REP. WALLY PRIESTLEY

Now that the legislature has passed the Governor's Tax Plan, with the election set for May 1, it is turning towards other issues. On Monday of this week the House of Representatives passed a Shield Bill for the protection of newsgatherers. This measure will allow the press to investigate matters of public concern without the same fear that existed that some representative of the establishment would persecute the reporter for his zeal. Wally Priestley voted for this bill, and also gave it support through the committee process. "This is only the first step in protecting persons from a rapacious authority where that authority is threatened by their investigations. A first step in returning society to the control of the people instead of the reverse which is the present state of affairs."

Representative Priestley, in his capacity as a member of the House Committee on Labor and Industry, is attending hearings on the log export bill in Coos Bay this week. His findings are that it appears that the large timber interests are attempting to rape the Northwest of all of its first grade timber, move on to greener ground, and leave ourselves with a deforested wasteland. All steps must be taken, he believes, to prevent this from happening, and the first step in this regard is to bring these facts to a high level of public awareness.

The Federal Government has dismissed the phony charges against the five young people who were arrested in Bend last week, while purportedly taking clothes and food to needy Native Americans in Wounded Knee, South Dakota. A Hearing has been scheduled before the House Committee on Transportation to determine if the State Police acted within their authority in this matter. Representative Priestley is a member of this Committee and pushed for this hearing. It is a sorry day when the good will expressed by the conduct of the "Bend Five", is met by such unlicensed and brutal conduct as that of the government in this affair.

Avenue store; we've spruced up the outside, remodeled and modernized the sales areas.

"Also through growing social contacts in our community, a sensitivity has developed in our company that Yes, we are indeed our brother's keeper. Yes, it does matter to me whether a young man goes to jail for shoplifting. Yes, I must promote, recognizing merit over color. Yes, I must implement minority hiring -- seek it -- train it -- even prepare to lose it to a more lucrative position elsewhere -- mutually enjoying that step up the ladder of someone else's personal success and self pride. Yes, increase to the tax limits our charitable gifts -- considering it an area of opportunity rather than another business expense."

The ceremony Friday was arranged by Henderson and Williams as a show of community support for Lampus' decision and as a symbol to other Albina merchants that the people of the community expect the companies where they do business to become involved in the community.
