

Commissioner Charles Jordan toured the Kelly Point Youth Project Friday. Interviewed by Rhonda Barton and Gary Beck of Channel 12 news, and a practiced swing, above. The work goes on, pulling vines and blackberries. (Photo: Don Long)

Kelly Point is managed by the Port of Portland and Portland Public School's CATCH Program. Funds are provided through the City's Department of Human Resources, Youth Career Training Program. The young people have worked for four weeks to build the facility and will continue to manage it. The work experience consists of building a walking trail and four observation-feeding areas. The trail is level and lined so that elderly and handicapped people can use the new facility.
