

Sears

Ernest W. Dunston is manager of Sears, Roebuck and Company's Everett store.

In 1963, Dunston joined Sears as a stock handler in the Seattle Catalog Merchandise Distribution Center. After entering the college training program in 1966, he served in the catalog merchandise buying offices. In 1970, he was named assistant personnel director.

In 1975, Dunston was named operating superintendent of the Sears Tacoma store where he served until June 1978 when he was named store manager of Sears Roosevelt Way store in Seattle.

Ernie Dunston—SEARS Store Manager

Let SEARS put you in business!

Sears is the largest retailer in the world with almost 4,000 locations all over the country. That means you as an employee will have lots of resources to work with and a lot of room to show what you can do.

You'll love the opportunity to prove yourself. As a Sears employee, you'll have responsibilities. And you can be sure that the challenges and the opportunities will last throughout your career, because Sears develops it's talent from within.

Why don't you look into the career opportunities at Sears. You just might be in business.

For more information about career opportunities at Sears, contact: Your nearest Sears store.

You can count on

An Equal Opportunity Employer, M/F

©Sears, Roebuck and Co., 1981