

Gymnastic demonstration given by Brother and Sister team at Bethel CDC

Basic gymnastics you may say, however, it requires skill and training. Left, beautiful Jan Lynn, teacher at Bethel Child Development Center demonstrates that females can be very strong too.

Flying through the air like a lark Jan Lynn does a handstand with her brother.

Pansy Stewart, one of the thirty children that attends Bethel Child Development Center shouts, "look at me no hands!" "I wish mother could see me now!"

Wishing the best Christmas ever to all our friends. Happy holidays!

David Stevenson from British Columbia, Canada, the twin brother of Bethel Child Development Staff member Janet Lynn, gave a demonstration of gymnastic stunts assisted by his sister. The demonstration included simple balances in which the children could take part.

Janet and David have performed as a team since high school and both worked with the gymnastic team at Argenta Friends School in British Columbia. They have performed in major cities in Eastern British Columbia and have demonstrated for the Pacific Western Gymnastic Competition.

David, who was here on vacation, is engaged in studies on construction of log cabins. He stated that he enjoyed visiting and working with the children at Bethel.

Don Martin of the AIC staff hired Powell as a Human Resources Aide for the AIC office and he worked under Martin until July 12, 1971 when Seufert, working with Martin, hired Powell under the New Careers Program to work in the Southeast OSE office.

Powell spends 28 hours each week in the office interviewing applicants, referring them to employers and developing work situations for particular applicants. He attends Mt. Hood Community College for 12 classroom hours each week and is working toward an academic degree in psychology and sociology with the goal of working with people in their vocational endeavor.

When asked about his acceptance into this world of work (which is both frustrating and rewarding), and education, he says, "I enjoy my work, I am challenged by my studies and I am trying to do my job." He finds that his working peers respect his ability and perception of the problems of unemployment. They kid him a lot, but they are genuinely interested in his success, for they are in part responsible for his awareness of duties. About his manager, "Mr. Seufert has encouraged me and made it possible for me to have this opportunity." He has "a friend" in Carl Rawe at Mt. Hood Community College who he feels he can communicate with without any barriers.

Without many people inside the structure of the Oregon State Employment Agency he feels that the programs would never have been known to him or he might not have ventured into the unknown world of the establishment.

The positive things that Powell has to say about his association with those he has met along his introduction to the OSEA far overshadow any comment of criticism.

"Nothing is perfect, but for now, I am satisfied that Rich Seufert and those responsible for my being here are outstanding human beings and I hope to be as capable as they."

Action to take place during the final 6 months of the action year ending June 30, 1972 will center on the housing rehabilitation, with some traffic signals installed, work on park design in Alberta Park, and street trees to be planted in the target area of the neighborhood.

Federal approval would allocate some $200,000 for the neighborhood for the six month period.
