

New Navy Coach, Charles Brown, shown uniting his team.

Senior teams well matched

by Ron Sykes

Irving Park Senior League

After three weeks of playing, all six teams are very much alive in the run for the first half championship. Charles Brown's, New Navy team made a strong run at dominating the league, until they were side tracked, and lost to Portland Valve, 4-3, in a very tough game played last Saturday.

Most followers of Senior League at Irving had all but conceded the crown to Brown's New Navy team. Whenever anyone talked of Championship - it was always New Navy's name that was mentioned! One thing that is apparent this year - there will be no running away. Last year two teams dominated, but it's a different year and different managers and that I think will make the job tougher.

This year the team managers and coaches are doing a more thorough job in preparing their teams, this is good for the league, but most of all for the kids.

As a result we are seeing baseball played as it should be played; we are seeing the hit and run, squeeze plays, and it's really exciting for the fans. So all of you that want a little free entertainment, just come out to the park this Saturday and watch the kids.

SENIOR LEAGUE SCHEDULE

May 22 (Saturday)

11:00 - Harder Meech vs. McDonalds

2:00 - Union Avenue Boosters vs. Portland Valve

5:00 - New Navy vs. Pacific Northwest Bell

Unity in the community -- in baseball at Irving Park. What better way to spend a Saturday afternoon.

Howard Jenkins, PNB All-Star shortstop, fresh from an impressive season at Jefferson, playing both Frosh and J.V. baseball, is currently one of the hottest hitters in Senior League play at Irving Park. Howard is currently batting over .400 and fielding everything in sight.

NBA - ISSUE

Oh well, it seems like Coach Al Attles has been snubbed again by the news media (those who vote for manager of the year). Last year, a supposed building year for Golden State, ended up as a Championship year and still Attles was overlooked. All he did was take a team that was picked for last in their division and as we all know by now won the whole thing. Al Attles may go through his years as coach without ever being honored, but his impact on the game is a most significant one. He has revolutionized professional basketball, and most winning teams are adopting his tactics. Last year and this year Coach Attles was denied an honor shot he should have won hands down.

A rather weak reason to vote Yes on 5.

Mrs. Edith Alden, shut-in.

Weakened by chronic arthritis, her only source of enjoyment is books. Brought to her bedside by Multnomah County Library, as part of their special service to homes and institutions.

A service that, without your help, may soon be eliminated.

If you vote Yes, this and all Multnomah County Library services will be maintained as they currently are, thanks to a $2.2 million levy. At a cost of $1000 of your assessed property value. That's only $9.30 a year for a $30,000 home. And it's just for three years.

Vote No, and drastic cutbacks will be made. 15 of our 17 libraries will be closed. 123 people will be laid off. The Central Library will be open 5 days instead of 6. Children story time sessions will be discontinued. The four bookmobiles will be stopped. Film loan programs will be cancelled.

And, perhaps worst of all, book delivery to some 55,000 people like Edith will be terminated. That will hurt. So this Tuesday, when you reach measure 5 on your ballot, please consider the old and the weak. They're one of the strongest reasons to vote Yes.

Don't close the book on our libraries.
VOTE YES ON 5. PLEASE.
