Linda Green, whose voice is already one of the most recognizable in the music industry as the lovely Peaches of hit recording act, Peaches & Herb, may very well become the most familiar face as well. Peaches is the subject of a new, full-color, pop poster, now being distributed to retail stores worldwide. According to the poster's producers, Pro Arts of Ohio, it is the first of a Black female performer, available nationally through retail stores.

PEACHES MAKES POSTER DEBUT

Look out Farrah, move over Cheryl, here comes Peaches. Linda Green, who is peaches of the hit recording act, PEACHES & HERB, has known since age 5 that she would be a star. But even then, it may have been hard for her to imagine being the subject of a provocative new pop poster, to be distributed around the world.

The lovely Peaches' picture on the 20x28" full color poster may very well be the biggest seller of the season.

The quiet, shy performer says she is a little embarrassed by all the fuss being created over the poster. "I don't guess I've ever really come to terms with the star image of myself. I always blush a little bit when people recognize me. Seeing myself on a poster is a strange feeling. But I feel good about it and I am pleased with the way it turned out."

Pro Arts of Medina, Ohio produced the poster. National Marketing Director, David Dangel says initial orders are strong. "Our reps in the field have been getting a very good reaction to the poster. I think this will definitely be one of our top sellers this year."

The poster will be available this month in record stores, specialty stores, and in record department of most major chains and department stores around the world.

PEACHES AND HERB, APPEARING IN HOMES AROUND THE WORLD

America's Couple of the Year, PEACHES & HERB, have performed in every corner of the world, from Southern California to Madrid, Spain to Mainland China. Their appeal is certainly international, and their success as pop music recording artists is undeniable.

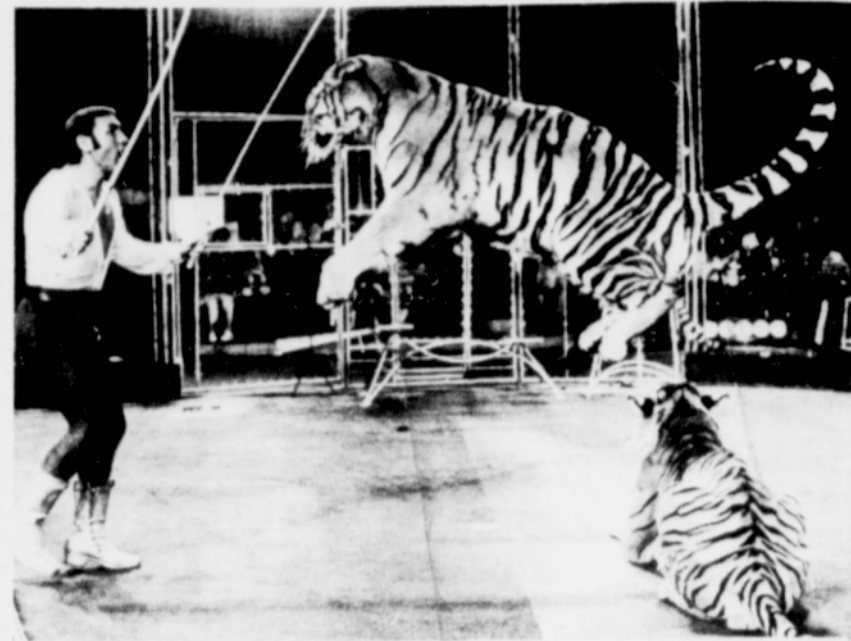

Now, PRO ARTS of Ohio is distributing yet another tribute to the popularity of PEACHES & HERB. The company, this month, is distributing worldwide a 20"x28" full-color poster of the pair. It will be available in record stores, specialty stores and record departments of most major chain and department stores.

National Marketing Director for Pro Arts, David Dangel, says initial orders for the PEACHES & HERB poster are very high. "We have received excellent feedback from our sales people. There seems to be an extremely high interest in the poster. I think this may be one of the top sellers this summer in our line."

The performers presented an autographed copy of the poster, one of the first off the presses, to TV and singing star Toni Tennille during the taping of her new NBC variety program, THE TONI TENNILLE SHOW, in Hollywood.

America's Couple of the Year, Peaches & Herb, will soon be appearing in stores around the world, in the form of a 20x28 inch, full-color poster. The duo has made music history with chart busters, like Reunited, Shake Your Groove Thing, I Pledge My Love, and their newest single, Funtime.

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH

Hungary's Karoly Donnert makes his debut in the 110th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus with his unique Siberian and Bengal tiger act, coming to Portland Memorial Coliseum on Thursday, September 11th, for performances through Sunday, September 14th.

The spectacular presentation features the big cats in a classic European repertoire of superb feline feats plus a brilliant display of tigers riding horseback.

Son of a famous horse trainer, the 34-year old Donnert performed for more than 20 years as an acrobat on horseback and a juggler before developing his own wild animal act. The tiger exhibit marks Donnert's debut independent of his five generations of family ties and his first experience with training wild animals. He and his father had selected the tigers as cubs and the act began to take shape after a year of intensive work. His efforts were officially recognized at the International Circus Festival of Monte Carlo in 1978, where he was honored with a special award, the "Prix du club des Amis du Cirque Francais."

While tigers are generally loners and do not socialize with others of the species unless they are breeding, Donnert's cats enjoy exceptional camaraderie. While training in Hungary, the animals roamed uncaged in a barn when not practicing and became accustomed to one another. Donnert is the uncontested authority in the cage, but the act also has an animal boss, "King," a 500-pound Royal Bengal. Although this situation does not exist in the wild, it is a natural development in animal training.
