Concert benefits youth

The familiar melodies of Jerome Kern will be featured in a special benefit Pops Concert on March 8 by the Oregon Symphony Orchestra and the Norman Leyden Singers with soloists Joan and William Winden and Marilyn Kinkaid.

Songs like "Lovely to Look At", "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes", and "Mountain Greenery" will be among the well-remembered classics which will be performed on the Civic Auditorium stage beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The regular Pops Concert series tickets have been sold out since last fall and the benefit makes it possible for those unable to get them then to hear the Jerome Kern Night program. Proceeds from the benefit will go to Young Audiences of Portland, Inc., the nonprofit organization which takes the performing arts into a classroom to make informal presentations of dance and music to youngsters.

Social work month draws experts

National Social Work Month in March gets under way in Oregon with a one-day institute for social workers Monday, March 4th, at the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center of the University of Oregon Medical School, 707 S.W. Gaines Road.

The institute is sponsored by the Oregon Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers and will draw several hundred social workers from throughout the state.

Family crisis is the topic of the morning session, which will feature Mrs. Shirley Cooper, director of social work at Mt. Zion Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco. At Mt. Zion, Mrs. Cooper directs a program, funded by the National Institute of Health, to train social workers, psychologists and physicians in mental health and family crisis.

She is also president-elect of the American Orthopsychiatric Association, an organization of medical doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and social scientists who work in inter-disciplinary settings.

Dr. Jerome Cohen, professor and director of research at the School of Social Work at UCLA, will speak at the afternoon session on the future directions of social work.

Dr. Cohen is a member of the House of Delegates of the Council on Social Work Education and a member of the National Board of Directors of the National Association of Social Workers.

National theme of social work month is "Professional Social Work - Accepting the Challenges of Life".

Chairperson of the institute is Norma Nelson, director of the Maternal and Child Health Care Project in the School of Social Work at Portland State University. John Hale, an assistant professor of social work at PSU and the UOMS, is president of the Oregon chapter of NASW.

Sixth Avenue, Portland, Oregon at 2:00 p.m., March 20, 1974 for the purpose of considering a project for which financial assistance is being sought from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, pursuant to the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, generally described as follows:

The project consists of the engineering design and construction of the Fifth-Sixth Avenue Transit Mall. The Transit Mall will be located in Portland, Oregon and will require reconstructing S.W. Fifth and Sixth Avenues between W. Burnside and S.W. Madison Street to provide widened sidewalks, landscaping and street furniture and special traffic lanes to accommodate mass transit patrons and vehicles.

The estimated cost of the project is $12,993,585. Federal participation will be $10,394,868 and the local share will be $2,598,717 allocated from the funds collected by employer payroll taxes.

No person, families or businesses will be displaced by this project. The project will have a significant impact upon the urban area. The project is in conformity with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in this area. The project is currently under review by the A-95 clearinghouse. The design of the facility takes into consideration the special needs of the elderly and physically handicapped persons.

At the hearing Tri-Met will afford an opportunity for interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit oral or written evidence and recommendations with respect to the project.

A copy of the application for a Federal grant for the project, together with an environmental impact analysis and the transit development plan for the area, is available for public inspection at the Tri-Met office, 4314 S.E. 17th Avenue, Portland, Oregon.
