

Curtis Ramsey failed to gain the Northwest Welterweight crown in his ten-round bout with undefeated Alan Webb. The match was called a draw, with only the referee giving Ramsey the edge. A rematch will be scheduled.

Job injured's rights explored

Pacific Northwest Labor College is conducting a workshop on "The Rights of Injured Workers Under Oregon's Workers' Compensation Law." The program will be presented beginning at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, February 3rd at the IWA Hall, 933 N.W. Bond Street, Bend. The workshop is expected to end at about 5:00 p.m.

The workshop is designed to be of special value to officials of labor organizations who deal with workers' compensation problems and to injured workers and their spouses. Since injury is a family affair, a special husband-wife fee has been set.

The fees for attendance at the workshop are $10 for individuals and $12.50 for husbands and wives. For further information contact Pacific Northwest Labor College at Marylhurst, Oregon 97036 or by calling 1/245-1315.

Pacific Northwest Labor College (PNLC) is a labor research and workers education institution founded, controlled and operated by officers and members of labor organizations. Since its chartering in April 1977, PNLC has provided workers education programs which have attracted people from Alaska, California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, and Washington — even as far away as Washington, D.C.

While courses and workshops are intended particularly for members of labor organizations, such membership is not a requirement for attendance at the educational programs.

car and took from the trunk a rifle that had been there when he purchased the car. He went back into the store to hold the men until the police arrived. The prosecutor charges that Williams intended to shoot Morrison because the racist threat "hurt your Black pride".

While Williams was holding the gun on Morrison, Morrison came toward him and Williams struck out at him with the rifle but did not hit him. Morrison jumped toward Williams, again with the knife in his hand. Williams testified that he did not remember pulling the trigger but the gun went off.

Other witnesses basically substantiated William's testimony. Gary Paugh testified that he and Morrison had been drinking before going to the donut shop for a coke to use for mixer, that Morrison hated Blacks and that he made the remark to antagonize Williams. Lonnie Farber, of Esco, testified that Morrison wore the knife to work and had a swastika tattooed on his ankle.

Javita Rivers, the waitress who saw most of the incident, said that after Williams returned with the gun she heard someone say, "Sit down and shut up." She saw Morrison "lunge" at Williams before the shot was fired.

Mrs. Alzena DeDeleveaux entertained Mr. and Mrs. Badie Bowns, relatives from Calgary, Canada January 14th.

The reactionary members of the Portland School Board who rejected cross-busing on the grounds that they cannot mandatorily bus white children, but plan to increase the mandatory busing of Black children had the unmitigating gall to speak about the ideas of Dr. Martin Luther King.

School Board member Evelyn Crowell didn't improve her image when she voted for Jonathan Newman's "nothing" desegregation resolution.

The Reverend John Jackson, outgoing president of the Portland Chapter of the NAACP said that the NAACP National Convention had just as much right to come to Portland to inspire 20,000 Blacks as it did to inspire cities of 200,000 Blacks.

Mr. Lucious Hicks in his acceptance of President of the Portland Branch of the NAACP said that the number one policy of the NAACP is to uphold the Supreme Court Decision of 1954 and the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Mrs. Cassie Lee Benjamin escaped Portland's ice storm. She was visiting in warm San Francisco.

Arthur Mitkin, an expert on motivating employees, asserts that recognition by the boss, the opportunity to participate in management decisions, and a feeling that one's work is useful, are more important in motivating employees than is salary or job security.

Looking For Good Employees? WE'RE LOOKING FOR GOOD EMPLOYERS

is a non-profit agency dedicated to finding qualified Vietnam-era veterans to fill your personnel needs.

No fee, no forms, and no flood of applicants.

Training Costs Too High?

Here is some help for your company. It's called the HIRE II program. Under HIRE II, your company can be reimbursed for up to one-half of what it costs to train a veteran. You both win; you have gained a productive employee at an acceptable cost to your company, and the veteran has gained valuable skills. INTERESTED?
