Can you suggest a pattern and materials to make a dress of it?

PAULINE. Wash, Dec. 14.—The model whose general line I would have you copy shows a skirt requiring more material than you will have, but the two-piece will do equally well and with the close-cutting necessary you will have sufficient for the straps for the blouse trim. In combination with your attractive homespun I would have a wool jersey blouse in matching tone with the blue shown in the weave, the gray worsted forming the trimming element for the blouse. Please see the Butterick winter quarterly, page 21, No. 412.

With the amount of material in skirt your mother can make a new front for the blouse and have the connecting belt effect, which will once lengthen and trim the waistline. Combine with a warm sand canton crepe and embroidery with the plum worsted. The set-in sleeve cap can be used if the material on hand will not permit of the type shown. The model, which appears in the winter copy shows a skirt which will be very good for one of your mother's figure. With the suggestions here given you will have practical and attractive dresses for little expenditure.

PORTLAND, Dec. 8.—Dear Madam Rachel: As you have helped me so many others, I too, am coming to you for help. I have 2 1/2 yards of material like in the sample, which I wish to make into a dress. I want one of the long-waisted styles, just a plain dress for school. Could you suggest some color and material for trimming, as I have not quite enough material for collar, cuffs, etc.?

Would like a youthful color and do not wish to spend much more money on it.

I am nearly 15 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weigh 120 pounds, and have dark hair and eyes and complexion; good color.

Thanking you very much for your help I remain,

MAYFLOWER.

Mayflower—In giving the length of your material you omitted the width, which has much to do with the model chosen, and so should the selection herewith mentioned require more material than you should have. Write me again that I may send another plan. In the Butterick winter quarterly you will find, on page 35, No. 3710, a very pretty dress and one well suited to your needs. Have the straps and the Boys' Frank With Skunk Breaks Up Party.

Officer Detailed to Schoolhouse to Avert Recurrence.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 21.—The sad ending of a recent entertainment at the Baker school house, 12 miles north of here, today sponsored a Christmas programme to be held there tomorrow night to seek the protection of the sheriff's office in making the affair a success. The combination of a lusty skunk and several mischievous boys resulted in an unhappy state of affairs at the Halloween party given at the school several weeks ago. In order to prevent a similar raid on tomorrow's festival, Deputy Sheriff Ragus has been detailed to keep a sharp lookout for bad boys who are said to be planning to slip a pole cat under the school building.

The Halloween party had just gotten under way when the merry-makers began to notice a change in the atmosphere. An exotic aroma leading from the floor of the school building led many of the guests at the party to seek the fresh air. An investigation followed and several adventurous boys who crawled under the school house discovered a large skunk. The party was abandoned and the guests departed.

Broadcasting from KGW

GEORGE OLSEN and his orchestra of the Portland hotel can now present a formidable array of six saxophones, due to changes which took place in the organization this week and the addition of two new players. These are Billy Priest, banjo player and saxophonist, and Earl Peck, trombone player and saxophonist. The Olsen orchestra provides 45 minutes of radio entertainment in The Oregonian studio every Friday night.

Tonight's programme includes a wide variety of numbers, several of them repetitions of selections played last week, due to requests received during and after that concert. One of the features of the dance music programme is a selection to be played by the saxophone quartet consisting of Rico, Nuel, Henkel and Peck. This number, which includes orchestra parts, is "Crimoline Days," one that Mr. Olsen has not included in his former programmes.

The concert will be preceded by a series of solos by Bernarda Harry Henderson, soprano, assisted at the piano by George Olsen and his orchestra. Mrs. Henderson is a new singer for radio audiences and her delightful voice should prove an extremely welcome treat.

Sunday night's programme will combine harp and piano music. It is now two weeks since harp music was first introduced into radio programmes, and listeners declare they cannot get enough of it.

The programme has been arranged by Alice Genevieve Smith, the harpist who played the first harp solos in The Oregonian's studio. Miss Smith will be assisted by Miss Flora Grey, pianist, and two of her pupils, both harpists.

Flourie Stone of Vancouver, Wash., and Ruth Osborne of Portland, Bells also, will be used with the harps and piano and all of the music will be chosen for its suitability to Christmas time.

KGW is received with considerable volume in Grand Prairie, northern Alberta, according to a letter written by William Ames to S. R. Smith, a former resident of Grand Prairie, now in Portland.

Mr. Ames wrote that not long ago, while listening to a speech broadcast from one of the Vancouver, B. C., stations, a concert from KGW came "booming" in and drowned out the speech. The Vancouver station was but a couple of hundred miles away, while KGW was easily 1500. So strong were KGW's radiations, declared Mr. Ames, that they could not be "tuned" out. "While I desired to hear the speech, still the fine concert from Portland was greatly enjoyed by me," wrote the Canadian fan.

"Your concert last Sunday evening, December 17, was greatly enjoyed in the southland within 35 miles of the international boundary. Every note and spoken word came in clear and distinct," writes John A. Whitestone of San Marcos, Cal.

Gypsum, on Chicagooff Island, Alaska, is one of the most desolate places in the northern country during the winter months. It is only a tiny village grouped around a big quarry from which gypsum is taken. In winter there is little chance for amusement, and the fortunate enough to own a radio set.

A. G. Mosier considers himself fortunate, as he has an excellent receiving set installed in his cabin, and he receives your concerts with riages to each divorce of any city in the northwest, but when only Clarke county residents are considered the ratio is about one marriage for every divorce. Most of the divorces arising from Vancouver marriages are granted outside Clarke county.

Woman Prisoner Transferred.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, who is accused of having two husbands, has been brought to the Clark county jail for safe keeping during the transfer of the jail and courthouse from Kalama to Kelso. Mrs. Johnson's bail was fixed at $3000 and the Kelso jail was not considered safe. Mrs. Johnson was arrested at the request of her first husband.
