THE ORIGINALS ***

Lonnie Bates, George Tribble and I were out the other night, so we decided to stop by the "Down Stairs Lounge" and check out the "Originals" who opened the night before. The group, consisting of: Tye Hunter, Walter Gaines, Hank Dixon, Freddy Borman and the exciting Cannonball Express Band had their act totally together.

The Originals, who are no stranger to the spotlight, have been together for six years. They've already had two "Million Dollar" sellers -- "The Bells" and "Baby I'm For Real." They also sang: "If I Ever Loose This Heaven," "We Can Make It Baby," "Disco Lady," "Engine Engine #9," and a host of other hit tunes. They offer the audience: a varied selection of tunes, good footwork, neat appearances and originality. A combination that is inevitable in todays music industry, and the Originals got it!!!

THE PONTENTATE BALL ***

One of the major community functions that a lot of people look forward to each year is the Annual Potentate Ball, sponsored by "the Masons." This year it was given at the Airtel Motor Inn. This organization is unquestionably one of the strongest in the nation. They are undaunted in support of one another, as exemplified at the ball Saturday night. I would venture to say a third of the comfortably seated participants were from Seattle and Tacoma, Washington. An exchange of support that has been going on for years, according to John Blow, a Portland Mason.

The five piece band, known as the M and M's, provided the footstomping music for the evening. They even went back to the 50's and played a classic, "The Honky Tonk," which had the dance floor packed in a matter of seconds. Both the ladies and gentlemen who attended the affair were handsomely attired. The entire evening was a sheer delight -- the people were friendly, the music was good, the atmosphere was classy and I had a ball.

ART ON A SUNDAY AFTERNOON ***

I've always had a special attraction for the "Albina Art Center". Not just because I served on the board temporarily and did assist in making a few improvements, but more importantly, the Albina Art Center is a forum for talented artists, musicians, sculptors, actors, poets and other interests that deal mainly in the arts.

The Art Center, under the directorship of Clarence Wood, has stabilized itself and is obviously on the upswing. The "Art Show" Sunday was a good indication of the continuous support the Art Center is getting these days - both in and out of the community. There was a cross section of supporters on hand to view the work of: Charles Tatum, sculptor and Isaac Nommo, painter. Both Tatum and Nommo are very talented artists. I particularly liked "The Lady", a wood carving by Tatum, that showed excellent detail. Along with: "My Fathers Hands" by Nommo that blends color, composition and imagination into one. The talented Ms. Azzree Lathan added the touch of class to the evening, by providing the African decor and arrangements. Along with: Ms. Virginia Roberts, Ms. Jean Wakefield, Ms. Audry Lathan, Ms. Parker and Ms. Grayce Baldwin, they provided the homemade cakes, pies, salads, meats and a warm hand of hospitality. I don't know when I've had a more relating Sunday afternoon of Art and hospitality. Thanks for inviting me, it was cooooool.

L.T.O. CLUB .

With all of the social clubs around, there is no reason why they can't set up a meeting with a couple of people from each club and plan a calender together. In this way, they won't have conflicting dates on social affairs that they are planning.

The L.T.O. Club also had a dance Saturday night at the Elks Lodge. L.T.O. stands for Louisiana, Texas and Oregon. In spite of the small crowd, everybody was in a party mood, and that's just what they did - party. But when you have a band like the "West Coast Sound Assembly" it's quite understandable. Having gone to two functions prior to going there, I just ran out of steam. But regardless, everyone was having fun and that's the name of the game. Right? Right!!!

I met three charming and provocative women at the Potentate Ball, who came down from Seattle. To Millie Adams, Mary Miller and Dorothy Eichelberger, I dedicate this weeks column to you. It was a pleasure meeting you all.

John Graham is a Manager Trainee at Zale's Jewelry. Graham has been an employee of Zale's for a year and has worked himself up to this position.

"Without a doubt, Zale's is an equal opportunity employer," Graham says. "The door is wide open for any wide-awake, alert individual."

Graham states that he is concerned that more Black people shop Zale's since their business is sought by the management. The Observer congratulates Mr. Graham and Zale's and encourages our readers to patronize Zale's. 'We must spend our money only when we are also allowed to work."
