For those of you who don't go to fashion shows because the models aren't shaped like anyone you know, you should have gone to the Holiday Inn, Saturday, November 3rd, 1979. The Social Club Les Femmes Noir, gave a dance and fashion show that was enjoyed by all who attended. Music was played by "Transport." The fashion show, Holiday Glamour, coordinated and emceed by Gracye Kennedy, had something for everyone, no matter what your size or shape. The models, all from Portland, were outfitted by local clothing stores. They really had it together.
