YULE JOY-GIVERS REACHING TO ALL

Salvation Army Will Hold Services for Prisoners.

HOMELESS TO BE FETED

Carols, Sermons, Exercises and Trees Feature Gaiety in Portland's Churches.

BY BEN HUR LAMPMAN.

The all-pervasive spirit of Christmas, that leaves no nook nor cranny unexplored, that will not rest content until it has achieved all possible happiness, is abroad in Portland—as attest the activities of a score of organizations, of dozens of churches, pledged to the service of the good Saint Nicholas.

If, in all the city, when Christmas dawns, there is one home where gladness has not penetrated, one lonely individual whose loneliness has not been banished for the Yule, it will not be the fault of the seekers. No, such a circumstance will exist for no other reason than that, search as they may, the emissaries of good will cannot hope to discover the last, least trace of neglect.

Churches Hold Exercises.

Last night, which marked really the pause before full-tide, was signalized in many churches by Christmas programmes, by carols and sermons and exercises and trees. For the time of Yule is so variously busied that forehanded folk think little of outwitting the calendar and making one day serve for another. Yet the greater part of Christmas observance will fall, as of right it should, on the day of days.

Foremost in the preparation for a real Christmas has been the public welfare bureau, which has collected contributions for substantial gifts to the needy, at its holiday bureau at Second and Stark streets, and which still awaits the eleventh-hour contribution.

But on equal footing in the field is the Salvation Army, which today will distribute 350 Christmas baskets, containing holiday provender for at least 1750 people, and which will conduct the special services in the city and county jails—where Christmas cannot be barred though men are held.

Homeless to Be Guests.

Indeed, the entire week will be celebrated in such practical manner by the Salvation army. On Tuesday, at the army citadel, the homeless men will be guests of the organization, and more than 300 are expected to congregate at that memorable dinner. On Thursday night the army will give a children's Christmas party, with a resplendent tree and sweets and gifts for at least 600 kiddies. And some of the gifts, be it known, will be of warm clothing and stout shoes.

On Christmas day there will be a tree at the Albertina Kerr nursery, with gifts for all the tiny wards—and with the Elks as patrons of this exclusive social affair. At Louise home, where 55 girls reside, there will be a banquet and a laden tree, and at Portland Commons there is to be offered such a dinner as even the great hotels cannot eclipse. And at all other homes and institutions of the city and state, or of private charity, the spirit of Christmas will gain admittance in much the same way and with identical benefactions.

Visits to Veterans Invited.

Invalid veterans of the world war, in government hospitals, are being well remembered by the American Legion, according to Harry N. Nelson, department adjutant, but it is urged that personal visits be paid them on Christmas day to mitigate the loneliness of their lot.

A committee of women, supervised by Mrs. C. A. Hoggatt, chairman of the American Legion auxiliary hospitalization unit, is busily engaged in preparing Christmas packages for the veterans in local and distant hospitals.

Christmas exercises, including a programme of recitations and songs, and a playlet, "Christmas in Fairyland," will be held at the Irvington club tonight at 7:30 o'clock with pupils of the Irvington kindergarten providing the entertainment. The cast for the playlet includes 36 tots from 4 to 6 years of age who will dance and sing and participate in the holiday spirit, which will terminate when Santa Claus appears and presents gifts to all. Parents and friends of the pupils have been invited to the affair, which is under the direction of Mrs. L. H. Peddycord.

Other Christmas entertainments and services on the local programme are:

Christmas celebration at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, with a programme given in the lobby under direction of J. W. Palmer.

Services and exercises tonight at the United Brethren church and at the Oddfellows' home.

Celebration tomorrow at Portland settlement center, when a tree will be displayed and gifts distributed to approximately 150 children.

RAIL PICKETS RELEASED

Judge Pardons Two Convicted of Violating Injunction.

Christmas spirit prevailed in United States court yesterday and Judge Charles E. Wolverton issued a pardon to George Scharman and Robert A. Green, sentenced to jail some time ago for contempt of court in violating the injunction against striking shopmen picketing the entrance to the O.-W. R. & N. shops at Albina. The railroad company agreed to the lifting of the sentence against the men.

Both were sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $100. Green became a nervous wreck after he entered the county jail and was transferred to the county hospital. The circumstances of Scharman, who is 60 years old, were also such as to move the judicial heart to compassion and the railroad company's attorney agreed that the two should be pardoned. They were released before noon yesterday.

ALSEA RESIDENTS FREED

Charges of Game Violations Dismissed; Evidence Lacking.

CORVALLIS, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—All the complaints against the Alsea residents charged with violating the state game laws were dismissed in Justice Minshall's court at Philomath today for lack of evidence. Complaints had been filed against Burl Tom and Elmer Pankey, and warrants were supposed to be on the way to Philomath from Lincoln county for the arrest of several others. They failed to materialize.

At the trial Deputy Sheriff Robinson became suspicious of the actions and the breath of one of the deputy wardens, F. A. McDaniels, and followed him out when McDaniels went to his car. He had a woman in the car named Mabel Moore. When asked by Robinson if he did not also have some whisky he denied the allegation, but resisted arrest. Robinson quickly jerked up McDaniels' overcoat and extracted a bottle of moonshine from his pocket. He was bound over to appear for trial Friday, January 5.

BANK BANDITS YET FREE

CHASE OF $200,000 ROBBERS IS FUTILE.

