Providence Hospital honors Nursing students

Nursing students from four area educational institutions were honored at a Breakfast Fair, Thursday morning, November 4, by the nursing service department of Providence Hospital. One hundred fourteen student nurses from Clackamas Community College and the University of Portland, all who rotate through Providence Hospital for their clinical nursing work, were guests at the breakfast. Special guests included the deans and instructors from the schools of nursing and the hospital's administrators, department directors and supervisors.

Mrs. Ruth Williams, associate director of nursing service at Providence and chairman of the Breakfast Fair, emphasized the growing importance of the community hospital as a clinical training resource in the education of student nurses.

City club continue ban against women

The proposed amendment which would have changed Section 1a of Article II of the City Club Constitution by substituting the word "persons" for "men" to admit women to membership, failed at the October 29th meeting by 55 votes to reach the required two-thirds majority.

The amendment was proposed in a report by the Board of Governors published to the membership in the October 22nd issue of the Club's Bulletin. A majority of 10 of the Governors endorsed the change; 2 opposed it.

Kenneth S. Klarquist, City Club president, made the majority's presentation; Don Chapman spoke for the minority. Present at the special members-only meeting were 483 members. The two-thirds rule required 322 voting in favor of the amendment. The volunteer counting staff furnished by Arthur Young & Co. counted 267 "Yes" ballots.

An earlier vote on a similar proposal on January 8, 1971 resulted in less than a majority favoring the change; 135 "Yes" 139 "No".

POW answers

This is the statement of Politically Oriented Women (POW), the organization which has led the fight for sexual integration of the Portland City Club, on the Club's vote to continue its policy of discrimination against women.

The City Club has now lost any claim to a leadership role in community matters and has surrendered any pretensions to being considered the "conscience of the city". The Club may exist for a few more years, but it will soon become merely a luncheon group for complacent old men of all ages.

We are disappointed that a minority of the membership rejected a motion by the Club's Board of Governors advocating admission of women members. This minority action keeps the entire Club on record as regarding women as the intellectual and political inferiors of men.

Moreover, we are appalled at the level of debate used by those opposed to women members. The principal arguments for continued exclusion of women were based on the most blatant ridicule of women as a group and treated the whole issue of equal opportunity for women as a mere joke. We are even more appalled that nearly half of the Club members present accepted this demeaning view of women and were amused by the presentation, which was liberally strewn with juvenile bathroom humor.

What would have happened if the same degrading arguments had been employed against black or Jewish men wishing to join the City Club, and if blacks and Jews had been thereby excluded? We are certain that there would have been a mass walkout, and that every Oregon public official would feel obliged to resign from the Club.

We, as women, are letting Club members, particularly public officials, know that we expect the same concern and respect from them as do racial and religious minorities in our state.

Politically Oriented Women, therefore, proposes the following action program for our members and for all supporters of equality for women:

- 1) Ask that all members of the City Club, particularly public officials, who profess belief in the equality of women, to give more than lip service to this principle and to resign immediately.
- 2) Refuse to campaign for or support any public official who speaks at the City Club.
- 3) Refuse to campaign for or support any public official, who in the past year, has crossed our picket lines to speak before the segregated Club. These officials have significantly contributed to the idea that the issue of sex discrimination is not a serious one and have, thereby, influenced the outcome of the recent vote.

- 4) Continue to request national, state, and local public officials not to speak at the City Club, and to retain the option to picket those public officials who ignore the request.
- 5) Specifically request the resignation from the Club of its president-elect, United States Attorney for Oregon, Sidney Lezak.

PSU Dance NAACP Symposium launches Seal drive

Registration is now open for the Northwest Dance Symposium to be hosted by Portland State University November 18-20.

The Symposium will feature the Bella Lewitzky Dance Company of Los Angeles as well as special teachers in filming, video tape, folk dance and gymnastics.

Any teacher, high school or college student in the Pacific Northwest is invited to participate. All twenty classes offered are open to beginners with the exception of advanced modern dance.

Miss Lewitzky, who has been described in the SATURDAY REVIEW as "an American dance legend" and seven members of her company, will present a public lecture-demonstration November 20.

To register, contact Mrs. Maranee Rhea, assistant professor of dance, department of health and physical education.

Happy passengers board the bus for trip to the parking lot.

School. This is her first job since her marriage and she enjoys it very much. Mrs. Martin was somewhat hesitant about working at the airport because there are few blacks employed there and she was not sure how well she would be treated. She was welcomed cordially, however, and her customers and fellow employees are friendly. Mrs. Martin likes the work, especially her contacts with people, and said her husband is proud of her accomplishment.
