MEL ELLISON QUARTET ***

Mel Ellison and his very talented quartet rolled into Portland a few weeks ago. Since then, the Helm has been busy finding proper seating to accommodate the customers. Ellison had been based in San Francisco since childhood. It's surprising that I had never heard of them prior to their engagement at Ray's Helm Club. One thing for sure, I won't forget them anytime soon.

They are accomplished musicians who blend very well together. The fortunate thing about remaining with one group of musicians over a period of time is the timing, harmony and style that they eventually create among themselves. Often the musicians cannot fully explain why or how a certain innovation came about. In the case of the Mel Ellison Quartet, he summed it up in one word - practice! Listening to them play, it is obvious that they've had a lot of it. Chuck Medcalf is on bass, Dan Dillon on piano, Robert Freeberg is on drums and leader of the group, Mel Ellison, is on tenor saxophone. Collectively, they have a very good sound. I think as they gradually move around the country and expose their talents, the more receptive their audiences will be and the more popular they will become. It is necessary that groups such as this expose themselves to a conglomeration of people around the country. That "Star Status" they have worked so hard for through the years can so easily become a shooting star.

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN ENTERTAINMENT

Tough roads ahead for the record business. The Reverend Jesse Jackson's PUSH is planning a drive against pop tunes with "suggestive" lyrics, so-called "sex rock". Such tunes as "The More You Do It", "It's All Right to Make Love on the First Night", and "Shake Your Booty", were given as examples. And two women's groups have joined to warn of a boycott unless LP covers stop depicting women as victims of sexual and other violence. Cited labels included A&O, Atlantic, Asylum, Elektra, Nonesuch, Reprise and Warner Bros.

Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton proclaimed Sunday, December 12, "Melba Moore Day", as the high spirited singer gave a one woman performance at the Metropolitan Opera House, under the production of Danny O'Donovan and "Big Blue Marble". Incidentally, critics say "Melba", her new Buddha album, should be a big record seller as produced by Van McCoy and Charles Kippis.

Note: December 31st Jewelias will present the Drifters. If you missed them earlier this year at the Ramada Inn, don't miss them now!

Pearls from the Poet

by Ulysses Marshall

EYES

Interpreters of the soul
What secrets they hold
They know the part that remains untold in other souls.

Integrated spheres
which cry invisible tears
and smile unseen smiles.

Inhabited slits
which patrol for the soul
and check out all those other inhabited souls.

Fenced in behind flesh and hair
They do a dance
As the inner self remains in a trance.

WITH JESUS' BIRTH

With Jesus' birth he have us hope
With Jesus' birth man had a second chance.
With Jesus' birth God showed us how much he cared.
With Jesus' birth He gave us a chance for eternal life.
With your life do good, serve God.
The reward is much more meaningful.