2 Detective Agencies Announce Definite Clews to Fugitives Have Been Found.

DENVER, Dec. 22.—Authorities tonight apparently are facing the same blank wall which confronted them in their investigation of Denver's federal reserve bank truck robbery before Thursday's night's wild chases over country roads in northern Colorado, supposedly on the heels of the four men blamed for the $200,000 theft and the shooting to death of Charles T. Linton, federal reserve bank guard, in a gun battle in front of the United States mint here Monday.

Tonight two detective agencies here said they had definite clews to the identity and probable location of the bandits. Rowland K. Goddard, operative in charge of federal secret service agents for the Colorado district, is absent on an unannounced mission which is being kept secret.

Chief of Police Williams of Denver, however, was inclined to doubt whether the automobile loads of Denver police officers were on the bandits' track Thursday and apparently believed the status of the man hunt is substantially the same as it was before Sheriff Hall of Jeeley sought the aid of local police yesterday.

POLICE DO LODGE WORK

Chief Jenkins and Tallest Officers at Masonic Ceremony.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Jenkins and 46 members of the Portland police force assisted in the initiatory work in the Masonic lodge at Junction City last night. Each member of the degree team, made up of Portland's finest, was over six feet tall and the men who flanked the candidate, Edward F. Bailey, representative-elect, were each six feet five inches tall. The Portland policemen came up in a special car and returned at an early hour this morning.

Delegations came from as far south as Roseburg, and from Albany, Harrisburg, Eugene and other Lane towns.

A turkey dinner was served before the ceremony and a sea food supper afterwards.

PRISON PROBE IS BEGUN

Governor-Elect Wants Penitentiary to Be Self-Supporting.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—Members of the Marion County Realtors' association, at a luncheon here yesterday, were told by Governor-elect Pierce that he had been investigating conditions at the Minnesota penitentiary in hope that the local prison may be placed on a self-supporting basis.

The Stillwater prison in Minnesota is one of the few institutions of its kind in the United States that does not require an appropriation from the state. Besides earning sufficient money for maintenance, the Minnesota prison turns over a large profit to the state.

Governor-elect Pierce made no comments with relation to the results of his investigations other than to declare that he is interested in the flax industry in this state.

3 DIE IN 521 ACCIDENTS

Of Total, 481 Are Subject to State Compensation Act.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—There were three fatalities in Oregon due to industrial accidents during the week ending December 21, according to a report prepared by the state industrial accident commission today. The victims were:

Edward Enneberg, chaser, Mist; Harry Ross, hooker donkey, Klamath Falls, and Thomas Richmond, manager, Gardiner.

Of the total of 521 accidents reported during the week 481 were subject to the provisions of the workmen's compensation law, 23 were from firms and corporations that have rejected the act and 17 from public utilities not subject to state protection.

BRIBE PAYMENT CHARGED

Attempt to Bring Liquor Up Columbia River Alleged.

An attempt to bring liquor from British Columbia up the Columbia river by bribing C. J. Knight, federal prohibition agent, was brought to light yesterday, following the arrest of J. A. Boyd. Boyd was charged with giving Knight $200 to allow a cargo of liquor to enter the Columbia and discharge at Astoria. Knight, it was said, agreed to the proposition, received the money, and then reported to Dr. J. A. Linnville, prohibition enforcement officer, and signed the complaint for Boyd's arrest.

Boyd was lodged in the county jail in default of $2500 bond.

BOND GUARANTEE ASKED

Middle Fork Irrigation District Makes Request at Salem.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—The Middle Fork irrigation district in Hood River county has requested the state engineer to guarantee the payment of interest on approximately $90,000 of bonds voted for the improvement of this project. The district contains 7570 acres of land, and the assessed valuation is $2,000,000.

The money to be derived from the sale of the bonds will be used to purchase the rights of the Middle Fork Irrigation company, which has operated in Hood River county for several years.

HAYWOOD BONDS TAKEN

Government Claims $15,000 for Runaway of "Big Bill."

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The United States was enriched to the extent of $15,000 today through the flight to Russia two years ago of William D. Haywood, I. W. W. leader, who was under prison sentence at the time. The money represented the amount of the bonds of Haywood and was paid by William Bross Lloyd, wealthy communist recently released from Joliet prison after his sentence for violation of the anti-syndicalism law had been commuted, and Otto Christiansen, attorney for Haywood.

The $5000 bonds for Charles Rothfisher, another I. W. W., now in Hungary, were also paid. Payment of the bonds, however, it was pointed out, does not mean that either of the men can escape arrest should they return to America.

Students Enjoy Christmas.

IMBLER, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special.)—Sixty high school students gathered in the high school auditorium last night to make merry around a Christmas tree all their own. Students and faculty joined in the celebration and gifts were distributed. A good programme was given by the students and spirited games followed the visit of Santa Claus.

HUNTER FACES CHARGES

Anacortes Man Accused of Shooting Ducks From Power Boat.

For violating the federal game laws, Bert Jones of Anacortes, Wash., who was arrested recently following an investigation by Federal Game Warden Steele and J. W. Kinney, game supervisor for the state of Washington, will probably lose by confiscation his $2500-power boat and pay a substantial fine as well. Jones was charged with shooting ducks from a power boat, and was arrested in Puget sound. After a consideration of the available evidence by Steele and Kinney, His case will be filed with the Washington, D. C., authorities and in due time will be called before a federal court for trial.

A maximum penalty in addition to the confiscation of Jone's boat, will be asked, Steele stated yesterday.
