Genocide suit filed

A suit filed in the Superior Court of the State Of California charges the district attorney and sheriff of Los Angeles County and the police chief of the City of Los Angeles with participating in a plan of genocide against Chicanos.

The suit was filed jointly by an unincorporated Chicano group called the Barrio Defense Committee and by 58 individual Mexican-Americans who say they were discriminated against and brutalized because of their race.

The suit contends that the alleged discrimination and brutality are part of a design to shorten or diminish the lives of all Mexican American people in the Los Angeles area and that by the definition of genocide established at the Nuremberg Trials, such a design is genocide.

Also named as defendants are "DOES I through M" -- persons "not now known to the plaintiffs."
