

The Boise Neighborhood Association met in Unthank Park last week to discuss planning for redevelopment of the playground area. Although the City removed the more dangerous structures this spring, many concrete walks, walls and play area remain. In the background are temporary swings installed for this summer's use.

Between $100,000 and $150,000 will be spent on park improvements. Recently named planner, who will work with the Neighborhood Association, is Donald Stastny of Architects Atelier/Northwest.

Commissioner Charles Jordan takes advantage of Neighborfair to discuss the Talking Drum Bookstore's selection of books on Black history and culture with Bob Phillips.

Residents of all ages enjoyed the music of Thara Memory while they celebrated Boise Neighborhood Cleanup with watermelon, pop, oranges, potato chips and other refreshments.

Nuclear protests planned

The Trojan Decommissioning Alliance will hold its third occupation of the Trojan nuclear plant beginning August 6th. The non-violent act of civil disobedience, in the tradition of Ghandi and Martin Luther King, is an effort to bring the public attention to the nuclear risks. The occupation will be preceded with a Hiroshimi Day "Rally for Survival" on Saturday, August 5th, at noon, at Waterfront Park. The Fellowship of Reconciliation will hold an anti-war/anti-nuke poetry reading at the Waterfront Park boat landing at 9:30 a.m. During the Trojan occupation, a vigil will be held in front of the PGE offices. FOR will also sponsor workshop/discussion groups at the Postal Building, S.W. 3rd and Washington, at 7:30 p.m. August 7th — "Hiroshima to Trojan"; August 8th — "The Nukes are Costing You Plenty"; August 9th — "The Nukes and Your Health". On August 9th, thirty-three years after the bombing of Nagasaki, a "die-in" will be held at Schunk Plaza, between the Federal Building and City Hall. On each day, August 6th through 9th, members of the Trojan Decommissioning Alliance will move to block the gates to the Trojan plant. All persons who participate in this action, which in the past has led to their arrest, must take part in training in non-violence. Workshops are held on Saturdays and Mondays (231-0014).
