Your utility rights

As a result of state legislation passed last year, the utility companies must do certain things when threatening to shut off service.
What They Must Do:
1. The utility company must give at least 15 days written notice to the customer and occupant before a shut-off.
2. They must also give 72-hour notice. They must try to contact the customer in person.
3. Immediately before a shut-off they must try again to contact the customer and occupant.
What They Must Say:
1. When the representative of the utility contacts the customer 72 hours before the shut-off must:
a) explain the options, for example, the 10% plan
b) Explain possible available assistance.
2. No shut off will take place if before the shut-off date the customer pays 10% of the overdue bill or $10 (whichever is greater) and signs an agreement with the utility company to pay the remainder within 10 months.
3. No shut-off will take place if a doctor, registered nurse, licensed nurse practitioner, clinic or agency providing health care notifies the utility by phone, and in writing within 14 days of the phone call, that a shut-off will significantly endanger the health of the customer or someone in the household. Unless the condition is chronic the health certification must be renewed every 30 days.
4. Before a shut-off the utilities shall inform customers of the names and phone numbers of units within the Department of Human Resources and service agencies who can help the customer determine what assistance may be available.
You Can Appeal If:
You do not receive proper notification, the utility has not offered or has refused a 10% payment plan, you entered into a payment plan that needs to be modified and you are threatened with a shut-off, they refuse to restore service, or if you feel you were treated unfairly.
