THE MAD HATTERS BALL ***

The Mad Hatters Ball is an annual affair given by the Urban League of Portland. This annual event is held each year to raise funds for the organization's continuance in fighting: unemployment, unskilled and uneducated minorities. Not only in Portland, but throughout America.

Urban League Director, James Brooks, along with Jeri Ward, the Urban Leagues Guild President deemed the affair "successful." Both the ladies and gentlemen who attended were smartly dressed. Attending as many social functions as I, you can generally tell whether or not the people in attendance are warm or a little cool. The atmosphere at the Mad Hatters Ball was warm and friendly, just the way I like it.

George Lawson and his band provided the music for the evening and as usual were right up to par. Going all the way back, and bringing it right down front. Al Jamison, a good buddy of mine, was the MC and handled the show quite smoothly. A $500 Hamilton fur was auctioned off to Nate Jones for a mere $385, with lovely Cora Smith wrapped inside. Need I say Cora didn't go with it. If so, the bidding would still be going on!

Cora Smith, downtown business woman, also coordinated the show. The Mad Hatters consisted of: Berla Woods, Berna Plummer, Merla Matthews, Alice Robinson, Fannie Morrison, La Norma Norris, Edna Baskins and Sue Childs. For the most part, the hats were cent-red around the Bicentennial, in color and were all very creative. After the judging the four finalists were: Edna Baskins, Sue Childs, Alice Robinson and Verla Woods, this year's winner of the Mad Hatters Ball. The total evening was thoroughly enjoyable. Congratulations Mrs. Woods - hats off to you!

The method must include the creation of a directory of qualified minority firms (including information on the areas of specialization of these firms, bid bond capabilities and any other information of interest to general contractors). The respondent will also be responsible for compiling and distributing to minority contractors a list of major publicly funded projects in the City (including the anticipated time of bidding, the dollar amount and the responsible governmental organization).

2. The second general area of responsibility is referral of minority contractors to existing sources of assistance. This would include compilation of the types of assistance available from such sources as SBA, SCORE, OMBI, etc. as well as specific referrals and responsibility for followup on specific problems encountered by minority firms.

3. The third area of responsibility is to assist local, private and public businesses, industries or agencies develop EEOC and MBE Programs as required for receipt of Federal Funds. This assistance should be limited initially to review and comment. Upon completion of developing the EEOC Program its activities should be one of assisting in implementing the EEOC or MBE Program.

4. Requirements would include monthly financial reporting, specific reporting of jobs obtained (by type, dollar amount and the name of the contracting firm selected), and reporting on the status of referrals (including adequate followup on referrals from previous months).

5. The program is required to become financially self sustaining at the end of 24 months. Consideration for any funding for fiscal year 1977-78 will be contingent upon the applicant's ability to become at least 50% financially self-sustaining by July 1, 1977.

This program may be reviewed and funding terminated at any time for substantial lack of progress or non-performance.

All proposals will be evaluated by a screening committee. Personal interviews will be conducted on at least three proposals after screening.

Interested parties should respond by June 21st to the Office of Planning and Development, Room 406, City Hall, 1220 S.W. 5th Avenue.

"WE ARE MAKING OUR NEIGHBORHOOD A BROTHERHOOD"

Employment Service

Question: What does the Oregon Employment Division law say about individuals receiving unemployment insurance benefits and at the same time benefits from a retirement plan, either governmental or private.

Answer: By law, individuals claiming unemployment insurance benefits in Oregon are required to report any pension or retirement payment which they are receiving or will receive. If the payment is from a retirement plan sponsored by or participated in by a base-year employer of the individual, it is deductible. The monthly payment of retirement pay is prorated to a weekly share. If the weekly share is more than the individual's weekly unemployment insurance benefit amount, no benefits are payable. If the weekly share is less than the weekly U.I. benefit amount, it is deducted on a dollar-for-dollar basis. Payments of old age insurance under the Social Security Act are not deductible.

KBOO 90.7, listener-sponsored non-commercial radio, announces a new program of Black Gospel music beginning Sunday, June 6th. The show, hosted by George Fitz, will be aired from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. every Sunday. Many lesser-known choirs and quartets, some of whom are local, will be heard, as well as the well-known and loved greats of gospel.
